15 STATES HELD SURE VICTORIES BY DEMOCRATS

Excellent Prospects in 18 Others Claimed in Chiefs' Message.

NINE PARTY LEADERS STRESS FUNDS DRIVE

Send Appeals to 100,000 for Gifts to Assure Election Success.

(Associated Press.)

Looking beyond the national conventions, nine prominent Democrats joined yesterday in forecasting certain victory in the presidential election in fifteen States, "excellent prospects" in eighteen others, "fair prospects" in eleven and "least probable, but possible" victory in four.

The forecast was in the form of a shaded map of the Nation which was printed on the reverse side of yellow "victory-grams" appealing to more than 100,000 Democrats to contribute to the $1,500,000 "victory" drive of the Democratic national committee.

Democrats all over the Nation were asked to contribute to the limit of their ability to insure success at the polls in November and to send in "news from your State" for the Jefferson Day rally here April 13, when the party chieftains will "take stock" of the situation in each State.

Signed by Leaders.

Signers of the "victory-grams" were Harry F. Byrd, Speaker John N. Garner, Senator J. Hamilton Lewis, former Senator James A. Reed, Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, Senator Joe T. Robinson, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Alfred E. Smith and Gov. George White. Many of these will be speakers at the April 13 rally.

The fifteen States listed in the forecast as "sure" to be carried by the Democrats in November included the solid South and Maryland, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arizona. These States have 149 electoral votes of the total of 531, with 266 necessary to win the presidency.

Four of the Southern States—North Carolina, Virginia, Florida and Texas—went Republican in 1928, as did the other four outside the South.

The four listed as "least probable, but possible" were California, President Hoover's home state; Michigan, Pennsylvania, and Vermont. These have 80 electoral votes.

"Excellent Prospects."

The eighteen States with 204 electoral votes listed as "excellent prospects" were Colorado, Connecticut, Kentucky, Montana, Nebraska, New York, Ohio, West Virginia, Delaware, Indiana, Massachusetts, Missouri, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Nevada, Rhode Island, Washington and Wyoming. The first eight, with 117 votes, were listed as Republican in 1928 and Democratic in 1930.

Of the 11 with 98 electoral votes where "fair prospects" were claimed, four switched to the Democratic column in 1930. These were Idaho, Illinois, Kansas and South Dakota and have 46 votes. The others were Iowa, Maine, Minnesota, North Dakota, Oregon, Utah, and Wisconsin.

Three suggestions were made to the rank and file and 1928 contributors in the "victory-grams."

"Help to organize your State for the Democracy.

Samples Taken From Tract in Tucker County Are Verified Here.

Special to The Washington Post.

Clarksburg, W. Va., April 3.—What is declared to be one of the biggest gold strikes ever made in the Eastern States was reported today 2 miles from the mountain town of Parsons, seat of Tucker County. It is in mountains opposite Porterwood and is said to surpass the discovery of gold-bearing rock three years ago on Clover Run, in the county, which proved to be too thin for profitable mining.

Within the last week Ronald Jester, of Morgantown, and Elmer Phillips, of Clarksburg, have taken out numerous samples and had them tested four times by experts in Washington, and their finding is that the gold is in sufficient quantity to warrant successful mining operations.

Other laboratory tests will be made this week in Pittsburgh. Phillips, S. M. Kendall and others of this city and other West Virginia points have leased 600 acres of land in the vicinity of the strike, have organized a company at Parsons, and plan to start mining operations at once, provided the Pittsburgh analysis coincides with those already made. The tract is in Federal Government territory of the Monongahela National Forest.

Navy Vessel Hit by Liner; Tow Ordered

San Francisco, April 3 (U.P.).—The steamer Javanese Prince, which rammed the U. S. destroyer Eagle 34, six miles off Point Vicente tonight, will tow the crippled destroyer to San Pedro, a message intercepted by the Mackay Radio Marine Station here tonight said.

The bow of the destroyer was seriously damaged. The forward compartment was flooded.

In present weather, the message said, the destroyer is in no immediate danger of sinking.

None was injured in the collision, the radio message said.

Coast Guard cutters put out from San Pedro to assist in the rescue work upon receipt of word of the crash.

The Javanese Prince left Los Angeles harbor at 1:30 p. m., and the collision is timed at about 9 p. m.

FLIER'S BODY FOUND IN DEEP SNOWDRIFT

Lieut. Hoffman, of Army, Perished Near Shelter After Bailing Out.

Ash Mountain, Sequoia National Park, Calif., April 3 (A.P.).—The body of Lieut. Edward D. Hoffman, Army aviator missing since February 1, when his plane was dashed to pieces against a Sierra peak, was found today where he had perished in deep snow.

He had battled through the blizzard for 4½ miles to within a half mile of the main highway of the region and was within three-quarters of a mile of two well-supplied cabins. The body was discovered in 4 feet of snow by Fred Ogilivie, mountaineer, of Lemon Cove, one of a group of searchers who started at daybreak. His plane was found yesterday.

Lieut. Hoffman was flying from Los Angeles to San Francisco with Lieut. William A. Cocke, jr., when he disappeared. Over the Sequoia National Park they encountered a blizzard. After battling it for several hours Lieut. Cocke, jr., jumped to safety with a parachute, intending to lighten the plane so Hoffman could bring it down safely.

Cocke was found on the highway after spending a night in a cabin.

Graf Damages Rudders; Delays Trip to Brazil

Friedrichshafen, Germany (Monday), April 4 (A.P.).—The Graf Zeppelin, giant German dirigible, took off for Pernambuco, Brazil, at 5:50 a. m. this morning, but returned to the airdrome again 50 minutes later and landed.

Damage to the ship's rudders during the take-off was the cause ascribed for the failure to continue the flight.

Rebel Chinese Disarmed By Japanese at Nungan

London (Monday), April 4 (U.P.).—A dispatch to the Daily Telegraph today from Changchun, Manchuria, said Japanese soldiers, after a two-week siege, had relieved the fortified town of Nungan.

Insurgent Chinese were disarmed after a fierce battle, it was said.

SENATE GROUP TO AIR SUPPLY BILL CUT TODAY

Problem of $200,000,000 Slash as Budget Aid Faces Showdown.

BIG FIGHT EXPECTED AT HEARINGS ON TAX

Abolition of Half Holiday on Saturday May Come Up if Pay Plan Loses.

(Associated Press.)

With the scene of the tax battle shifting this week to the Senate, administration and congressional leaders are digging deeply into the question of wholesale governmental reorganization as a means of lopping off $200,000,000 in expenditures.

It is conceded by the House leadership and by Secretary Mills that about this sum in reduced appropriations is necessary to help the new revenue raising bill just passed by the House to balance 1933 budget.

The Treasury head says complete Government reorganization is the only way $200,000,000 can be taken from the appropriations for next year. Congressional leaders are divided on whether such drastic steps are necessary.

Mills Program Wednesday.

The problem will come to a head this week. Senate Democrats will meet to declare a policy on the fiscal legislation. The Republicans will await the program to be submitted Wednesday by Mr. Mills at the opening of hearings on the tax measure.

Both Republican and Democratic spokesmen will insist upon a balanced budget for next year. A bipartisan coalition similar to that which put it through the House is lining up behind the general provisions of the tax bill as it came to the Senate.

But whether to find the added $200,000,000 by new taxes, by indiscriminated slashing of appropriation measures or by general governmental reorganization is the problem.

The Senate independents are considering a drive to boost the higher surtax rates. The House bill provides a maximum rate of 40 per cent on income over $100,000. A maximum rate of 45 or 50 per cent is being discussed.

Action on Supply Bills.

Today the Senate appropriations committee will meet in an attempt to fill the Senate's order for a 10 per cent cut in the bills providing funds for next year's operations of the Interior, State, Justice, Commerce and Labor Departments.

Even with these savings, however, Chairman Jones of the committee

Third Virginia G. O. P. Seeks Congress Seat

Richmond, Va., April 3 (A.P.).—Republican spokesmen tonight disclosed that the party will enter a candidate for Congress in opposition to Representative Andrew Jackson Montague, from the Third Virginia District.

They said the man who will carry the party's banner in the congressional race would be named in the disrict convention here tomorrow. It will be the first time in 10 years that Republicans of the Third District have entered a candidate in a congressional campaign.

Throwing Money Away In Washington

By WILLIAM P. HELM

Study of Transportation Allowances for Members in Congress Shows Excess of $175,000 Is Being Given Annually.

On a certain morning early in July, 1930, Senator Phillips Lee Goldsborough of Maryland, left his Baltimore home for Washington to attend a special session of the Senate. His fare for the short trip—40 minutes by fast train—plus a seat in the parlor car was $2.19. As much more to cover his return home at the close of the session brought his necessary traveling expense to $4.38.

To cover this traveling expense of $4.38, Senator Goldsborough received $16 from the United States Treasury on July 22, 1930. The difference between the $16 paid him and the $4.38 necessary fare, or $11.62, was the senator's personal profit for riding 80 minutes. He drew it openly, legally and in accord with time-honored custom, started and continued by Congress. A custom which makes it possible for every member of Congress to make a thrifty profit on traveling expenses to Washington and back home every year.

In collecting his $16 mileage, Senator Goldsborough was in distinguished company. The printed report of the Secretary of the Senate for the fiscal year 1931 (Senate Document No. 1) shows that more than 60 senators participated. The extent of their personal profits (at the taxpayers' expense) varied according to the distances they traveled. Mr. Goldsborough, living near Washington, made the least of all.

Senator Black, of Alabama, for instance, drew $305.20. Railroad and pullman fare from Birmingham to Washington and return cost $72.10. Mr. Black in a lower berth could have made $233.10, excluding meals and tips. Senator Wagner's mileage was $96 from New York City and return; fare and pullman were $23.78; the excess was $72.22. La Follette, from Madison, Wis., drew $371.60. Lower berth and railroad fare both ways run to $82.92. The excess was $288.68. Other senators and their mileage, as compared with the cost of fare and lower berth, included:

Borah, of Idaho, $1,058.80 mileage; necessary fare, $239.56; excess, $819.24. Capper, of Kansas, $494.40 mileage;

GIANT AUTO FACTORY IS CLOSED IN RUSSIA

U. S.-Built Plant Forced to Halt Production; Higher-Ups Are Discharged.

Moscow, U. S. S. R., April 3 (A.P.).—The wheels of the $119,000,000 automobile plant at Nizhni-Novgorod—Soviet Russia's challenge to Detroit—have stopped barely three months after they began to hum.

This was admitted today by the executive committee of the Communist party in a proclamation demanding drastic reforms in leadership so that production may be resumed by April 15.

The giant project was set in motion January 1 with the ultimate idea of putting every Russian behind a steering wheel, and it came to grief because there were "too many fingers in the pie."

Today's proclamation minced no words in insisting that matters be set aright with speed.

The secretary of the regional party committee at Nizhni-Novgorod was ordered dismissed. The plant's foundry and assembly captains were ordered discharged.

The regional party committee was told to establish immediately personal responsibility for operation of the project in one directing head. The committee also was instructed to reorganize the plant's party structure so as to improve leadership in the shortest possible time.

Resumption of operation in time to complete the program for the first six months of 1932 on schedule was demanded.

At present there is a nominal manager, but, as is usually the case under the Soviet system, his authority is strictly limited. He is sub-

Representative Larsen, Of Georgia, Is Married

Jeffersonville, Ga., April 3 (A.P.).—Representative W. W. Larsen, of the Twelfth Georgia Congressional District, and Miss Margaret Van Dyke, of Jeffersonville, were married today at the bride's residence.

Mrs. Larsen is the daughter of the late Frank and Nellie Van Dyke, of Fairfax, Va. She was graduated from Wesleyan College, Macon, Ga., in 1911.

GERMAN RIOTS KILL 3 WHEN TRUCE ENDS

Principal Disorders Occur in Berlin as Hitler Pleads for Law and Order.

Berlin, April 3 (A.P.).—Election fireworks and disorders began in Germany today almost on the stroke of noon when President von Hindenburg's decree of truce for the Easter period came to an end.

The first day of the renewed campaign resulted in three deaths. Scores of persons were more or less seriously injured and hundreds were arrested.

Adolf Hitler, the Nazi leader, and foremost opponent of the president in the final election on April 10, mounted a rostrum at Leipzig immediately after noon and declared for law and order before an audience of 50,000.

Speaking for the aged president, Adam Stegerwald, minister of labor in Chancellor Heinrich Bruening's cabinet, said at Breslau that the actions of the Nazis belied their words when they said they sought to obtain power legally.

Disorders occurred in Berlin, in the northern Berlin suburb of Wittenau and at Chemnitz.

The worst disorders came in Berlin proper, where a group of Communists was badly battered in Gneisenau strasse by police who attempted to disperse them. One Communist was shot in the chest and four were arrested.

In the northern section of the city four Nazis were injured in a fight with Communists. Seven Nazis were arrested in Unter Den Linden as they shouted, "Hail, Hilter! Wake up, Germany!" while a police parade was passing by.

At Wittenau six Communists and Nazis were arrested in the street row. At Chemnitz, where the Communist candidate for president, Ernst Thaelmann, spoke today, one Communist and one Nazi suffered bullet wounds.

Although most political commentators were agreed that Hindenburg's 18,654,690 votes against Hitler's 11,341,360 in last month's first election were enough to assure him of victory in the final, both Hitlerites and Hindenburgers were confident today of winning.

The race apparently will be between Hitler, Hindenburg and Thaelmann, Theodore Duesterberg, the Steel Helmeter, having dropped out. August Winter has too small a following to count in a national election.

Five of Family Die When Home Burns

Stepson Plunges Through Window Accidentally and Is Saved.

Chicago, April 3 (A.P.).—Five of the six members of Walter W. Sneathen's family died in a fire which destroyed their home in suburban Brookfield today.

Sneathen, who was 70, attempted to dress after passersby awakened him at an early hour with the word that his house was on fire and was overcome. With him died his daughter, Louise Sneathen, 23; his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Lyton Hepburn, 40, and her children, Lyton, jr., 5, and Gordon, 8. A stepson of Sneathen was the only survivor. As he groped his way through the smoke toward a porch window, he accidentally plunged out a side window to the ground and to safety.

Firemen from several nearby towns worked until daybreak in attempts to revive the victims but failed. The fire started when furniture in the basement was ignited by an overheated furnace.

Britain Discovers Antidote for Gas

Death of Chief Expert May Have Been Caused by Experiment Work.

London, April 3 (U.P.).—A remarkable scientific discovery which may have a profound effect on modern chemical warfare was reported today by the Sunday Express, which also indicated that the discoverer of the secret may have died a martyr to his work.

The newspaper said the chemical defense research department of the war office had discovered an effective antidote for all gases used in modern warfare. Military vodunteers risked their lives by walking in areas filled with deadly gases, the newspaper said. They were affected, but recovered immediately when the antidote was applied.

Maj. W. R. Galwey, who died March 6, was the chief expert conducting the experiments. The Express said he died without realizing success had been achieved, and that his death, said to have been due to pneumonia, may have been a result of gas poisoning.

LONDON PARLEY TO INCLUDE ALL EUROPE CRISES

MacDonald Bares Plans for Talk at 4-Power Conference.

DEBTS, REPARATIONS AND ARMS INCLUDED

Avenue Will Be Opened for Dealing With Relations With United Statse.

London, April 3 (A.P.).—Premier Ramsay MacDonald, after a preliminary conversation with Premier Tardieu of France, tonight announced that the four-power conference on Wednesday will include the whole range of the European crisis, including disarmament, debts and reparations.

Originally the four-power conversations among Great Britain, France, Germany and Italy were proposed by Mr. MacDonald to tackle primarily the financial strictures affecting the five Danubian states—Austria, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Jugoslavia and Roumania.

After a preliminary conversation with M. Tardieu, however, the prime minister said the Wednesday discussions would include the disarmament situation at Geneva and the approaching Lausanne conference on reparations. This decision came after the two statesmen had talked together for an hour and a quarter.

Avenue to U. S. Parley.

Thus will a new avenue be opened for dealing with Europe's relations to the United States, including what will happen when the Hoover moratorium has come to an end, as well as the future of war debt payments to the United States.

Mr. MacDonald indicated the conversations he began with M. Tardieu tonight were merely a preliminary move for a general settlement of European difficulties.

Tomorrow Mr. MacDonald will spend the whole day with the French premier, starting a task which he said "will be carried on at Lausanne and Geneva, and probably in other ways—a continuous work."

"The intention of the British government is sincere and disinterested," the prime minister said, "in getting the maximum amount of good will and international cooperation brought to bear on solution of the problems before us.

Joint Declaration Made.

Chase Is Out for House Seat From Maine First

Portland, Me., April 3 (A.P.).—Edward E. Chase, of Cape Elizabeth, who led an unsuccessful fight on the floor of the Republican State convention here Thursday for abolition of the dry plank in the platform, announced tonight his candidacy for the party nomination to Congress from the First District.

Chase, who served two terms in the Legislature and represents Maine on the New England governor's railroad committee, seeks the nomination on a "wet" platform. He will oppose Representative Carroll L. Beedy, incumbent and an ardent "dry," in the June primary election.

Sleep-Walker Lives After 6-Story Fall

Described by his wife as a somnambulist, Olin Lambert, 30, was in a serious condition at Walter Reed Hospital last night as the result of a six-story plunge from the window of his apartment at 7611 Georgia avenue northwest.

Lambert was found bleeding and unconscious beneath his high window early yesterday by William Herbert, janitor of the apartment. Herbert summoned police and the man was conveyed to the hospital.

Mrs. Lambert, interviewed by police, said her husband was addicted to sleepwalking. Detective Sergt. Elmer F. Lewis was assigned to investigate.

At the hospital Lambert was said to have a possible fractured skull and severe body bruises. Late last night he was still under observation. Lambert is office manager for the local film exchange of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

CULP, THIRD VICTIM OF BUS CRASH, DIES

Insurance Man Succumbs to Fractured Skull; Funeral to Be Tomorrow.

The third person to succumb to injuries suffered in the bus crash Friday, at Seventeenth and Rhode Island avenue, died yesterday at the Emergency Hospital.

Clyde Culp, 47, of 6407 Florida street, Chevy Chase, Md., who died yesterday morning was a member of the Washington Board of Trade, and well known in church and business circles. He suffered a fractured skull, jaw, several fractured ribs, and chest injuries in the collision, and late Friday night an emergency operation was performed by Dr. John Shugrue to relieve the pressure on the brain.

Born in York, Pa., Mr. Culp had been a resident of Chevy Chase for the past four years, and was engaged in the insurance business in Washington. He was a member of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, a member of the Phi Delta Fraternity, and a Mason.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Maude W. Culp, and four sons: Carson Culp, Richard Culp, Clyde Culp, jr., and Thomas Culp, all residents of Chevy Chase. Funeral services will be held at his late residence tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. Interment will be in York on Wednesday afternoon.

The bus crash, fatal to M. E. Williamson, 42, 3220 Connecticut avenue, who died on the operating table of the Emergency Hospital, and Benjamin B. Pettus, Cedar Parkway, Chevy Chase, Md., who died Friday afternoon, is now under investigation by the Public Utilities Commission, police, and the bus companies. The utilities hearing will be set within ten days, and the inquest will probably be held this week, according to Deputy Coroner A. Magruder MacDonald.

Wedell Leaps to Safety As Airplane Loses Wing

Patterson, La., April 3 (A.P.).—Jimmie Wedell, noted airplane racer of New Orleans, today jumped safely with a parachute from his plane after it had lost a wing at an altitude of 500 feet while traveling at terrific speed.

Wedell was at an altitude of only about 100 feet when the left wing began to crumble. He shot the plane upward and succeeded in reaching a height of 500 feet before the wing collapsed.

COL. LINDBERGH LEAVES ESTATE ON SECRET TRIP

Returns Next Day After First Absence Since Kidnaping.

MYSTERIOUS PLANE REPORTED ON COAST

Norfolk Negotiator Is Still Missing as Rumors Fly of Yacht Contact.

(Copyright, 1932, by the Associated Press.)

Hopewell, N. J., April 3 (A.P.).—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, driving over an unfrequented back road, returned to his country home near midnight tonight after making a mysterious automobile trip on which he departed last night.

It was the first time he had been absent from the estate since his son was kidnaped March 1.

As the colonel approached over the Stoutsburg road, a country road which joins the main thoroughfare leading to the Lindbergh estate, he met a party of reporters.

In the darkness the colonel stopped one of the newspapermen and said:

"Who are you? The police?"

"No," the reporter said, "we're the press. Is there anything new?"

"Thank you," responded the colonel as he drove away.

Companion Unidentified.

The colonel, who was driving, was accompanied by an unidentified man. From the fleeting glimpse of the passenger some believed him to be Col. Henry Breckinridge, the colonel's intimate friend and attorney. Others thought the man was John J. Fogarty, former crack New York City detective, who has been at the estate frequently since the kidnaping.

The colonel was driving a five-passenger car with a convertible top. It was his personal machine.

He wore a black cap with a buttoned visor and leather gloves.

The colonel drove directly to the house without stopping at the last police sentinel.

Earlier it had been learned from a reliable source that Mrs. Lindbergh also was absent from the house, but upon the colonel's return it was presumed that she had preceded him home.

Norfolk Negotiators Busy.

Information of the Lindberghs' departure came at the close of a day of negative police bulletins, which was marked, however, by activity on the part of the Norfolk, Va., intermediaries who have sought to conduct negotiations with the kidnapers.

John Hughes Curtis, Norolk boat builder, was absent on a mission on

Guns Kept Crew On Crippled Ship

Captain's Action to Save Men on Collier Bared as Vessel Docks.

Quincy, Mass., April 3 (U.P.).—Capt. Ernest Pearce, of the Collier William C. Atwater, was forced to hold his frightened crew aboard the storm-battered vessel at gunpoint, it was disclosed today, when the collier docked here, its bottom plates torn off as result of an encounter with a reef in Vineyard Sound.

The collier survived a terrific storm and the crew probably was saved from drowning by the action of Capt. Pearce. An attempt to rush the lifeboats during the height of the storm was frustrated when the captain, his mates and the radio operator stood the frenzied sailors off at gunpoint.

Betrayal by Jealous Girl Solves 14 Bank Robberies

Piqued Sweetheart Reveals Donald Loftus, Also Admitted Bigamist, to Officers, Who Announce Confession; Fraction of Loot Found.

Chicago, April 3 (A.P.).—Donald Loftus, 30, sought by police as the lone perpetrator of numerous daring bank robberies was arrested today in Mishawaka, Ind., and confessed, police said, to looting more than a dozen financial institutions.

A jealous sweetheart of the debonair bandit informed police of his whereabouts and he was taken without resistance in an early morning raid at his apartments.

Brought here from the Indiana city Loftus readily confessed, police said, and admitted, in addition, he had bigamously married three women in recent months.

Only a few hundred of the more than $100,000 police and officials of the American Bankers Association estimate he obtained in the holdups, was recovered.

He was questioned for possible implication in the recent $500,000 robbery of a branch of the Northwestern National Bank of Minneapolis, but denied connection with the affair.

The robberies admitted by Loftus follow:

Citizens State Bank of Delavan, Wis., February, $6,000.

Plainfield, Ill., State Bank, $16,009.25, July 5, 1930.

First National Bank of Marengo, Ill., $12,000, November 26, 1930.

Bank of Dwight, Ill., $6,159, August 3, 1931.

Peoples Loan Bank, Rochelle, Ill., $1,539, November 9, 1931.

An unidentified bank in Cincinatti, $4,000, April, 1930.

A branch of the Bank of Italy, in Los Angeles, $16,000, early in 1929.

An unidentified bank in Los Angeles, $3,000, fall of 1929.

A branch bank in Los Angeles, $6,000, in 1929.

Loftus said he had also held up four other California banks, but

Entrance for Voice Prizes Costs Only a Testing Visit

Only One Record Will Be Allowed to Each Person, But It May Be Retained as Permanent Possession.

Today hundreds of readers of The Washington Post will have the indescribable thrill of listening to genuine RCA-Victor records on which are recorded their own voices in speech or song, or their playing of musical instruments. In addition, they will have the opportunity of participating in the distribution of $700 in merchandise prizes for the best registration in amateur and professional divisions.

To enter this most interesting contest it is only necessary to visit one of The Washington Post-RCA-Victor recording stations that are listed below. Here you will be conducted to a sound-proof room and, under the guidance of a recording expert, be permited to record your voice or favorite instrument on a record.

Only one record will be allowed to each person. After recording, it will be submitted to a committee of judges who will give it a rating. It will then be mailed to your home for your permanent possession. The Washington Post, however, reserves the right to retain records of exceptional merit until the conclusion of the contest at 6 p. m. Saturday, April 23.

Professional entertainers will compete only with other professionals for special auditions at the Victor Laboratories in Camden, N. J. All expenses connected with the necessary visit to the laboratories will be paid and the winning of this prize may lead to a most profitable association.

Amateurs will compete only with those who may be similarly classified for the 50 merchandise prizes listed elsewhere in this edition of The Post.

In every instance the decision of the judges, whose names will later be announced in the news columns of The Post, will be final. The acceptance of this provision is necessary in order to enter the competition. In the event of ties, duplicate

RAIL POOL APPROVES 14 MILLION IN LOANS

Advanced $2,363,120 During First Month, Report to I. C. Reveals.

(Associated Press.)

The Railroad Credit Corporation loaned $2,363,120 to railroads during the first month of actual operation and has approved a total of $14,538,452.

This organization, formed by the carriers to gather and distribute money realized from surcharges on freight bills which became effective January 4, yesterday made public its first monthly report to the Interstate Commerce Commission, for March.

Under the authorization of the commission made last December, the corporation makes two-year loans to carriers with which to pay interest on their indebtedness and to meet other fixed charges.

Collections Below Estimate.

Collections from the various roads are made approximately 30 days after the end of the month. Consequently the money turned into the corporation during March was collected by the carriers during January. This totaled $4,068,773, and should this average continue for the year, the total would be far under the total of $130,000,000 the commission estimated would accrue from the increases.

The statement shows among its assets $1,268,214 cash on hand; $406,865 reserved for taxes; $114 still due from carriers; $952 interest receivable; deferred assets, $14,538,452 and administrative expenses from December 14, 1931, through March, 1931, $31,658. Total assets listed as $18,609,378.

Liabilities Listed.

The liabilities are listed as follows: Money collected and owed to contributing railroads, $4,068,773; deferred liabilities, $14,538,452; income from funded securities, $952; and capital stock, $1,200.

The item of $14,538,452 listed in assets and liabilities statements constitutes loans approved by the Credit Corporation but which it did not have the money to make. This sum has been advanced by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, which took irrevocable orders on the Credit Corporation for these loans.

The reconstruction organization in its first quarterly report to Congress, Saturday, reported repayments of railroad loans totaling about $2,000,000. While the names of repaying carriers were unavailable, it was understood this represented money received from the Railroad Credit Corporation.

Plight of U. S. Railways Blamed on Regulation

New York, April 3 (A.P.).—An opportunity to "participate more equitably in the country's prosperity," is asked for the railroads by Gen. W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad Corporation, in its annual report issued today.

The report shows that the Pennsylvania, one of the world's largest railroad systems, having assets of $2,170,000,000, had its worst year in 1931 since its emergence from Federal operation after the war. The road earned $19,545,000, a decrease of $49,625,000 compared with 1930, equivalent to $1.49 a share on the common stock of $50 par value against $5.28 a share the year before.

"The unsatisfactory conditions in the railroad industry, while accentuated by the present depression, are due to the fact that during periods of expansion, the railroads have not been permitted, because of inadequate rates, restrictive legislation and subsidized competition, to participate adequately, as do all other industries, in the country's prosperity, all of which emphasizes the unsoundness of existing methods of governmental regulation," says Gen. Atterbury.

"Intelligent consideration of the railroad situation should result in such legislative and regulatory relief as will insure to the railroads economic equality of opportunity to engage profitably in any kind of transportation service that will meet the demands of the public."

Gen. Atterbury finds some cheering signs, among them the voluntary wage cut by railroad labor, the formation of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and "another encouraging sign is the helpful attitude indicated by the Interstate Commerce Commission in its recent annual report, wherein it recommended the coordination of rail and highway transport. It also recommended that Congress place interstate bus transportation under its jurisdiction and has announced that later it will formulate recommendations with respect to motor truck traffic."

Damage Is Heavy In Gale at Buffalo

Winds Reach Hurricane Velocity; Pennsylvania Also Is Hit.

Buffalo, N. Y., April 3 (A.P.).—A windstorm of hurricane proportions struck Wyoming County and a portion of northwestern Pennsylvania late last night, felling several buildings, uprooting trees and killing cattle and horses. No loss of human life was reported.

The twister came from the north and was especially severe in Attica and vicinity. Entire orchards were destroyed, telephone poles were blown down and stormhouses and porches were carried a half mile in some instances.

A dairy barn on the farm of Arthur Gardner was blown down and eight cows and a horse were killed. Twelve other head of cattle were so badly injured that they had to be destroyed. At Wallace Erf's farm near Bennington, N. Y., the twister made kindling wood of the inclosed porch and stormhouse, a portion of a large barn was blown in and an orchard of 75 trees laid flat. Reports from Oil City, Pa., were that the storm had swept through the Allegheny Valley and had carried away one of the 110-foot masts of WLBW radio station from its base and sent it crashing into pieces.

Boat of Illinois Boys Capsizes, Drowning One

Evanston, Ill., April 3 (A.P.).—Arthur Lencioni, 11, and Jimmy Gillen, 14, spent most of the winter constructing a rowboat.

They launched it on rough Lake Michigan yesterday with much pride of creation. It capsized 50 yards from shore. Jimmy made a gallant effort to save his friend, but barely made shore himself. Today Arthur's body was recovered.

AIR CORPS BREAKS LONG DISTANCE PHOTO RECORD

Above is a picture made by Capt. A. W. Stevens, premier Army Air Corps photographer, of Mount Shasta, Calif., taken from a distance of 331.2 miles. The picture shatters all distance records in aerial photography, Mount Shasta not being visible to the naked eye when the exposure was made. The airplane was piloted by Lieut. J. F. Phillips, and was at an altitude of 23,000 feet over Salinas, Calif. The former distance record for aerial pictures was 270 miles. The Santa Cruz Mountains are in the left foreground of the picture, the Santa Clara Valley in the center, and Oakland and San Francisco Bay on the left in the background.

3 IN FAMILY SEIZED IN BORDER KILLINGS

Mexican Ranch Deal Is Clew in Massacre of Seven; Four Being Held.

El Paso, Tex., April 3 (A.P.).—Officers investigating the massacre of seven members of the family of Melquiades Espinosa at Berino, N. Mex., tonight arrested Espinosa and three other persons after announcing they were checking details of a Mexican ranch deal.

Espinosa's mother, Juanita Espinosa; his sister-ni-law, Mrs. Josefa Chabiri, and an unidentified Mexican man also were held in the Dona Ana County Jail.

Sheriff Dick Traviz, of Dona Ana County, said he had uncovered clews which he believed might lead to arrest of the men who shot the family to death in their home Friday night after allegedly demanding money.

He said he would ask the cooperation of Mexican authorities in investigating a ranch deal in which Espinosa and three men who live a few miles south of Juarez, opposite El Paso, in Mexico, were said to be involved.

Espinosa and the two women were questioned by officers at Las Cruces last night and were said to have been released this morning. Later Sheriff Traviz admitted the trio had been held all day.

The unidentified man's arrest was the result of an outburst of emotion by Espinosa at the funeral of his wife and six children yesterday, the sheriff said. Seeing the man at the single grave in which all were buried, Espinosa was quoted as declaring he was responsible for "the whole trouble."

The suspect told Traviz he knew of no reason for Espinosa's accusation. Espinosa himself said he must have been irrational if he made the charges.

Neighbors and friends of the family were deeply aroused by the incident and meeting at the funeral of the victims yesterday made plans for the formation of a citizens' vigilance committee.

Duce Speaks 4 Tongues At Goethe Celebration

Rome, April 3 (A.P.).—Premier Benito Mussolini spoke today in English, French, German and Italian at a celebration in connection with the observance of the centenary of Johann Wolfgang von Goethe, the German literary genius.

The Italian premier accepted an institute of German study in the Villa Sciarra presented by an American woman, Henrietta Tower Wurts, widow of George Wurts, of Philadelphia. The duce spoke of Goethe's genius in German, conversed with notables who were present in Italian and French, and thanked Mrs. Wurts in English.

Ten-Year Fugitive Taken in Baby Hunt

Work on Lindbergh Clew in Baltimore Leads to Man's Arrest.

Baltimore, April 3 (A.P.).—Chasing down a lead in the hunt for the missing Lindbergh baby, Baltimore police today had in custody a man for whom Federal authorities had been searching for ten years.

Otto E. Hawk, 50, charged with making a false bill of lading in 1922 on pottery he was importing from Mexico, was arrested last night near his apartment. He had forfeited bail of $5,000 in Laredo, Tex., in 1922, when he failed to appear on the charge of defrauding the Government.

Arrested three years later in Seattle, Wash., he escaped from two United States marshals on a train at Emporia, Kans. Since then he was reported living under several aliases in various parts of the country. Baltimore police early last week received a tip that a child which looked like the Lindbergh baby was in the apartment of Arthur G. Young, but Lieut. Joseph H. Itzel, of the Detective Bureau, found the child to be 2½ years old. Later a Department of Justice agent showed Itzel a photograph of Hawk and the detective identified it as that of Young.

Texas Woman Seeks House Seat to Aid Farm Families

Wife of Country Doctor, Mother of Four, Lecturer and Writer, Would Represent Rural Wives and Children of Nation.

Amarillo, Tex., April 3 (A.P.).—A diminutive pioneer woman of the Texas Panhandle is asking voters of her State to send her to Congress to represent the interests of 6,000,000 farm women and 15,000,000 farm children of the United States.

The candidate is Mrs. Phebe K. Warner, of Claude, wife of a country physician, mother of four children, lecturer, writer and organizer of rural and urban women.

She is seeking one of the three posts for representative at large, created through failure of the Legislature to redistrict the State.

Mrs. Warner tells Texas women that the burden of sending a representative of farm women and children to Congress is upon them, since no other State has a large enough farm vote to elect a candidate on such a platform.

"The economic emancipation of the farm women would in time revolutionize American industrial as well as farm life," Mrs. Warner said.

"If our farm women and children received a fair wage for their work, their cash value to our Nation would amount to more than $10,000,000,000 annually, not one dollar of which ever enters the channels of trade because it is never added to the cost of production."

Mrs. Warner originated the County Federation of Women's Clubs, which to rural women is what the City Federation is to urban women. Her home county, one of the most sparsely populated in all West Texas, was the first to be organized.

(Associated Press.)

Chesley W. Jurney, of Waco, Tex., former secretary of the late Senator Charles A. Culberson, last night announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination as representative at large from Texas.

His announcement here, through J. Bart Campbell, presented a platform favoring modification of the Volstead act, opposition to a Federal estate tax law and opposition to congressional sanction of a general revision of the tariff "at any time."

Jurney's announcement said he favored legalizing nonintoxicating light wines and beer and "removing the stigma affixed upon the honorable profession of medicine by a few zealots in Congress."

The bulk of the announcement dealt with the prohibition question.

LINDBERGH LEAVES ESTATE IN AUTO ON SECRET JOURNEY

which he embarked yesterday morning. Rear Admiral Guy H. Burrage, retired, an associate, could not be found tonight at his Norfolk home. The third intermediary, the Very Rev. H. Dobson-Peacock, termed news of Col. Lindbergh's trip "very interesting," but said he had not heard of it until press dispatches were read to him.

Coincident with these developments came a story of a red amphibian plane, bearing four occupants, visiting Cuttyhunk Island, Mass., in Buzzard's Bay. Three of the men, described as middle-aged, came ashore, inhabitants said, and inquired about the whereabouts of a yacht named Sallie. The plane headed away in a westerly direction.

In connection with the absence from the Lindbergh home it also was learned that Betty Gow, nursemaid to the stolen child, made a short automobile trip during the day in company with police and Ollie Wheatley, the Lindbergh butler, and Mrs. Wheatley.

The only positive development in the police search was the arrival in England of Maj. Charles Schoeffel on a secret mission in connection with the case.

"Colonel" Rumored on Plane.

Cuttyhunk, Mass., April 3 (U.P.).—A seaplane containing four men who said they were seeking a yacht Sallie, landed on this island today and apparently either examined or established contact a few hours later with a yacht off Penikese Island north of here.

Natives said they thought one of the men was addressed as "colonel" and another as "doctor." Three of the men were middle-aged, they said, and a fourth was somewhat younger.

Cuttyhunk is an island of the Elizabeth group which separates Marthas Vineyard from the mainland. It was reported on Marthas Vineyard last night that John H. Curtis, one of three prominent men said to be negotiating for return of the Lindbergh baby, was flying there for an important conference with the kidnapers.

Plane Over Butler's Estate.

At the West Tisbury summer estate of former United States Senator William M. Butler, where the rumored rendezvous was supposed to take place, Caretaker Allan Kenniston said no guests had arrived today or yesterday and none was expected.

Vineyard Haven, Mass., April 3 (U.P.).—A gray seaplane which passed over the West Tisbury summer estate of former U. S. Senator William M. Butler this afternoon revived rumors current here that John H. Curtis may have planned a conference in this vicinity with kidnapers of the Lindbergh baby.

The plane came from the direction of the mainland and flew over the Butler estate toward No Man's Land, the island estate of Joshua Crane. It returned in about an hour and seemed to be flying in the direction of Fall River or New Bedford. It was not known here if the plane had landed on No Man's Land as that island has no telephone connection.

Norfolk, Va., April 3 (A.P.).—Mystery surrounding the efforts of three Norfolk men to negotiate the return of the kidnaped Lindbergh baby was intensified tonight as John Hughes Curtis, contact man, was away on a mission in the interest of the negotiations, and Rear Admiral Guy H. Burrage, retired, was reported absent from his home.

Admiral Cancels News Meeting.

Admiral Burrage late this afternoon canceled an engagement with news men and tonight could not be reached at his home. Mrs. Barton Myers, jr., his daughter, said she did not know where he was. Asked if he had left the city, she replied, "I haven't any idea."

The Very Rev. H. Dobson-Peacock said he knew nothing of the report that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh had left his Sourland Mountain home in New Jersey.

Inquiry at the Hampton Roads Naval Air Station failed to locate Lieut. George L. Richard, who a week ago yesterday piloted the plane which carried Curtis on his secret mission northward. They returned last Sunday after 33 hours out of the city.

Jersey Officer Reaches London.

London, April 3 (U.P.).—The investigation into the kidnaping of Charles Augustus Lindbergh, jr., was extended to Great Britain again tonight behind an elaborately arranged screen of secrecy that puzzled immigration officials and gave passengers on the S. S. Mauretania a few moments of excitement.

Maj. Charles Schoeffel, assistant superintendent of the New Jersey State police, arrived on the Mauretania from New York, in connection with the kidnaping case.

With the aid of Scotland Yard, Maj. Schoeffel disappeared from the liner when it put in at Plymouth, reappeared, but said nothing when it reached Cherbourg, and then disappeared again when the vessel came back across the English Channel to Southampton.

After dodging immigration officials, passengers and reporters at Southampton, the New Jersey police official secretly boarded the boat train outside Southampton and came on to London with British police to confer with Scotland Yard authorities.

ONE KILLED, 30 HURT AS MEXICO BALLOTS

Soldiers Patrol Streets and Curb Disorder; Portes Gil Defeated in Race.

Mexico City, April 3 (A.P.).—Troops kept Mexico's outdoor primary elections fairly peaceful today as voters chose their candidates for congressional and state elections in July.

One person was killed and six were wounded in a fight at Villa Juarez, in the State of Tamaulipas. Dispatches said supporters of one gubernatorial candidate became angry, loaded several buses with stones and attacked partisans of another.

Reports from Villa Meoqui, Chihuahua, said two persons were seriously injured in a disturbance there.

In the Federal district, embracing Mexico City, 22 persons were injured, two seriously, in battles fought with stones, but there were fewer than 100 arrests.

A message from Comonfort, Guanajuato, said several hundred citizens who were about to get into a fight were rounded up and interned temporarily in a bullring to keep them out of trouble over a local congressional issue.

Elsewhere throughout the nation peace and quiet prevailed during the political parties' plebiscite. Apparently the military had averted most of the disorders which threatened to climax the campaign of some 600 candidates seeking nomination in the National Revolutionary (government) party for 168 congressional seats.

Returns from Tamaulipas tonight indicated that Emilio Portes Gil, former President Pro Tempore of Mexico and recently Mexican Ambassador to France, had lost his race for nomination as Governor of Tamaulipas.

Incomplete returns from today's National Revolutionary party primary indicated that Dr. Rafael Villareal, 32, of Soto La Marina, had won the nomination by a substantial margin. He carried Matomoras, Tampico, Victoria, Reynosa, Guerrero and Camargo.

Il Defonsa Garza, an attorney, led in Nuevo Laredo, receiving 2,721 votes to 1,590 for Gil, 260 for Villareal and 50 for Enrique Medina.

Portes Gil, so far as had been learned here, had not carried a town in the state in which he was a native and former governonr.

In 3,000 districts and subdistricts throughout the nation the party plebiscites were held out of doors at noon. Soldiers afoot and in trucks constantly patrolled the streets of Mexico City, and the voters, mostly workmen garbed in denim, were good-natured and noisy, but not violent.

The party machinery for the plebiscite was simple. Supporters of the various candidates lined up on opposite street corners in the various districts with the street as a sort of no man's land. This area was occupied by officials of the revolutionary party, who gathered at the various voting places to count noses.

The principal activity and amusement of the voters was the hurling of defis and insults across the streets at other voters, but with truckloads of soldiers sitting around none seemed disposed to do violence to his fellow voters.

The primary, while it embraced all political parties, was, in effect, a private settlement of rivalries within the dominant revolutionary party, which controls the affairs of Mexico. Each party, however, handled its own primary, the government keeping hands off except for preservation of order.

Bolivia Is Reported Massing on Border

War Move Against Paraguay Is Made in Gran Chaco, Paper Declares.

Salta, Argentina, April 3 (A.P.).—The newspaper Intransigente quoted what it said were "reliable reports" today that Bolivian troops were gathering in the Gran Chaco territory in a threat to settle with arms the dispute with Paraguay over possession of that region.

Bolivia was said in the reports to be determined soon to settle the dispute over the Gran Chaco, which both countries claim, either through diplomatic channels or by force.

Detachments of 500 to 1,000 Bolivian soldiers were reported to be moving constantly from several garrisons to the Chaco region, where 30 army airplanes already had been concentrated.

The size of the Bolivian army in the Chaco has been estimated at about 5,000, or approximately 1,000 more than that of Paraguay. Both armies occupy many forts and outposts—most of them mere shacks—in the disputed region.

Bolivia recently rejected counter-proposals of Paraguay for a pact of nonaggression in the Chaco. Bolivia had suggested a one-year truse there. A demand of Paraguay that Bolivian troops withdraw from the disputed territory was the principal point to which Bolivia objected.

The difficulty between Bolivia and its Southern neighbor grows out of a long-standing dispute as to where the frontier line crosses the Gran Chaco, a triangular section of about 100,000 square miles. Clashes between garrisons of the two nations brought them to the verge of war in 1928, but the dispute was submitted to an international commission for mediation.

Asuncion, Paraguay, April 3 (A.P.). Authorities of Paraguay declined today to comment on messages from several Argentine towns which said that Bolivia was making warlike moves in the Gran Chaco.

Cent-a-Shell Tax Urged To Protect Wild Life

(Associated Press.)

Legislation looking to the development of protection of American water fowl and wild life resources will be urged before the Senate committee on conservation this week by a group of scientists, heads of State commissions and experts on wild game.

Among the bills to be advocated is the "penny-a-shell" measure, proposing a tax of one cent a shell on all shotgun amunition, with a rebate to trap shooters. Proceeds of the tax, estimated at $7,000,000 a year, would be used for the increase of wild game.

Mrs. Fortescue's Trial Starts Today

Public to Be Excluded as Darrow Seeks to Free 4 in Honor Slaying.

Honolulu, April 3 (A.P.).—Clarence Darrow, veteran Chicago criminal attorney, tomorrow will begin in a beautiful tropical setting a grim court struggle to acquit Mrs. Granville Fortescue, society woman, of the murder of a young Hawaiian.

The trial, expected to be the most dramatic in Hawaiian history, will find the public excluded. Circuit Judge Charles S. Davis has announced that official passes have exhausted the scanty seating facilities of the small courtroom.

Demands for admittance to the courtroom have been numerous because of the great interest in the trial of Mrs. Fortescue and her three naval codefendants. The courtroom is in the Judiciary Building, over which a bronze statue of Kamehameha, the first Hawaii's greatest ruler, stands guard.

A special police guard will surround the building to prevent crowds from gathering outside the courtroom. The guard was ordered despite the lack of any hint of a disturbance. Any racial feelings which may have existed apparently have subsided.

Equal Rights Plan Indorsed by Bulow

Senator Backs Amendment in Address Before Woman's Party.

"My experience as a lawyer has led me to agree with the stand of the National Woman's Party for equal rights in law for men and women," declared Senator William J. Bulow (Democrat), of South Dakota, in an address at Alva Belmont House, national headquarters of the National Woman's Party, yesterday afternoon.

Senator Bulow declared himself strongly in favor of the equal rights amendment to the Constitution which the National Woman's Party is sponsoring. He said, in part:

"It is only self-respecting that women should want to have the Constitution of the United States guarantee to them the equal protection of the laws—a special pronouncement by constitutional amendment that men and women shall have equal rights throughout the United States and every place subject to its jurisdiction."

Famous Aviators At Aircraft Show

Hawks, Goebel, Herndon and Others at Detroit National Exhibit.

Detroit, April 3 (A.P.).—It was famous fliers' day at the National Aircraft Show today and headline makers of yesterday and today gathered to inspect the aviation industry's offerings for 1932 at the municipal airport.

Col. Arthur C. Goebel, who flew to Hawaii; Hugh Herndon, jr., who, with Clyde Pangborn, made a nonstop Pacific flight; Capt. Lewis A. Yancey, transatlantic pilot and Maj. Frank M. Hawks were among the celebrities who shared the crowd's attentions with the exhibits of planes and accessories.

The show management said the attendance was running 50 per cent ahead of last year's. Attendance for first two days of the show, which opened yesterday, was estimated at 15,000.

Railroad Builder From U. S. May Meet Lamont in Soviet

William Shatoff May Cooperate With Secretary's Son on Cattle Project in Russia; His Line to Turkestan Hailed by Leaders.

(Associated Press.)

William Shatoff is among the American-trained leaders in Soviet Russia whom Robert P. Lamont, jr., son of the Secretary of Commerce, probably will meet while studying the possibilities of developing cattle-growing there.

Shatoff, formerly an I. W. W. organizer in the United States, built 1,000 miles of railway through Turkestan, which brings great grazing fields of the central Asiatic republics hundreds of miles nearer to rail transportation and shorters the haul to Moscow and other teeming centers of population suffering from meat shortage.

The Turkestan-Siberian Railway, which Russians call "Turksib," was regarded by Soviet authorities as such a great achievement that Shatoff was recently made assistant commissar for railroads of the entire Union of Soviet Republics. He is now engaged in important railroad work in Siberia.

The "Turksib" extends from Semipalatinsk, in southern Siberia, to Tashkent, in Turkestan. It was built primarily to connect the Transsiberian Railway and the grain districts of Siberia with the cotton districts of Turkestan, so the cotton districts might give their acreage over entirely to cotton, getting their bread from Siberia in exchange for cotton, which will be manufactured in Siberia. This eliminates thousands of miles of haul on raw cotton and textiles.

It is estimated that the new line will serve a cattle-breeding and agricultural district with a population of 5½ millions.

Elevators, refrigerating plants, tanneries and creameries are in erection at various points along this new railway. It is estimated that there are now about 29,000,000 cattle in the district which has been opened up by the new line.

Shatoff was born in Russia, but lived for many years in the United States. He returned to Russia when the Kerensky revolution upset the Romanoffs. Although he is not a member of the Communist party, he has worked with the Bolshevist government since it first came into power.

He fought in the civil wars which followed the establishment of the Lenine government and headed the diplomatic mission which signed the peace treaty with the Japanese when they evacuated China and left the Far Eastern republic.

Later he was secretary of transportation in the Far Eastern republic. Then he was put in charge of state branch banks in south Russia and later was in charge of metal imports. But his biggest job was the construction of the "Turksib," where he directed the work of thousands of Khirgesen Bashkirs and other primitive tribesmen in laying steel through a land which had laid unchanged since the days when Genghis Khan and his conquering hordes rode over it.

SENATE COMMITTEE TO STUDY SUPPLY BILL SLASHES TODAY

believes little more than $100,000,000 can be sheared away.

Meanwhile, representatives of the many concerns taxed under the House revenue bill are swarming into the Capital to make war before the Senate finance committee on these levies. A big outcry is certain at the hearings, but the Senate leadership is standing firm so far behind the House measure, on the theory that new taxes must be levied.

There is a possibility that the outcry of the particular businesses taxed may lead to a revival of the general manufacturers' sales tax, but in view of the decisive House vote, Senate leaders are skeptical of this.

Reduction of Salaries.

Some House leaders think a large part of the $200,000,000 reduction in expenses can be made by slashes in salaries. The special economy committee is working on an 11 per cent cut proposal, and strength on this issue likely will be tested before the House concludes with the independent offices annual supply bill, now before it.

A flat 10 per cent cut in all Government salaries would mean an expense reduction of $135,000,000. If such a proposal should not muster enough votes to pass, as its opponents insist, several alternatives may be offered. One would abolish the Saturday half holiday; another would abolish or reduce the 60 days' leave with full pay.

The economy committee has received many other suggestions of agencies that could be consolidated or eliminated. It is considering combining the independent Radio Commission and the radio division of the Department of Commerce; the steamboat inspection service and the Bureau of Navigation, both in the Department of Commerce; closing up the Army Transport Service and the International Boundary Commission.

Merging Is Favored.

Another House group—the expenditures committee—already has approved a bill to merge the multitudinous Government building activities under an administrator of public works. It has considered combining all personnel activities, and Chairman Cochran hopes the committee will act favorably on the proposal.

Cochran, however, has not been able to muster enough votes to obtain committee sanction for the Byrns bill, which would join the Army and Navy in a new department of national defense.

At the same time the appropriations committee is continuing its effort to reduce allotments under budget estimates. In the six it has handled so far, has suggested appropriations of $115,000,000 under what the budget asked.

Of the five remaining, Chairman Byrns hopes to make additional savings. His committee is considering a $30,000,000 cut in the War Department bill, while the Navy will take a proportional cut.

Along with consolidations and reduced expenditures, however, the House faces action shortly on the $2,200,000,000 plan to pay veterans' compensation certificates in full. Democratic and Republican leaders of Congress and President Hoover oppose it, but the ways and means committee on April 11 will begin hearings.

FLIER'S BODY FOUND IN DEEP SNOWDRIFT

within two miles of the place where Hoffman's body was discovered.

Lawrence Cook, chief ranger of the park, said that Hoffman apparently found it impossible to land his ice-laden plane and after turning off the ignition switch, followed Cocke's example and also jumped. A large piece of silk, presumably from his parachute, was found in a tree top not far from the wreckage of the plane.

Cook said the aviator then attempted to reach shelter and struggled through the deep drifts of snow and against the raging storm until he fell exhausted. Three-quarters of a mile up the mountain side was the cabin of park rangers, well-stocked with food and wood. Down the mountain side was the cabin of Sol Sweet, an aviator, who took part in the search for Hoffman last February.

Coroner J. M. Hadley, of Tulare County, took the body to Visala late this afternoon and an inquest will be held tonight. Hadley said it was apparent the aviator had died only a few hours after his plane crashed.

Several officers from Crissy Field, San Francisco, were to testify at the inquest.

2 VIRGINIA STUDENTS HURT IN AUTO CRASH

Are Taken to Charlottesville Hospital After Wreck Near Gordonsville.

Special to The Washington Post.

Gordonsville, Va., April 3.—James A. Garber, of Alexandria, and Harry Graves, of Liberty Mills, Va., both University of Virginia students, were taken to University Hospital, Charlottesville, tonight suffering from severe scalp and facial lacerations and possible internal injuries as a result of a head-on automobile collision on the James Madison highway about a mile and a half east of Gordonville.

Dr. J. T. Walker, of Gordonsville, gave first aid and had the wounded men sent to the hospital.

Graves, besides a scalp wound, had one finger severed. The cars, wrecked beyond repair, caught fire a few seconds after the wounded students, with the aid of passing motorists, were extricated from them.

Garber, a son of the assistant city manager of Alexandria, was returning to the university after spending the day at his home. Graves is a son of W. Graves, president of the National Bank of Gordonsville, and of the Charlottesville Lumber Co., and who before the regrouping of the counties, represented Orange and Green counties in the State legislature.

Trade Officials to Urge State Control of Liquor

New York, April 3 (A.P.).—The executive committee of the chamber of commerce of the State of New York will urge immediate modification or repeal of the eighteenth amendment to permit State control of alcoholic beverages in a report to be presented at the chamber meeting on Thursday.

SENATOR HENRIK SHIPSTEAD.

THE heritage of the Norsemen is borne in the political philosophy of the Farmer-Labor senator from Minnesota. The same unconquerable courage that drove Leif Ericsson and his band of courageous sailors to the uncharted seas of the Atlantic and the same indomitable will that brought them safely to the bourne of their travels carries Senator Shipstead through the turbulent scene of political discussion in the Senate.

He is fearless, frank and friendly. His seat in the Upper House is predicated on the solid foundation of his authentic native son ancestry. The State which he now represents was the scene of his birth and practically all his early life was passed within its confines.

He was a dentist by profession, but after having served on the charter commission of the City of Glenwood he was elected mayor and served two terms.

In the days when Farmer-Labor was a political bogey, his dignity and tolerance did much to reveal the nature of the new political party to a yet dubious democracy. His first term in the Senate began in 1922, but on his reelection he received 100,000 more votes than the successful candidate for President and won the unique distinction of carrying every county in his State.

He is a member of the foreign relations committee and an astute observer of modern international conditions.

and our capacity to assume the responsibility of national government.

"Contribute to the limit of your ability to the Democratic victory fund if you have not already done so. If you have given, contribute as much more as you possibly can."

"We must make certain of victory. To balance the party's books, to finance intensive preparedness activities up to the convention, and to have in hand by July 1 a balance of $500,000 for the new national committee's work, we must raise a total of $1,500,000. Already 45,000 loyal Democrats have contributed to the victory campaign."

The preconvention spotlight turns this week to New York and Wisconsin. In the former at Tuesday's primary the Republicans and Democrats will name 86 district delegates each to the Chicago conventions. The Wisconsin primary will name 27 Republican and 26 Democratic delegates.

The eleven Republican delegates at large from New York already have been selected. They are unnstructed but claimed for Hoover.

The Democrats, who have 94 convention votes from New York, will select their at-large slate at a convention April 20. The entire Democratic group is expected to be unpledged until a caucus just before the convention, June 27.

The Wisconsin contest will be between a Roosevelt slate of delegate candidates and one uncommitted but favorable to Smith.

Georgia Democrats also will name their 28 delegates this week. They are assured for Roosevelt by virtue of his primary victory there.

The Republicans also will select nineteen delegates in Connecticut this week, and two in Virginia to complete that State's delegation of 25. Seven at-large were named in convention at Roanoke yesterday.

Of the 198 Democrats selected to date, Roosevelt is far ahead of the field, with 95. With Georgia's 28 he will have 123.

Of the 149 Republican delegates chosen thus far, President Hoover has 138 and bids fair to have the required majority of 578 to nominate by the end of April or early May.

LEAGUE WELCOMES STIMSON'S COMING

Three Probable Reasons for His Announced Visit Advanced at Geneva.

Geneva, April 3 (U.P.).—News of the forthcoming visit of Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson to Geneva was received with enthusiasm tonight in League of Nations circles, which advanced three probable reasons for Stimson's trip.

1—A desire to speed up the work of the Disarmament Conference.

2—A desire to keep in touch with the preparations for settlement of European reparations problems.

3—A desire to see that the league does not allow the Shanghai warfare to obscure the important issues at stake in the Japanese military occupation of Manchuria.

The fact that Stimson will not become chairman of the United States delegation to the Disarmament Conference was interpreted as meaning that he hopes to keep himself free to devote time to the Manchurian and reparations questions.

None of the league or Disarmament Conference officials would predict that the American Secretary is bringing new reparations proposals to Europe, but it was pointed out that he would have an excellent opportunity to clarify the American attitude on war debts before the opening of the Lausanne Reparations Conference.

Most observers expressed the opinion that the Manchurian situation was the chief reason for the visit, as he might desire to line up British and French support in a solid front toward Japan.

It was generally believed that such action would be impossible because even the league assembly's committee of nineteen, created to guide the Far Eastern negotiations toward a peaceful settlement between China and Japan, has been unable to take any strong measures in view of the methods used by Japan in consolidating its position in Manchuria.

CONFERENCE SCOPE BARED BY M'DONALD

of cooperation with everybody who is aiming at peace."

To allay a suspicion existing in some European countries regarding the meeting between the two premiers, they jointly declared:

"There are no agreements beforehand. There are no drafts of proposals beforehand. We want an agreement which will be consistent with the interests and well being of each nation concerned. Our policy is for practical steps to establish and maintain the peace and well being of Europe and the world."

The two premiers will start their conversations at 10 a. m. tomorrow, with the Danubian situation coming first in the survey.

Premier Tardieu and French Finance Minister Pierre Flandin and their party arrived at Victoria Station about 4 p. m. in a drizzling rain. They were welcomed by Mr. MacDonald and Sir John Simon, foreign secretary. An admirer handed the French premier a huge bouquet of crimson carnations.

Warnings from Danube Area.

Warnings by both the Danubian governments concerned and by the finance committee of the League of Nations have been given recently.

They declare in effect that unless urgent reconstruction measures are taken, another financial storm such as blew out of middle Europe last summer may again sweep the continent with world-wide consequences.

Austria said she might have to resort to restriction of imports, and the league committee noted the emergency in the foreign debt positions of Austria, Greece and Bulgaria.

Suspension of payments on foreign loans by Austria, Hungary, or other Danubian states would threaten to blaze a trail of inflation and repudiation, according to the consensus of financial experts.

M. Tardieu came to London to avert such a crisis by evolving an Anglo-French understanding for the rapid extension of financial support to the Southeast, such as international loans.

Rome, April 3 (A.P.).—Foreign Minister Dino Grandi will leave Rome tomorrow to attend the four-power Danubian conference in London on Wednesday.

Jugoslav-German Wheat Deal Totals $5,000,000

Belgrade, Jugoslavia, April 3 (A.P.).—Financial circles here today heard that a federation of German industries had bought $5,000,000 worth of Jugoslavia wheat under an agreement whereby the same amount will be spent on German manufactured goods imported into this country.

Under the contract, Jugoslavian importers will pay for one-fourth of the imported goods in 1934, and pay the rest of the bill in 1936.

Czechoslovakian Curb On Imports Tightened

Prague, Czechoslavakia, April 3 (A.P.).—The import restrictions of Czechoslovakia were further tightened today by regulations requiring a special permit from the finance minister for importation of certain gifts valued at more than $6.

The restriction applies to travelers and hits Czechs who like to go shopping in Berlin, Vienna and other large cities.

Father Held in Fatal Stabbing of Bride, 19

New York, April 3 (A.P.).—A 19-year-old bride of less than two weeks, whose father had objected to her marriage, was found dead of knife wounds in her parents' four-room tenement house apartment on the lower East Side today.

Her father, Joseph Leonta, a fish peddler, was booked on a charge of homicide. He was quoted by police as having admitted he slew the girl in a fit of rage.

Nation's Unsold Bread Offered to Aid Needy

(United Press.)

Henry Stude, president of the American Bakers Association, yesterday pledged to the Red Cross between 5,000,000 to 10,000,000 pounds of unsold bread and bakery products each week for relief of the needy.

The services of 90 per cent of the Nation's bakers to the Red Cross for baking bread without profit from the 40,000,000 bushels of Government wheat also were offered by Stude. Union baking employes a week ago offered their services free.

Chairman John Barton Payne, of the Red Cross, notified various chapters throughout the country of the baker's offer and asked officials to make arrangements immediately to distribute the unsold bakery products to the needy in their particular districts.

IMMORALITY CHARGE DENIED FROM PULPIT

Police Maintain Order Near Overcrowded Church of English Rector.

Stiffkey, England, April 3 (U.P.).—A plea for the public to reserve judgment until he had an opportunity to defend himself against charges of immorality was made from the pulpit tonight by the Rev. Harold Francis Davidson, 60-year-old rector of Stiffkey.

Dr. Davidson, who had preached to a congregation of less than 50 at the morning service, faced an audience of more than 500 this evening, when the church was overcrowded despite a rainstorm. Many others were turned away and a strong police force was called to maintain order outside.

Two letters from women whom he had helped in his social service work were read by the rector to refute charges made at his trial in consistory court last week, when he was accused of immorality with girls whom he attempted to save from sin. Both letters thanked the rector for his aid, and both writers said they were now happily married.

Organist Is Absent.

Dr. Davidson was embarrassed when the service started, to discover that the organist was not present. He left the vestry and walked down the aisle, without his surplice, making a dramatic appeal for "some one to help me."

A gray-haired man left his pew and played the organ.

"We can not have purity without the possibility of impurity," the white-haired rector said in a trembling voice as he stood in the pulpit facing a congregation of 47 persons this morning.

Only four parishioners attended the service. The others were curiosity-seekers and reporters who were attracted to the rector by his sensational trial last week in consistory court at Church House, Westminster. The trial will be continued this week.

Defends Own Name.

Although he did not mention the charges, Dr. Davison indirectly defended his own name and declared that all people, "regardless of whether they are a queen or a little dishwasher, can equally form a high character as long as they do their respective jobs."

"If improper thought comes to us," the rector told his congregation, "there is no harm in that whatsoever, because that is temptation.

"But we must not encourage it."

Dr. Davidson asked for the prayers of those concerned in the proceedings at consistory court and said that any collection above the average would be devoted "to my work of helping my poor girls whom I have not been able to assist lately."

POLICE SAY 14 BANK HOLDUPS ADMITTED

could not remember details except that the loot ranged from $2,000 to $16,000.

By a strange coincidence members of a gang of robbers arrested here a few days ago confessed robbing the bank at Delavan after the institution had been visited by Loftus.

At the time of the Loftus holdup local newspapers there told how the lone robber had overlooked several thousand dollars. This information reached the robber gang, and those individuals did not make the same mistake.

Loftus is a native of Rockford, Ill., and later resided in Prescott, Ariz., from which place he was sentenced to Leavenworth for violation of the Mann act. He launched on a career of bank robbery in 1929, police said.

Play Bridge, Husbands, Or You May Lose Wife

By JOHN J. DALY

HERE is the charge: When his wife asked him to make a fourth at bridge he refused. So the judge gave her a divorce.

Rudeness, contempt, abuse, and studied neglect were involved in this case, from Little Rock, that may be used as a precedent in the courts of the land.

It seems, from the testimony of neighbors, always reliable testimony, that this beast of a husband, to quote the record, "would refuse to make a fourth at bridge, although he was very fond of it, if his wife asked him, and if any one else asked him to make a fourth at bridge he would do so."

He was first in war, the testimony showed, second out of the Army at the close of the war, third and successful suitor for the lady's hand, but never fourth at bridge.

Fourth at bridge for the neighborhood, yes; any time, any place, with any group, upon any one's request, but A. W. O. L. when his wife needed a helping hand.

What a man!

* * * *

SWEETHEART, as I love you,
Ever and a day,
By the gods above you,
Promise to obey
This, the rule of reason;
All I'm asking, Midge;
I'll be first in treason,
But never fourth at bridge.

If you'd know it, Beauty
Vanishes with tears;
'Tis not so with Duty.
Strengthening with years.
So, the gods adore us,
Standing on the ridge.
All of life before us,
I'll not be fourth at bridge!

* * * *

FARED they forth, the lovers,
On the Sacred Road
Where old Psyche hovers,
Lightening the load.
One day, without warning,
Uttered she: "My Pidge,
Just for me, this morning,
Make a fourth at bridge."

There and then the ending,
And the story told:
Love without its blending,
Sunset without gold.

Two hearts, palpitating,
Tell it to the Jidge,
Who, without debating,
Became the fourth at bridge.

OBSERVERS PONDER NEXT SOVIET MOVE

Fighting Is Reported Within 100 Miles of Vladivostok; Japan Sends Planes.

(Associated Press.)

Manchuria's guerilla warfare has reached a point not more than 100 miles from Vladivostok, and foreign military observers are speculating as to whether Soviet Russia will remain complacent.

Enemies of Henry Pu-Yi, ruler of the new Manchurian state, have extended their activities within a few miles of the Siberian border near Keigen point, where Manchurian, Korean and Siberian boundaries touch. Japanese and White Russians have been forced to flee from Manchuria into Korea for safety, and Japan is rushing troops across Korea to suppress the Manchurian insurgents.

Moscow had previously complained about the dangers to its territory in this district because of alleged Japanese support to white Russians. Japan denied that it was aiding the anti-Soviet Russians. But the friction apparently was not allayed and Moscow will probably send new protests.

Possesses No Railroads.

The district where the Siberian border is threatened is without railways and lies about 100 miles south of the trans-Siberian Railway, which Soviet Russia is guarding against interruption, so as to protect Vladivostok from isolation. All the section where Manchuria, Korea and Siberia touch is hilly, broken country with scattered forests and ideal for the bushwhacking tactics employed throughout Manchuria by the Chinese irregulars who are challenging the authority of the Japanese and Pu-Yi troops.

Japan is using an extensive air force against the insurgents in the entire Sungari Valley area within several hundred miles of Changchun and has approximately 35,000 troops with which to combat the scattered movements. But the fighting is much like that of the Spaniards against the Riffs in Morocco, or the efforts of the American Army to subjugate Aguinaldo in Luzon.

Koreans are Endangered.

Pingyan, Korea, April 3 (A.P.).—The lives and property of about 1,000 Koreans were reported today to be endangered by fighting which has broken out in the Chientao district of Manchuria, near the border between Korea and Soviet Russia.

Scouting and fighting airplanes left here today to cooperate with Japanese forces sent yesterday to combat a rebellion against the new Manchurian government. Dispatches said the Chinese rebels were supported by "bandits and Communists."

Hordes of "white Russian" and Korean refugees were said in the reports to be crossing the Tumen River from Manchuria into Korea.

Japan to Send Planes.

Tokyo, April 3 (A.P.).—Dispatches from Heljo, Korea, said today that Japanese army airplanes had been ordered to join an infantry expedition into the Chientao sector of Manchuria, where a Chinese rebellion threatened the new state of Manchoukuo.

A Dairen dispatch to the Rengo News Agency said that two Japanese naval airplanes had been missing on the Shantung coast since yesterday. Four planes from the carrier Kaga, which was sailing between Dairen and Tsingtao, ran into a fog while maneuvering off Shantung. Two of the planes were rescued by a Japanese freighter and the Kago began a search for the others.

ject to decisions of the factory Communist party cell and the factory committee, the latter of which is composed of workers.

A contributing factor was called "antispecialist tendencies," which means that there is discrimination against technicians of both the old and new orders in Russia. Persecution of administration and technicians," also was cited, but was not explained.

The Nizhi-Novgorod plant was erected by American engineers (the Austin Co., of Cleveland) to turn out Ford cars, and was hailed in opening ceremonies as the largest of its kind in Europe.

It was recalled today that the Stalingrad tractor plan had similar leadership difficulties when it began production. But the trouble was set aright, and today the Stalingrad factory is running full blast.

TUBERCULOSIS DRIVE TAKES NEW KEYNOTE

Dr. Emerson Urges Campaign to Reveal Hidden and Unsuspected Cases.

Dr. Kendall Emerson, managing director of the National Tuberculosis Association, of New York, speaking yesterday afternoon under auspices of the Medical Society at its auditorium, 1718 M street northwest, the fourth in its series of popular health lectures, asserted that the new keynote in the battle against tuberculosis must be a more systematic and more successful effort of the community to find the hidden and unsuspected cases which are the carriers and spreaders of the disease.

Illustrating his lecture with a chart showing the comparative incidence of tuberculosis by age groups with other diseases and with a series of highly illuminating lantern slides, Dr. Emerson reminded his audience that tuberculosis is world-wide, infectious and without any specific cure or immunity, primarily due to the presence of the tubercle germ discovered 50 years ago by Robert Koch, of Germany. But he listed as contributing causes ignorance, poverty, unhygienic living habits and industrial hazards.

Stresses New Slogan.

"Education of the public as to preventive measures," he said, "has been heretofore the keynote of our campaign. Now we must add to that educational work, the effort for better case finding. Our success will depend in large degree on the discovery of the hidden case spreading infection from one member of a family to another and from one household to another. Our new slogan is 'Every case comes from another' and its necessary implication is, "Break the contact."

Dr. Emerson emphasized the part to be taken in this essential work by the official health departments in every community by public health nurses and social workers in contact with families, also the better training of teachers as to health work. Dr. A. C. Christie, president of the Medical Society, presided.

Speaks Again Today.

Dr. Emerson will be principal speaker again today at the luncheon meeting sponsored by the Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis at the Y. W. C. A., Seventeenth and K streets northwest, when Dr. Christie and Dr. J. G. Cumming, of the Health Department, also are to speak. Mrs. Ernest R. Grant, president of the association, will preside and the annual early diagnosis campaign will be organized.

The local observance of the fiftieth anniversary of the discovery of the bacillus which caused tuberculosis will continue also tomorrow when Mrs. Ernest R. Grant, president of the Washington Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, speaks on the discovery over Station WRC at 5 o'clock. Dr. Walter Merrill, staff physician of the Health Department Tuberculosis Clinic, will also speak on the discovery which was made by Dr. Robert Koch 50 years ago Thursday in a paper read before the Physiological Society of Berlin, Germany.

Women Hear Talk On Tuberculosis

Dr. Viola R. Anderson Is Speaker at Meeting of City Club.

Dr. Viola Russell Anderson, executive secretary of the local Tuberculosis Association, spoke yesterday afternoon at the Women's City Club on the subject, "Tuberculosis—Why It Runs in the Family."

Dr. Anderson pointed out that the reason for the known fact is not that the disease is inherited, but that it is acquired by close and repeated contact with some member of the family who has tuberculosis. Hence she urged the importance of finding cases of active tuberculosis as the first essential in tuberculosis control. She pointed out the known early signs of the disease such as being too easily tired, loss of weight, indigestion and a cough that hangs on.

"These symptoms do not mean," said Dr. Anderson, "that a person has tuberculosis, but any one of them is a warning sign to be heeded by going to a doctor for a thorough examination if possible, or else to a tuberculosis clinic."

5,630,000 Youths Held Handicapped

White House Conference Issues Statistics and Points Out Needs.

(Associated Press.)

About 5,630,000 of America's 45,000,000 children were found by the White House conference on child health and protection to be handicapped to an extent requiring special attention and education.

Statistics compiled by the conference, of which Secretary Wilbur, of the Interior Department, is chairman, showed seven-ninths of the Nation's young to be normal, but only 1,500,000 were found to be especially gifted.

Leaders of the movement who conducted the survey advised specialized training for deficient children to prevent their later becoming public charges, criminals or institutional inmates.

In a report just published, the conference committee on special cases gives detailed information concerning training of handicapped children. The report is one of 40 resulting from the conference.

Fire Cuts Board's Grain Store 250,000 Bushels

Denver, Colo., April 3 (U.P.).—The Federal Farm Board's large supply of wheat was decreased by 250,000 bushels today as the result of a spectacular fire which gutted a grain elevator here.

The storage elevator for the grain was leased by the National Grain Corporation from the Longmont Farmers Milling & Elevator Co. Besides the wheat destroyed in the fire Saturday night, 68,000 bushels of corn were burned. Property damage was estimated at $280,000. The elevator was valued at $150,000.

Excess Paid to Senators For Travel to Washington

The following is a list of senators, taken from the report of the secretary of the Senate for the fiscal year 1931 (Senate Document No. 1), which shows the amount of mileage paid each senator to cover his traveling expenses from his home to Washington and return incidental to the special session of the Senate held July 7, 1930.

In addition, there are shown opposite each name the actual railroad fare, plus the cost of a pullman lower berth, from the senator's home to Washington and return; also the excess sum paid each senator out of the Treasury over and above his necessary traveling expenses, excluding meals and tips.

EXCESS IN CONGRESS TRAVEL EXPENSES SHOWN IN STUDY

fare, $114.68; excess, $379.72. Pess, of Ohio, $249.20 mileage; fare, $50.78; excess, $198.42. Harrison, of Mississippi, $480 mileage; fare, $99.16; excess, $330.84. Smoot, of Utah, $978 mileage; fare, $212.96; excess, $765.04. Walsh, of Montana, $951.20 mileage; fare, $210.72; excess, $740.48. Jones, of Washington, highest on the list, drew $1,374.20 mileage. The actual fare, including lower berth, from Seattle to Washington and return is $272.998. The tidy profit thus possible for the senator amounted to $1,074.22.

Sixty-six senators are named in the secretary's report, together with the mileage paid each. The list together with the amount of mileage paid each senator, as shown by the report, is given in the box accompanying this article.

Those 66 senators drew $33,400 from the Treasury. The railroad fare and the cost of a lower berth from the home of each senator to Washington and back, according to published schedules of the railroad companies, totals but $7,433 for the 66 members. The difference between what they drew from the Treasury and what they needed to pay the railroads to ride comfortably to Washington and back, exclusive of meals and tips, is $25,967.

No Accounting Required.

What happened to that $25,967? To date, there has been no accounting. Under the law there need be no such accounting. The whole thing was entirely legal. This $25,967 for which the taxpayers no return whatever was spent in full accord with law, even though it was thrown away. A senator, finding himself burdened with, say, $500 more allowance than he needed, could have tossed the $500 to the starlings infesting Pennsylvania avenue and remained wholly within his rights. It is believed, however, that few, if any, threw it to the birds.

This apparent profit of $25,967, however, was not all. Under the law, a member of Congress receives his mileage whether he goes home between sessions, remains in Washington, or sojourns elsewhere. In this case, Congress adjourned July 3, 1930, and the special session of the Senate (to ratify the London treaty on limitation of naval armaments) was convened July 7, four days later. Did the senators go home in the meantime?

Doubtless some of them, living nearby, did. Doubtless, too, some did not. A senator from the Far West, for instance, would have found it necessary to go home by airplane, turn around immediately and fly back to Washington to reach the Capital in time for the special session. Possibly some senators did this. Those senators who remained in Washington during the four-day interim received their mileage just the same as those who went home.

Obtained Under Law.

This little honorarium for senators is obtained under a law enacted in 1866 which fixes traveling expenses of members of Congress to attend sessions at 20 cents a mile from their homes to Washington and back home again. In actual practice the amounts paid are about four times the transportation cost, excluding meals and tips. The law applies to members of the House, too; members from afar can pick up an excess of $1,000 or thereabouts every year, at public expense, in addition to their $10,000 salaries.

Of the $33,400 paid the 66 senators, 77¾ per cent was excess over actual necessary railroad and pullman fare. Congress appropriates $51,000 for the Senate and $175,000 for the House for mileage each year. On the basis of 77¾ per cent excess, as shown by this representative group, less than one-fourth of the $226,000 mileage is really needed. About $175,000 a year can be diverted legally to whatever purpose the members' consciences will stand for. Even if every member traveled in state, paying two fares and occupying a drawing room alone the $226,000 would be more than double the actual cost of transportation.

Apparently, $175,000 a year of the taxpayers' money is thus being spent uselessly. Merely to call attention to this waste, in the face of the towering Treasury deficit, would appear to be the only thing necessary to correct it. Appearances, however, sometimes deceive. Within the last two months a certain senator protested vigorously to the committee in charge, saying he received about $1,000 in mileage, but spent only $300. Notwithstanding, the committee decided to continue the practice.

Would Hit Salary Cut.

Congres now talks about cutting Federal salaries as an economy measure. If the unnecessary mileage paid members were eliminated it would equal annually a 10 per cent reduction in the salaries of nearly 1,000 clerks.

This $175,000 tossed away every year at Washington presumably will come up for scrutiny before the economy committee of the House, charged with reorganizing the Government. Thus, at the threshold of its efforts, the committee would have an opportunity to consider waste in Congress itself. And this waste is only one instance. There are others, within Congress and without, some of which will be cited in succeeding installments of this series.

It is such practices as this, plus the universal tendency of every organized element to get its fingers into the Treasury, that now makes higher taxes necessary. Capital, labor, agriculture and every other interest with a lobby have contributed to the enormous inflation of Federal expense since the war. Waste has played its part, too. The second article, published tomorrow, will deal with that condition.

Fund for Surplus Sales Abroad Hit

Would Hinder Disposal in Foreign Markets, McGill Says.

(Associated Press.)

Senator McGill (Democrat), Kansas, in a statement issued yesterday through the Democratic national committee condemned the suggestion of Secretary Hyde to use part of the Agriculture loan for financing wheat and cotton sales abroad.

"This proposition further demonstrates," McGill said, "an unwillingness to properly administer the act in the interests of the depressed farming industry and to further hinder the disposal of the products of agriculture in foreign markets in an orderly manner.

"This would constitute an additional blunder with reference to the handling of surplus wheat and cotton and be based on the false theory that there are noncompetitive foreign markets in foreign countries for these two staple products."

Blazing Church Safely Emptied.

Henryville, Ind., April 3 (A.P.).—One hundred and forty children and adult members of the Henryville Methodist Episcopal Sunday School here marched to safety this morning when fire was discovered in the church belfry. The fire, believed to have been caused by sparks from a flue, destroyed the church. Loss was estimated at $3,400.

REPEAL BODY TO FIX CAMPAIGN AIM HERE

National Women's Group to Decide Political Steps at Session April 12.

(Associated Press.)

The Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform will block out a road to travel toward and through the 1932 presidential campaigns at an annual conference beginning here April 12.

An announcement yesterday said more than 1,000 representatives of 400,000 members favoring repeal of the eighteenth amendment will make "important decisions" at the meeting, concerning "intensive activity" during the political conventions and campaigns. The statement recorded them as facing "their first political skirmish with keen anticipation."

Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, the leader, has been quoted publicly as declaring she would not vote for a dry Republican on a dry platform. She resigned from the Republican national committee, on which she had represented New York women, to concentrate on repeal activities.

The announcement said:

"Politically speaking, the conference is the most important of the three-year-old organization's history. It inaugurates the organization's first participation in a national campaign. Conference decisions will mark the course of intensive activity in presidential primaries, national political conventions, State and congressional nominating meetings, and November elections.

"Its members, with experience in Republican and Democratic high party councils, in responsible posts in philanthropic, civic and educational projects and in professional and industrial groups, face their first political skirmish with keen anticipation, according to reports from every State."

Two of the scheduled speakers for the April 12 evening public meeting are Mrs. Florence P. Kahn, Republican representative from California, and Mrs. Henry Moskowitz, New York City, director of publicity for the Alfred E. Smith-for-President campaign in 1928.

Vestal Rites Held At Indiana Home

Congress Delegation Is at Funeral of G. O. P. House Whip.

Anderson, Ind., April 3 (A.P.).—Funeral services were held here today for Albert H. Vestal, who represented this Indiana district in Congress for nearly 16 years. His body rested tonight in a grave in Maplewood Cemetery.

Members of Congress, State officials, former soldiers and his neighbors here, joined in last rites for Mr. Vestal, Republican whip of the House, who died in Washington last Friday. The funeral services in the first Presbyterian Church were delayed two hours while approximately 8,000 persons filed past the bier.

The funeral sermon was delivered by the Rev. James Shera Montgomery, chaplain of the House. He extolled Mr. Vestal as being honest and faithful to his State and community. Only a wreath from President Hoover and a floral piece from the House of Representatives decorated the coffin as it was carried into the church. Later it was flag-draped as the cortege moved to the cemetery, where the American Legion conducted military services.

MRS. MARY EDNA BOWTON DIES

Wife of Alexandria School Head to Be Buried in Illinois.

Mrs. Mary Edna Bowton, 44 years old, wife of R. C. Bowton, superintendent of public schools in Alexandria, died yesterday morning in her home at 225 Taylor drive, Alexandria, after a short illness of pneumonia. Besides her husband, she is survived by four children, aged 6, 9, 11 and 13 years of age.

The funeral will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the home, conducted by the Rev. Ernest W. Aaron, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church South. The body will be sent to Sheldon, Ill., for burial. Pallbearers will be D. C. Book, Roger C. Sullivan, Dr. Jeff Moore, C. H. Strader, Henry T. Moncure and R. E. Eaves.

U. S. Bars Method Of Swifts' Concern

Trade Board Restrains Promise of Freight for Purchases.

(Associated Press.)

The Federal Trade Commission announced yesterday that it had ordered the Mechanical Manufacturing Co., of Chicago, to cease the use of the freight shipments of Swift & Co., packers, in soliciting equipment business from railroad companies.

The Swift family and Swift estate owns a large part of the Mechanical Co.'s stock, the commission found. Transportation officials of the packing company were ordered by the commission to discontinue the practice of assuring railways Swift freight traffic if mechanical products were purchased.

A similar order was issued by the commission last fall against transportation officers of Armour & Co. and the Waugh Equipment Co., one-time competitor of the Mechanical Co.

Third Fireman Shot In Rail Labor Feud

Vicksburg, Miss., April 3 (A.P.).—James Weddington, fireman of the Yazoo & Mississippi Valley Railroad, shot and wounded late last night by an unidentified attacker in the railroad yards here, is expected to recover.

Weddington is the third fireman picked off his engine in a feud in which officers have yet been unable to fix responsibility. Two others were shot and killed here recently. Weddington was struck with a shot gun charge from an automobile while he was coaling his engine.

Dr. Davidson, Botanist, Dies.

Los Angeles, April 3 (A.P.).—Dr. Anstruther Davidson, 72, noted botanist and entomologist, died here today. He was born at Watten, Scotland, and came to the United States after being graduated from the University of Glasgow in 1889.

WILL SPEAK

MRS. HENRY MOSKOWITZ, prominent in the field of politics, publicity and public relations, who will speak at the banquet of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform at the Mayflower Hotel April 12.

MAJ. CAMP'S RITES WILL BE TOMORROW

Civil War Veteran Will Be Accorded Military Honors at Arlington.

Maj. William Camp, a veteran of the Civil War and a member of Burnside Post, Grand Army of the Republic, died Saturday at his home, 1011 Twenty-first street northwest, following a brief illness. He was 91 years old.

Maj. Camp was a native of New York City. At the outbreak of the Civil War he enlisted in the Union Army and was appointed a paymaster with the rank of major. He saw active service in a number of salient engagements and was wounded in action a short time before the close of the war.

Returning to New York, Maj. Camp served for some time as superintendent of yards and docks, later going to Jackson, Miss., where he entered the United States Land Office. He came to Washington about 28 years ago.

Maj. Camp was an ardent admirer of Abraham Lincoln. Before he had reached the age of 21, the major went to the polls, told officials he was of voting age, and cast his ballot for Lincoln in the presidential race.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock from the home of his niece, Mrs. Rosalie McKee Shelton, 2936 Porter street northwest. Interment, with full military honors, will be in Arlington National Cemetery.

ENGLISH RITES TOMORROW.

Veteran Policeman Will Be Buried in Congressional Cemetery.

Thomas L. English, veteran member of the Metropolitan Police Department, who died Saturday at his home, 28 Bryant street northwest, will be buried tomorrow in Congressional Cemetery, with members of the Association of Retired Policemen acting as honorary pallbearers.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a. m., from St. Agnes' Episcopal Church, 46 Q street northwest. Mr. English, who served in the department for 36 years, is survived by his wife, Mrs. Ella M. English; three daughters, Mrs. I. G. Blumer and Miss Catherine English, of Washington, and Mrs. Charles H. Dexter, of Flushing, N. Y.; a son, Theodore W. English, of Washington, and several grandchildren.

PHILIP BARBOUR PEYTON DIES

Retired Railroad Man Had Resided in Alexandria Many Years.

Philip Barbour Peyton died suddenly yesterday morning at his home on Braddock Heights, Alexandria. He was the youngest son of the late William Snyder and Willieann Newman Peyton, of Rapidan, Va., and came to Alexandria when a young man to work for the Southern Railway. He was for many years a train dispatcher in the superintendent's office, retiring from work within the last ten years.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Nannie H. Ballenger Peyton, and two sons, Capt. Philip Barbour Peyton, U. S. A., retired, of Washington, and Addison Deahl Peyton, of Rosslyn, Va.; also two brothers, Francis Bradley Peyton and Alexander Newman Peyton, of Charlottesville.

JOHN J. GRAFF RITES.

Funeral to Be Held Wednesday for Pioneer Southeast Resident.

Funeral services for John J. Graff, who died Saturday after an illness of two years, will be held at his late residence, 532 Eleventh street southeast, Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Interment will be in Congressional Cemetery.

Mr. Graff was a lifelong resident of Southeast Washington, having been born there 65 years ago. He was in the saloon business before prohibition. He was a member of the Elks, Anacostia Lodge, No. 21, Masons; the Crescent Club and the St. John's Lutheran Church.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Katherine S. Graff; two sisters, Miss Annie Graff and Mrs. L. Oulahan, and a brother, Carl Graff, all of this city.

MRS. ELIZABETH HOOPER DIES

Mother of Dr. Fleming to Be Buried in Baltimore Wednesday.

Funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth M. Hooper, who died yesterday after an illness of four weeks, will be held at the residence of her daughter, 3912 Fifth street northwest, Wednesday morning at 10:30. Interment will be in Mount Olive Cemetery, Baltimore.

Mrs. Hooper was born in Baltimore County, Md., 85 years ago, and was a resident of this city for the last fifteen years. She was a member of the Rebekah Lodge, Odd Fellows. She is survived by a daughter, Dr. Bessie H. Fleming, of the Fifth street address.

Harvey S. Clapp Rites Today.

Funeral services for Harvey Spaulding Clapp, who died Saturday at his home near Mount Vernon, will be conducted at 2 o'clock this afternoon at Pohick Church by the Rev. C. A. Langston, rector. Mr. Clapp was the son of the late Senator Moses E. Clapp, of Minnesota.

PICNIC GAMES TOPIC FOR PLAY INSTITUTE

Meeting Tonight Also Will Deal With How to Manage Outdoor Day.

Picnic games and how to manage a day out-of-doors will be the subject of the demonstrations at the fourth session of the Spring Play Institute of 1932, to be held at Park View Community Center, Park View School, tonight at 8 o'clock.

The program will be under the direction of the District of Columbia Playground Department, one of the recreational agencies cooperating with the Community Center Department in the Play Institute. A group of playground instructors and directors will demonstrate the activities of the department along these lines.

Among those who will participate in tonight's session are Miss Jacqueline Whiting, Miss Ebbie Flynn, Miss Virginia Storey, Bernard McCarty, Joseph Mitchell and Ben Kail. Mrs. Yeager, of the Community Center Department, will be song leader for the evening, assisted by Mrs. Robert Shaw, accompanist.

Miss Ella Gardner, of the Children's Bureau, of the Department of Labor, will present a program of children's activities at the fiscal session of the institute next week.

IRISH NOT TO SEVER LINK WITH ENGLAND

Officials Feel Abolition of Oath Does Not Mean Break in Relations.

Dublin, Irish Free State, April 3 (A.P.).—The Free State government of President Eamon de Valera was understood tonight to contemplate no severance of the link between this country and the British commonwealth of nations in its proposal to abolish the oath of allegiance to the king.

Usually well informed circles took it for granted that, when the government's reply to Great Britain's note warning against possible breaches of the Anglo-Irish treaty is forwarded to London, it will reassert the Free State's intention to abolish the oath and withhold payment of land annuities from the British treasury.

Government circles, however, said abolition of the oath, as it stands, in the Irish constitution would not sever the link with the empire. They cited two instances in support of this contention.

1. De Valera's acceptance of an invitation from Prime Minister R. B. Bennett, of Canada to send a delegation to the Ottawa Imperial Economic Conference next July.

2. That if and when the oath is abolished the Free State constitution act with the constitution itself and the Anglo-Irish treaty will remain the law of the land, the national legislature will still consist of the king and two houses of Parliament and executive authority will still be vested in the king.

Following the Free State custom in constitutional amendments, Mr. de Valera intends personally to submit to the Dail Eireann the government's bill to abolish the oath. If the Dail passes the bill it will be the eighteenth amendment to the Free State constitution and some observers forecast it would become as famous as the eighteenth amendment in the United States.

A speaker at a victory rally of De Valera's Republican party said last night at Kingstown that he wanted the people to understand that final victory would not be won until the flag of the Irish Republic floated over all 32 counties of Ireland.

The chairman of the rally hinted there might be another general election within a year.

Iroquois to Obey Old Laws Kept in White Man's Books

Modern Remnant of Vast Indian Empire Will Be Governed by Ancient Code Preserved Through Dr. Hewitt, of Smithsonian.

(Associated Press.)

Laws that once ruled the vanished Indian Empire of the Six Nations—forgotten by the Indians, but preserved by a lone white man—again are to govern the modern remnant of that empire, the last of the Iroquois.

Modern Iroquois chiefs will learn from books of the white man the rituals and laws originally formulated 400 years ago by chieftains of their own ancestors. They plan to revive the old government on the Iroquois reservation in Canada.

About 10,000 Iroquois now live on reservations in Canada, and 6,000 in New York State. Most of them no longer are of pure blood, and many actually are seven-eighths white.

The only written record of the ancient Iroquois code has been compiled by Dr. J. N. B. Hewitt, of the Smithsonian Institution, after talks with many old Indian leaders, most of whom now are dead. He knows more about the old code than any living Indian.

For centuries this code was handed down by word of mouth and never written. The code gradually was forgotten after an army sent by Gen. George Washington broke the power of the Iroquois at the time of the American Revolution.

The Iroquois have asked Dr. Hewitt to teach them the old laws, under which only women could vote, in an effort to stabilize their affairs.

The Iroquois laws once governed approximately 20,000 Indians in a territory stretching from the Hudson River to Lake Michigan, and from Canada to the Potomac River.

Iroquois, of the old league, who committed murder, had to pay damages instead of following the revenge principle of an "eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth." The murderer paid in strings of wampum, which served the Indians for money.

If the murdered person was a man, the murderer paid his family 20 strings of wampum. If a woman was murdered the penalty was 40 strings.

Women wielded the most power in the Iroquois League, for the smallest units in it were families, related through their mothers. One or more of these families constituted a clan. One or more clans composed a tribe, and six tribes made up the Iroquois League.

The council of the league, conducted with elaborate and dignified parliamentary procedure, was composed of chiefs representing the families. The chiefs were elected by the mothers of the family group.

With each chief, however, a woman was chosen "chieftainess," who served as a check on the chief. If his work was unsatisfactory he was deposed by vote of the mothers in his family group. The "chieftainesses" sat in the league council on equal terms with the men.

The Iroquois League was organized about 1570 by the Mohawk, Oneida, Onondaga, Seneca and Cayuga Tribes, to promote peace and harmony among them. Later the Tuscarora Tribe was added. The capital of the league was an Indian village in what is now Pompey, N. Y.

Springhill Home Is Razed by Fire

Loss of $7,000 Reported; Warning Is Issued on Brush Blazes.

Fire fanned by yesterday's high winds destroyed the home of D. N. Nelson, of Springfield, Va., in Fairfax County near Great Falls. Nelson and his 7-year-old granddaughter, Frances Rector, were alone in the house at the time. The small girl happened to look out on the back porch and discovered the blaze in the roof.

She called her grandfather, but the lack of water, coupled with the high wind, made fire fighting useless. Everything in the house was destroyed. It is believed that the fire started from defective wiring on the porch. Loss was estimated to be about $7,000.

The fire departments in the various sections of the county were kept busy by calls for fighting brush fires. A tract of woods near Balls Hill was burned over, causing the county fire chiefs to issue a warning about starting fires.

Suspect in Ilsley Murder Arrested

Fingerprints Are Checked as Stories Told to Police Cross.

A colored man arrested in Prince Georges County on vagrancy charges yesterday was being held last night while county authorities probe his possible connection with the Ilsley murder mystery in Warrenton, Va.

The man gave his name as John R. Jones, 27 years old, and said he was working in Calvert County. According to Constable Harry Morris, who arrested him, Jones at first said he was "Kid" Lilly, but later denied this. Lilly is wanted in Alexandria, Va., for the murder of a policeman several years ago. Jones' fingerprints do not correspond with those of Lilly, Alexandria police said.

Jones' description is somewhat similar to that of one of two colored men sought for beating two women to death near Warrenton several months ago. He was camping on the railroad tracks below Marlboro when arrested yesterday. Because of the many discrepancies in the stories he has told police, his fingerprints will be sent to the Department of Justice today, Constable Morris said.

MASONS TO DISPLAY WASHINGTON RELICS

Will Be Exhibited During Dedication of Memorial Temple, May 12.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

Several priceless relics connected with the Masonic life of George Washington will be used in connection with the dedication of the Memorial Temple on May 12. These will include the Bible with which Washington was initiated in 1752 in Fredericksburg, in Lodge No. 4, which lodge still owns the Bible; the trowel used by Washington in laying the corner stone of the Capitol, which is owned by Alexandria-Washington Lodge of Alexandria, of which lodge Washington was the first worshipful master; the Bible upon which he took the oath of office as first President of the United States, which is owned by St. John's Lodge, of New York City, the gavel used by him at the time he laid the corner stone of the Capitol, owned by Potomac Lodge, of Georgetown, and the silver urn made by Paul Revere, grand master of Masons of Massachusetts, which contains a lock of Washington's hair.

It is a standing rule of each of the lodges owning these relics that they are never to be allowed out of the possession of the lodge, except in the custody of a committee of the lodge, and this rule will be adhered to on this occasion, these committees appearing on the platform while the dedication ceremonies are taking place.

Dr. Robert S. Barrett, chairman of the dedication committee, has written a special ritual to be used by the grand master of Masons in Virginia on this occasion, in which has been incorporated sections providing for the display of these relics. The ritual also provides for other novel features, one being the pouring of the corn, wine and oil, ancient symbols of the fraternity, upon a symbolic lodge which will be erected upon the platform at the foot of the granite steps leading to the memorial. This symbolic lodge will be an exact reproduction of the memorial, 4 feet high, and this replica is now being built at the District workshop at Occoquan, through the courtesy of Superintendent M. M. Barnard.

The pitchers to be used in the ceremony are also being especially made for the occasion. The ritual provides fr the use of one gold and two silver pitchers to contain the corn, wine and oil. Olaf Saugstad, of Arcturus, is making these pitchers as his contribution to the dedication. They are about 10 inches in height and follow somewhat in design a pitcher which was made by Paul Revere, and which is now in a Boston museum.

The Alexandria Shrine Club has arranged an entertainment to be known as ladies' night in honor of the ladies and Masonic friends, to be held in the auditorium of the Virginia Public Service Co. tonight. The entertainment program will be staged by students from Arlington Hall School for Girls, the numbers consisting of ballet dancing, solo dancing, tap dancing and group singing. Special numbers will be presented by little Misses Jane and Harriet Hulfish, of Alexandria.

Certificates as graduates in first-aid work of the Red Cross have been issued to these members of the Alexandria police force: Sergt. George Everly and Policemen Frederick Baker, John Stewart, R. J. Mullen and C. S. McDonald. Certificates were also issued to these members of the Alexandria Fire Department: O. B. Bayliss, Joseph E. Bayliss, Edgon Hjorland, C. J. Guckert, P. L. Creel, H. L. Dyson, T. T. Henry, C. E. Lucas and C. I. Langford.

Parley on War Boycott Is Urged by Houghton

New York, April 3 (A.P.).—The United States could "render humanity no greater service at the moment," said Alanson B. Houghton today, than to call the nations into another conference to decide whether economic boycott shall be accepted as an instrument for enforcing the Kellogg-Briand peace pact.

Mr. Houghton, former Ambassador to Great Britain, declared the pact was approved originally because its two provisions—renunciation of war and acceptance of peaceful settlements—caused "plain men and women of all nations to manifest their approval in no doubtful terms."

Man Found Unconscious On Road Dies in Norfolk

Norfolk, Va., April 3 (A.P.).—L. F. Tyree, about 55 years old, died in a hospital here early today from injuries sustained several hours earlier when he was found lying unconscious on the Waterworks road in Princess Anne County with a compound fracture of the skull and a fracture of the right forearm.

Police have not determined whether Tyree was the victim of a hit-and-run machine or had been beaten and left unconscious on the road.

SEVERAL ARRESTED IN RAIDS IN FAIRFAX

Alleged Liquor Also Seized and Others Taken on Lesser Charges.

The activities of the Fairfax County police early yesterday resulted in the arrest of several persons who were charged with violation of the State prohibition law.

Wallace Frenzel and Saul Reil, of Fairfax, Route No. 2, were arrested at a house near Fairfax station in a raid led by State Prohibition Inspector Virgil Williams. It was said that 15 gallons of alleged liquor was found in their possession. They were held for the action of the grand jury at the May term of Fairfax County Circuit Court by Justice of the Peace A. C. Ritchie. Bond was set at $500 each.

Another raid led by Inspector Williams on the home of Norman Fairfax, near Elgins Corner, resulted in the seizure of three gallons of alleged liquor and the arrest of Fairfax, who was ordered held for grand jury action.

L. H. Riley and Vou Snyder, giving their addresses as Washington, were also arrested near Fairfax station on charges of possession of liquor and being drunk. Riley was held for grand jury action on the possession charge and Snyder ordered released. James McCall, of Fairfax Station, was fined $10 and costs, drunkenness.

Four persons giving their addresses as Washington, were arrested at Chimney Villa on the Lee highway and charged with being drunk, drinking in public and disorderly conduct. They gave their names as C. L. Hyson, H. M. Arrington, Paul Chapple and Mrs. Paul E. Chapple. They were given a hearing before Justice Ritchie who imposed a fine of $25 and costs each. Chapple was fined an extra $10 for interfering with the police.

Victim of Market Slays Mother, 88, and Herself

Amesbury, Mass., April 3 (A.P.).—Miss Marjorie Jewell, 66, today shot and killed her 88-year-old widowed mother, Mrs. Marianne Jewell, and then ended her own life.

Medical Examiner P. J. Mullen said he had been informed the daughter had lost her savings in the stock market and feared she was going to lose her position in a Boston real estate office. He said it was his opinion that Miss Jewell had become temporarily insane.

ONE HURT AS 3 CARS CRASH ON HIGHWAY

Three Drivers Make Bond in Arlington on Reckless-Driving Charges.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Raymond Pulley, of Virginia Highlands, was treated for lacerations about the face at the Alexandria Hospital yesterday afternoon as a result of the crashing of three automobiles on the Washington-Richmond highway near Four Mile Run. His injuries were reported as not serious.

Leon Trois, of 2113 Fourteenth street northwest, driver of the first car to be hit, according to his report to county police, was struck by the automobile of Charles H. Gaskins, colored, 918 F street southwest, Washington, when the latter started to enter the highway from a side road. Trois' car overturned. He escaped unhurt. Pulley was riding in his car and was thrown out as it turned over.

The third car in the crash was operated by Raymond E. Atkins, of 2018 Perry street northeast, Washington.

His report to the police when the three were booked at the Arlington County Jail on reckless driving charges was that in an effort to avoid the accident he was forced to sideswipe Gaskins' car.

The trio were released on bond for their appearance in court today.

Traffic was in a jam as a result of the accident for more than an hour and many accidents were averted as a result of the arrival of County Officers Vernon Wilt and Raymond Crack.

The preschool dental clinic will be held at the Clarendon Health Center today and tomorrow from 9 to 12 noon and from 1 to 4 o'clock, according to Dr. P. M. Chichester, Arlington County health officer.

Dr. Chichester urges all parents to bring their children to these clinics as much preventive work can be accomplished, saving the child trouble later in life. There is no fee for this service.

The Woman's Club of Lyon Village will meet Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. E. K. Melin, 128 Virginia avenue.

The Woman's Club of Arlington will meet today at Windsor Arms. The business session will be preceded by luncheon to be served at 1 o'clock.

MR. STIMSON'S ERRAND.

The Secretary of State goes first to Geneva on this year's pilgrimage, ostensibly for the sole purpose of breaking the deadlock on disarmament and bringing home an arms reduction treaty. It seems to be advisable to withhold from the American people the dreadful news that the Secretary of State really goes to discuss reparations and war debts, to the end that an arrangement of some kind may take effect upon the termination of the Hoover moratorium on July 1.

Why the public should be kept ignorant of this news, and be expected to stretch its elastic credulity to the point of believing that the Geneva arms conference is actually trying to reduce armaments, is one of the profound secrets of the State Department. What would a State Department be without secrets and indirection and mystery, all strictly according to the classic traditions of Machiavelli and Talleyrand? Dickering between nations would lose its glamour if it were not shrouded from the vulgar gaze by ingenious screens devised by "career men," subsecretaries and white-spatted functionaries. The people and Congress could not be expected to survive the shock of nude exposure of the facts concerning international bargaining.

Nevertheless, the rude yeomanry catch a glimpse of the truth, here and there, and uncouth self-made senators sometimes have flashes of insight. They recall the fact that the French government knocked the Geneva arms conference into a cocked hat last summer by the blunt announcement that France would not reduce arms. They remember that the suave and steel-hard Tardieu confirmed this decision by blandly proposing that the nations set up an international police force to be directed by France's personally conducted league of nations. So the unwashed commonalty and the Senate waste no time upon the pleasant fiction that Secretary Stimson's errand is to bring back an arms-reduction treaty. A debt-reduction, commitment is what they apprehend. And this outcome is foreshadowed by Prime Minister MacDonald's statement published today.

France and Britain are putting their heads together on the Danubian problem. If they can work out a mutual agreement they will ask Germany and Italy to accept it. Mr. Tardieu faces a national election on May 1. He must satisfy the French peasantry that he is not making any worth-while concessions to Germany or any of its satellites. It is difficult to do this, while carrying forward a plan that will help Great Britain to collect something from Germany, induce Germany to pay unconditional reparations, and persuade the United States that chaos will ensue unless it again postpones debt payments. But Mr. Tardieu thrives on difficulties.

The Danubian crisis offers fine possibilities in the way of frightening and cajoling the United States into acceptance of a scheme to reduce or postpone the war debts. If the four big powers can work out a scheme for the salvation of Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Roumania, Austria and Jugoslavia, at not too much expense, and then present it to the United States as an unanswerable argument in favor of another burst of American generosity, it is hoped that Congress will agree to reestablish the debt commission for the purpose of scaling down the debts to a point within present capacity to pay. "Present capacity" will then be exhibited in such ghastly and gaunt outlines that the American people can not fail to volunteer to assume Europe's debts. Thus chaos will be averted, the Danubian mendicants will have been rescued, France and Britain will get something out of Germany, and nobody but the American taxpayer will be out of pocket.

For the present, pending these developments, it is deemed best that the American people should believe that Secretary Stimson goes to Europe for the purpose of convincing the besotted war-mad governments that the short cut to the millennium lies in making a simultaneous enthusiastic bonfire of all the machines and implements of war.

A CALL FOR BUREAUCRACY.

John Sloan, president of the Society of Independent Artists, chose a very inauspicious time to advocate the establishment of a Federal bureau of art. Congress is engaged in the disconcerting task of trying to deflate bureaucracy. A number of bureaus are trembling lest the pruning knife cut off their sustenance. Under these conditions the suggestion of an art bureau, coming from such an unpolitical group, will make no more impression on the congressional mind than the chirping of birds on the Capitol dome.

Nevertheless, the plea of the artist contains substance for cogitation. "Why," asks Mr. Sloan, "should it be considered unessential to have a department devoted to the interests of those things which alone survive the ages and political upheavals, and leave records of civilization?" Uncle Sam has a Department of Agriculture, which teaches the people how to farm. The ever-expanding responsibilities of this great Mother of Agriculture now include instructions in the care of children, the design of dolls, the mending of clothes, and a thousand other commonplace activities. Even the love-making tactics of the bullfrog do not escape its careful observation, as the Senate noted a few days ago. Under the tutelage of Uncle Sam the farmer and his family have become so proficient that they bankrupt themselves with overproduction. Three years ago the Government set up another agency to teach the farmer how to restrain himself.

These agricultural agencies constitute only one of the arms which a paternal Government extends around its children. The Department of Commerce gives aid and advice to business. It stimulates the industrial genius of the people so that it, too, blossoms into overproduction and consequent instability. Even international bankers who make a business of lending the wealth of American citizens to prodigal foreign governments find the facilities of the Government available to them.

Should the Government foster every other interest under the sun and give no attention to art? Small wonder that the artists feel that they are the objects of discrimination!

No one will consider very seriously the artist's appeal for the aid of bureaucracy, but it may help to call attention of the public to the lengths to which the Government has already gone in other directions.

AMERICAN EMBASSIES.

A few years ago the United States owned but a small number of the residences in the 51 capitals to which this country sends diplomatic representatives. In the last half dozen years the Nation has acquired the Morgan mansion in London, the Blucher Palace in Berlin, suitable diplomatic homes in Rome, Buenos Aires, Montevideo, Tirana and Tokyo. The latter, built on the site of the former embassy destroyed by fire in 1923, is fire and earthquake-proof, and has been pronounced the finest diplomatic building in the Orient.

The Tokyo Embassy is of modern Spanish renaissance architecture and stands in the middle of large formal gardens. The lily pools and broad drives will make an impressive setting for the house.

A new American embassy is also under construction in Paris, on the Place de la Concorde, at the corner of Avenue Gabriel. The ambassador's residence at 2 Avenue d'Iena, which will remain the envoy's home, was built by the former president of France, Jules Grevy, at a cost of about $1,600,000. It was bought by the late Myron T. Herrick, and is of the type of many of the smaller palaces of the period with wide windows, mansard roof and iron balconies. Though it is a suitable ambassadorial residence it is not large enough to provide space for the business of the embassy, and the new building will supply this need.

The Blucher Palace at Berlin, with its 120 apartments and manorial halls, was presented to old Marshal Blucher by Prussia. American architects are at present restoring and remodeling its interior, so that in a few months it will be ready to accommodate the 140 officials and clerical workers of the staff.

Besides the fine embassy in London presented to the United States by J. P. Morgan, this country has acquired many others in all parts of the world. Soon there will be no occasion for a repetition of the incident of a few years ago, when an American Minister to South America was forced to resign his post because of the expense of renting a suitable house. American Ambassadors will not be called upon to reply, as one did at a London dinner party at the beginning of this century, when an old lady asked him to tell her of his home, "Madame, I have no home. I am the American Ambassador."

MILWAUKEE CURBS CRIME.

The almost universal failure of municipal authorities to provide protection against crime would make the situation seem hopeless if there were not a conspicuous example of police efficiency to be studied.

Why is the City of Milwaukee free from racketeers? Why do they give this one city a wide berth? It is simply because they get prompt and hard-boiled treatment when they set foot in that municipality. Milwaukee has a nonpolitical police force. The chief of police is appointed by the mayor, but can not be removed by him. Milwaukee has had but two police chiefs in over 40 years, and an efficient force has been built up that enforces law and order and is not appointed by political pull or subject to political removal.

A suspect arrested in Milwaukee is quickly tried and either imprisoned or set free. The laws there differ little from those of other States and cities, but the officers in charge of enforcement know what they are expected to do and the citizens see that they do it. Gangs have no chance to organize in Milwaukee, where the cases of individual criminals are handled so promptly.

It may not be due to Milwaukee's comparative freedom from crime that the city is a prominent example of governmental efficiency and solvency, but such also is the fact. The municipal treasury enjoys a surplus this year when cities all about are crime-ridden and bankrupt. Milwaukee's crime record is remarkable in comparison with that of many other cities. With a population of 700,000, murders do not average one a month, and there are no assassinations by gangsters. Only one murderer has escaped punishment there in ten years.

Insurance tables show that a citizen of Milwaukee is 86 per cent safer from burglary or theft than a resident of New Orleans, St. Paul or New York, and still more safe than if he lived in Chicago, St. Louis or Los Angeles. This is proved by the fact that while insurance rates against theft and burglary have increased from one-fourth to one-third in these cities, the rates in Milwaukee have been reduced 25 per cent.

Protection of life and property can be secured through an honest police force that is not subject to political interference, either in its appointment or its administration of duty. Milwaukee has proved it.

Adolf Hitler says that his rise in German politics is due to his self-advertisement. If that worked in this country, Huey Long would be in the White House.

INDEPENDENCE OF THE PHILIPPINES.

By VICENTE VILLAMIN.

According to the Congressional Record Speaker Garner will, today, "take the responsibility of recognizing the gentleman from South Carolina (Mr. Hare) to move to suspend the rules and pass the bill" granting Philippine independence in eight years, restricting debate thereon to 40 minutes.

This is legislative speed with a vengeance. The Philippine question involves not only the welfare and destiny of the 13,000,000 Filipinos but also the position and policy of America in the Pacific and the maintenance of international stability and equilibrium in the Orient, a region that is heavily charged with dynamite. It is incredible that a question of such magnitude can be disposed of in only 40 minutes by a legislative body of 435 members.

The Hare bill is accompanied by a report in whose preparation the hand of the Filipino political leaders is apparent. Compared with similar reports in the past, this one is a masterly document. It breathes the new nationalism of Roosevelt, the new freedom of Wilson, and the new economics of Hoover. But between its philosophy and the provisions of the bill there is a sharp contradiction.

The report says: "Any plan for independence should afford a reasonable time for the readjustment of existent trade relations. The backbone of Philippine economic system is the present reciprocal free trade with the United States. Abrupt termination of that relationship would destroy many of the basic industries of the Philippines; it would seriously imperil the future of the free Philippine nation, and forfeit much of the gains the people have made under the guidance of the United States."

The bill embarks the Filipinos upon eight years of conventions, elections, political speculations, the drafting of practically two constitutions, the creation of a Philippine commonwealth, which shall have a life of eight years, and finally the establishment of a separate and sovereign Philippine republic. The Filipinos will have so little time and so limited opportunity for the difficult work of economic readjustment and preparation as to render the separation of the two countries not only abrupt but ruthless.

There are no provisions regarding the international security of the Philippines. That aspect of the question has been studiously avoided at the congressional hearings. The geographical location of the islands, coupled with the prevailing conditions in the Orient, render the security question of the highest moment. It is believed America has certain moral responsibilities in that connection. Deprived of America's international protection, the Philippines will be exposed to the overwhelming forces of mass immigration from China, economic penetration from Japan, and communistic infiltration from Russia.

The full force of the American immigration laws is to be applied to the Filipinos under the bill. A quota of 50 is fixed to operate immediately. After eight years the Filipinos will be excluded entirely. Exclusion, it seems, will be America's parting expression to the Filipinos after 40 years of association, training them in American principles, giving them the American language and letting them have a taste of American generosity. This question of immigration should be segregated from the question of independence and dealt with as an economic rather than a political problem.

The bill holds out the illusory hope that after independence there may be established a tariff relationship akin to that existing between America and Cuba. Such relationship must be predicated on a political relationship to get around the most-favored-nation clause of the treaties, a possibility that is patently remote. Besides, the very forces in America that are wishing immediate absolute independence on the Philippines will oppose any reciprocity arrangement. It is safe to assume that once America leaves the Philippines the separation of the two countries will be complete in every respect.

That the bill is hardly an expression of good will to the Filipinos is shown by the fact that while it restricts the movement of Philippine products to the United States it does not impair the flow of American goods to the Philippines. And while Philippine trade with America is curtailed the Philippines are not given the power to enter into commercial arrangements with foreign countries to open up new markets.

Congress has before it a bill that will affect the Philippines automatically and profoundly. Harassed by debts, embarrassed by greatly increased government expenses, impoverished by the destruction of industries and overwhelmed by the stern realities of international dangers, the Philippines are entering upon anxious times, jeopardizing their welfare, their existence and their aspirations.

Dedicated to the Three Musketeers: As bogus as a bonus bid at this time.

If Mr. Coolidge's settlement is a precedent we must be careful what we say about the automobile and cigarette salesmen who try to get us to switch.

Publicity is one of the most effective things in the world for blocking efforts to rescue kidnap victims.

No, Reginald, the emergency hospital set up at the Capitol is still of limited capacity and does not provide care for mental cases.

Bonus advocates admit that Congress would not approve a $2,000,000,000 bond issue, so they merely propose alternative currency inflation that would ruin the value of all the Government money in circulation.

Senators speaking at the Jefferson Day dinner in New York launched a new constructive issue for the Democrats; they charged the administration with responsibility for the world depression.

If the bonus payment is right Congress should also compel all men to cash in their life insurance and spend the money.

Jimmy Gerard resigned as treasurer of the Democratic national committee. He found that a light purse is the heaviest load to carry.

What is a bridge wizard? Oswald Jacoby draws thirteen hearts in the world's Olympic and as a result of two psychic bids scores 400 in sets, when any boob could have made more than three times as much on an original slam bid.

Today the Senate begins the delicate task of adding sales taxes to the budget-balancing bill, but so discreetly that the House will not suspect the composite whole constitutes a sales tax.

The Soviet does not seem so much worried by the yellow peril on the Siberian border as by the white plague of former Russians.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

THE JOB SEEKER.

He let him sweep the sidewalk and he let him paint a wall.
He might have done those tasks himself, but this man chanced to call.
And though he came dejected at the ending of the day,
With some money in his pocket he went whistling on his way.

He heard the bright coins clinking in his pocket as they turned,
And pride was in their music since he knew them truly earned.
And home he went elated, with his head once more erect,
For the man who works for money still retains his self-respect.

There are countless thousands like him, weary now of arm and leg,
Who are faced by grim privations and are still too proud to beg.
So it is for them I'm pleading, 'tis not alms but work they ask.
For their own sake and their children's they would welcome any task.

The King Does Himself Little Honor if He Is Jealous of the One Dethroned.

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

THERE is an ancient fable concerning two friends who quarreled about a cloak. Each seized a corner of the garment and sought with might and main to wrest it from the other, and thus between them they destroyed the thing and neither had any reward for his struggle except the poor satisfaction of keeping from his friend the thing he could not obtain for himself.

The fate of the cloak is the fate of every unfortunate man—usually an only son—who is made the bone of contention between a selfish wife and a jealous mother, or a selfish mother and a jealous wife.

Any manly man abominates "scenes." He hates being made conspicuous. He is shamed and embarrassed when the women of his household exhibit temper. And he suffers torments when two of them battle for the chief place in his affections.

The vanity of ladies may be tickled when competitors fight for their favor, but the role of prize is feminine. No man can enjoy it. The realization that mother and wife are engaged in a secret and bitter conflict for the right to possess and dominate him robs any many's life of peace and pleasure.

If he loves both, as in such cases he always does, he must seem blind and deaf to preserve his neutrality. His love impels him to support and defend both, yet forbids him to hurt or forsake either. He is helpless, and his very helplessness doubles his shame.

He would please both, yet if he pleases one he displeases the other. And both of them, though inspired by love of him, conspire to make him the most miserable of men.

There is no room in jealousy for any motive except selfishness.

Neither woman gives a thought to the man's welfare, except as it may be achieved by her direction. The sole desire of each is to get more of his money or more of his attention or more of his love and to establish her right to direct and dominate him.

The wife is more at fault than the mother. Her jealousy, if she is well loved, is without cause. She loses nothing by reason of the man's love for his mother.

The mother's jealousy is instinctive. It is mother love fighting against the inevitable separation—clinging to that first place in the man's heart she has so nobly earned.

The younger woman must endure the same experience when her time comes. Knowledge of the fact should make her gentle and patient with the woman she has supplanted.

PRO AND CON

Press Comment Upon Acts and Actors in the Great American Show, "Politics."

Helping Hoover.

Chicago Tribune.

Unquestionably the Democrats in a week have done Mr. Hoover more good than his Republican friends have been able to do him in a year. They have made his second term seem much more reasonable in his prospects than it was before. Their behavior was more convincing than Republican arguments.

They had their opportunity and used it to blow up. Now that their unruly boys are winded Mr. Garner has made some show of restoring order, but the juvenile demonstration has made its effect. Mr. Hoover and the Republican management have been given a chance they had no reason to expect. The second term may largely depend on how Mr. Hoover makes use of the unexpected.

Poor Stuff in Congress.

Milwaukee Journal.

Low-grade thinking or a low standard of legislative honesty was shown when 132 members of the House voted for a tax on 2.75 per cent beer. Congressmen invite lack of respect when they go in for such stunting. They would tax the result of operations which their own body has made criminal. How can others respect them?

Happiness Assured.

Philadelphia Inquirer.

"Alfalfa Bill" Murray says he will be much happier if he doesn't get the nomination, and, looking at the matter from this perspective, we can't see where he has much cause to worry.

Lost Time.

Topeka Capital.

Speaker Garner is at last reported to be "getting into the tax row." He lost a good deal of valuable time getting into the presidential row.

Why Experiment?

Atlanta Constitution.

In a recent report the United States Department of Commerce points out that while 2,000 banks closed their doors in this country in 1931, tying up deposits amounting to $1,700,000,000, there has not been a bank failure in either Great Britain or Canada in the last seven years.

With ten separate and distinct bills now pending action by Congress, providing for the guarantee of bank deposits in one way or another, would it not be wise for this country to follow the system which has so safeguarded the depositors of those two great countries, rather than to project with experiments which are uncertain and which, where tried, have failed?

Busting National Credit.

New York Sun.

If it is "the first duty of every citizen * * * to build up and sustain the credit of the United States Government," it is most clearly the duty of those 531 citizens who make up the legislative branch of the Government. This is no hour for them to play hob with the national credit by voting two billion dollars to the veterans.

Zero Hour.

Kansas City Times.

If the high-sounding patriotic phrases written into the organic principles of all veterans' societies, pledging support and loyalty to "God and Country," to the flag and to American ideals, are worth the paper they are engraved upon, then the time has come for these veterans' organizations to prove it.

Hard Fact.

Dallas News.

Yes, sir. Depression relief consists of a billion dollars' worth of taxes, any way you figure it.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Alfonso May Be "Undesirable," But He Is a Good Sport.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Alfonso XIII has lost his throne, but he has retained his sense of humor. Americans, visiting Spain while he was its sovereign, saw plenty of evidence of the impending revolution, and when that event occurred they were not surprised. But the king was a genial sort of fellow, and Americans who met him in those days liked him a lot. Distrusted as a ruler, he was distinctly popular as a man. Sidney Morgan, secretary of the United States Tariff Commission, who knew him intimately, praises him ardently. The late Ambassador Alexander P. Moore liked the royal family so well that he left part of his fortune to the charities of the queen. Other Americans, returning from abroad, praised their royal acquaintance to the skies. But all condemned the misgovernment of Spain.

The revolution, long expected, finally came. Today Alfonso says: "I have been fired." But the experience seems to have improved him. If he was likeable before, he is charming now. The New York Times has kept track of him in his wanderings over the Continent, and the cables to that paper combine to make an attractive portrait of the fallen monarch. "I am a queer kind of tourist," the Times reports him telling a friend. "I have no passport. When I come to a frontier, I say to the officers, 'My name is Alfonso XIII, and I am an undesirable,' but they let me pass."

A political liability, but still a good sport. It is too bad that Spain does not use him in some capacity. He has the true Spanish philosophy.

Mary Weeks Spends a Rainy Morning Reading.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In Radio Dial Flashes, March 31, we read about the "Seven Stages of Man," to be given over WOL. Well, perhaps they are stages, but the poet Shakespeare wrote it "The Seven Ages of Man." Might as well have it right, you know.

Another morning one of the columns had "her's." It was meant for the pronoun "hers," but it looked as if it was intended for "her is." One time I noticed "their's" for the pronoun.

When the movies used subtitles it was quite rare to have the pronouns correctly expressed, or the possessives. It isn't as bad, however, as the gentleman who was writing about a deceased gentleman. It appeared in print, "the diseased gentleman."

In a Government publication a year or so ago there appeared the word forfeiture spelled "forfeasture," and "procedure" appeared as "proceedure." Again, in the index the printer got all balled up and spelled "affect" "effect," and "effect" "affect." He just could not get the difference. It's all pi for the printer, of course.

When there was so much ado about dropping out unnecessary letters some years ago, it was funny what that did to "the battle-scarred hero," for he appeared as the "battle-scared hero," which may have been more nearly correct.

However, I have nothing to do this morning. It is raining, and I can't do anything else but read. So there you are. MARY WEEKS.

Mr. Lyle Has His Little Joke on a Serious Theme.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: People living in 5082 may find the following item in their newspaper some morning:

"Archeologists, digging in the ruins of Washington, America's ancient Capital, recently unearthed a building that was evidently the headquarters of the Democratic Tribe, during the years between 1929 and 1932. Documents were found bearing those dates and signed by the high priests or leaders of that tribe, who to judge by their writing were of low order of intelligence. They seemed to think that Hoover, a member of the Republican Tribe and the Nation's ruler was endowed with supernatural powers which he used for evil, for they blamed him for storms, drought, wars, famines and for the waves of insanity which struck the members of Congress at various times during his reign. Evidence of three other tribes were found, the Progressives, Wets and Drys. The Progressives are represented as friends of the poor, but history shows that they left the poor poorer. The Wets and Drys are pictured as great troublemakers, for they insisted on sending men to Congress who were of mediocre caliber. This resulted in the United States being destroyed early in the twentieth century by enemies without and half-wits within."

Pennsylvania Correspondent Praises Post Editorial on Gov. Pinchot.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Having noted with much satisfaction the quotation from one of your editorials which appears in the current number of the Literary Digest, the writer wishes to express to you his appreciation and thanks for your apt description of the high (?) motives actuating Pennsylvania's present executive.

Although this official achieved election by a majority just 880,172 less than that received by the candidate for United States senator at the same election, he at once attempted to organize both houses of the legislature to his own personal advantage and generally to usurp the established prerogatives of the other cardinal branches of the State government, which effort still persists.

Through abuse of appointive powers, which attach to the office, thousands upon thousands of dollars of the people's money are being poured into the coffers of political favorites, greatly overpaid, at a time when, according to his own utterances, the poor people of this State are facing starvation.

Mrs. Stone Not to Observe Day at Home Today; Party Is Entertained at Italian Embassy Luncheon

MRS. HARLAN FISKE STONE, wife of Justice Stone, will not observe her day at home this afternoon.

The Italian Ambassador and Donna Antonietta de Martino had as their guests at luncheon yesterday at the embassy Justice and Mrs. Harlan Fiske Stone, the Swedish Minister and Mme. Bostrom, the Undersecretary of the Treasury and Mrs. Arthur A. Ballantine, Mr. Wallace Murray, Miss Mabel Boardman, Sir Willmott and Lady Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Constantine Brown, Miss Mary Patten, Miss Mary Randolpha, Count Alberto Marchetti, counselor of the Italian Embassy, and Count Roncalli di Montorio, First Secretary of the Embassy, and Countess Roncalli.

Owing to the illness of Donna Antonietta de Martino, Mme. Bostrom acted as hostess in her absence.

The French Ambassador, M. Paul Claudel, was the guest of honor at a dinner given on Saturday evening in New York by Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Cartier.

Among the guests were Mme. Lily Pene, Miss Belle da Costa Greene, Mrs. Jules Glaenzer, Mr. Charles de Fontnouvelle, the French Consul General, Maj. Georges Thenault; Mr. Hugo Stevens and Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Moore.

Representative and Mrs. Adam M. Wyant spent the week-end at their home in Greensburg, Pa., where they were called by the death of Representative Wyant's sister. They will return to their apartment at the Wardman Park Hotel today.

Representative Claude A. Fuller, of Eureka Springs, Ark., with Mrs. Fuller and their daughter, Ruth, have moved to Wardman Park Hotel, where they have taken an apartment and will be located for the remainder of the congressional session.

The Assistant Postmaster General, Mr. W. Irving Glover, is attending the National Aircraft Show in Detroit. He will visit Chicago before returning to Washington on Wednesday.

Col. Joseph W. Beacham, U. S. A., accompanied by Mrs. Beacham, arrived in Washington from Ithaca, N. Y., the latter part of last week, and they are established at the Wardman Park Hotel for the duration of their visit here.

Mrs. Allen, widow of Col. Samuel E. Allen, U. S. A., has as her guest for a short time Mrs. Andrews, wife of Brig. Gen. Avery Delano Andrews, of New York.

Lieut. Comdr. and Mrs. Daniel A. Doherty entertained at the dinner dance at the Shoreham Saturday evening, when covers were laid for fourteen.

Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Atwill Are Visiting in Hollywood.

Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Atwill, of Baltimore, who have been in California for several months, have a house in Hollywood, where they are spending the spring.

Mrs. Peter Goelet Gerry has closed her home in New York and went Saturday to Providence, R. I.

Miss Elena de Struve was married Saturday to Mr. John Alec Bullock with simple ceremony in the Santa Barbara home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. William A. Slater, of New York. The bride, who has passed most of her life abroad, was unattended. She was given in marriage by her stepfather, Mr. E. Halsey Malone, of New York. Only relatives and intimate friends were present. The Rev. Father John J. Cox, of the Montecito Catholic Church, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Boris de Struve, one-time of the Russian Embassy in Washington, who died when she was an infant. His father was ambassador to this country. Her mother, who later was married to Mr. Malone, died in 1920. She was Miss Eleanor Slater, a sister of William A. Slater, jr., of New York.

Mr. Bullock is manager of the Uplifters Polo Club in Santa Monica, Calif., and is rated as a four-goal player. He managed the Turf and Polo Club at Port Chester, N. Y., before going to California. He is a native of England.

Mr. Edward G. Smith, jr., of Philadelphia, a member of the winter polo colony in Santa Barbara, was best man at the wedding, which was followed by a reception. The couple will reside at Santa Monica.

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Haas announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Nancy Virginia Haas, to Mr. Frank T. Parsons, jr.

Miss Julia Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederic S. Lee, and Mr. John H. McDill, son of Dr. and Mrs. John R. McDill, of Washington, were married yesterday at the home of the bride's parents, in New York. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. William T. Crocker in the presence of the immediate families and a few friends. A small reception followed.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory satin with full sleeves and a skirt draped to form a train. Her veil was of old rose point lace, and she carried white orchids. Miss Mary French, of Greenwich, Conn., was maid of honor. She wore a blue crepe dress and hat of blue straw. Mr. William F. Machold, of Philadelphia, was best man.

After the wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. McDill will live in New Haven, Conn. The bride was graduated from Bryn Mawr College in 1927 and was introduced to society several years ago. She is a member of the Cosmopolitan Club and Junior League. Mr. McDill is a graduate of Yale, '27, and is now an instructor at that university. He is a member of Chi Psi, the Elizabethan Club and the Grolier Club.

Miss Marion Doorly Bride Of Harper Melvin Sowles.

Miss Marion Deming Doorly, daughter of Mr. Nathaniel Worrell Doorly, of Sagamore Park, Bronxville, N. Y., was married Saturday afternoon to Mr. Harper Melvin Sowles, son of Mr. Melvin H. Sowles, of Salt Lake City and Chicago, and of Mrs. Rollin P. Officer, of Washington. The wedding took place in Christ Church, Bronxville, the rector, the Rev. Dr. Charles W. Robinson, officiating. A reception was held at the Doorly residence.

Dr. Doorly gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a gown of white net over white taffeta, made with a square neckline and long fitted sleeves puffed below the shoulders. The skirt was draped to form a train. Her tulle veil, edged on either side with a deep border of rose point lace, was held in place by a cap of the lace. She carried gardenias, white sweetpeas and valley lilies.

Mrs. Richard Young, of New York and Omaha, a cousin of the bride, was matron of honor, and Miss Anita Doorly, a sister, was maid of honor. Other attendants were Mrs. John Davenport, of New York and Bronxville; Mrs. Herbert Stanley Cornell, jr., of Mamaroneck; Mrs. William W. Brinckerhoff, of Greenwich, Conn.; Mrs. John Charles Curran, Miss Mary Adair Childress, of Scarsdale, N. Y., and Miss Grace Fisher, of Rye, N. Y. Patricia Doorly, sister of the bride, was flower girl.

Mr. W. Lippincott Colket, of Philadelphia, was best man. Ushers were Dr. Richard Young and Messrs. C. Francis Smithers, William W. Brinckerhoff, Daniel M. Dent, Marc Gardner and Charles P. Frazier. On their return from Hot Springs, Va., Mr. and Mrs. Sowles will reside in Summit, N. J. The bride attended the Darlington Seminary, West Chester, Pa., and the Gardner School. She is a member of the Bronxville League for Service. Her mother was the late Juliette Hoyt Doorly, of Burlington, Vt., and New York. Mr. Sowles attended Worcester Academy and was graduated in 1925 from Princeton, where he was a member of Cloister Club. He is a member of the Sons of the American Revolution.

"Books and More Books" will be the topic of discussion this evening at 8 o'clock by the Booklovers of Washington, who will hold their semi-monthly meeting at the Young Women's Christian Association, Seventeenth and K streets.

Miss Alice Hutchins Drake will review her own book, "Mural Decorations in the Library of Congress," as well as a new book, "Without Sanctuary," written by Mary B. Miller, and a new biography of Robert E. Lee.

The public is invited to attend the sessions of the Booklovers.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Schroeder, of Syracuse, N. Y., are guests at the Dodge during their brief sojourn in the Capital.

Mr. A. D. Pomeroy will arrive at the Hotel Powhatan today from Ormond Beach, Fla., where he has been for several months.

The Mothers Club of Alpha Delta Pi entertained the Alpha Pi chapter at George Washington University at a miscellaneous shower and tea last Friday afternoon. The affair was held in the new apartment into which the sorority has recently moved. Mrs. Walter Jacobs and Mrs. A. B. Niess were in charge of the party.

The Women's City Club is arranging a tea on Friday given as a farewell to Mr. Hans Kindler, conductor of the National Symphony Orchestra, who is leaving Washington for a time after his successful season. Other distinguished guests include the Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution and Mrs. Charles Greeley Abbot, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bruce Howe, Mr. and Mrs. Felipe Garcia, Maj. and Mrs. Edward MacMorland, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Torovsky, Miss Frances Gutelius, Maj. and Mrs. Charles Tittman, Mr. and Mrs. Myron Whitney, Miss Brickenstein, Miss Lucy Brickenstein and Mr. George Gaul.

Mrs. William Lee Corbin, president, will receive members and guests assisted by Mrs. Ralph F. Couch, Mrs. William W. Spaid, Mrs. Merritt O Chance, Dean Grace Hays Riley, Mrs Gladys B. Middlemiss, Miss Sophie Pearce Casey, Mrs. Peter Drury, Mrs. John C. Marin, Mrs. Alice M. Minch, Dr. A. Frances Foye, Miss Alice M. Heaven, Mrs. Anna H. Farrar, Miss Susan C. Baker and others.

Weller H. Hoback, Roanoke, Weds Marjorie Finady.

Miss Marjorie Finady, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William A. Finady, of Bethlehem, Pa., and Weller Howard Hoback, of Roanoke, Va., were married Friday. The ceremony was solemnized in the Packer Memorial Church, of Lehigh University, at 6:30 o'clock, the Rev. Fred Trafford reading the service.

Miss Finady was attended by Miss Evelyn Trainer, of Irvington, N. J., as maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Barbara Davies, of Bethlehem, and Miss Nancy Hoback, sister of the bridegroom, of Roanoke, Va. Joan Trainer, of Milburn, N. J., and Patsy Growles, of Weehawken, N. J., were the flower girls. Frederick Hoback, brother of the bridegroom, was the best man. The ushers were William Finady, brother of the bride; Judson Smull, of Bethlehem, and Eugene and Henry Neusch, of Topton, Pa., brothers of the bride's mother.

The church wedding was followed by a reception in the Hotel Bethlehem.

The members of the Army Daughters, a club which was organized at Fort Benning, Ga., for the daughters and granddaughters of Army officers, will have a luncheon at the Shoreham today. There will be 100 members present.

Mr. and Mrs. George Burr Richardson entertained at the dinner dance at the Shoreham Saturday for their daughter, Miss Alice Richardson, who is at home for the holidays from Wellesley College, and her house guest, Miss Sarita Hopkins, of New York. Covers were laid for ten.

Miss Evelyn Davis, leader of the dance-discussion group of the American Association of University Women, has announced that the speaker for the group meeting tomorrow will be Mrs. Robert P. Martin.

Mrs. Martin has lived for a number of years in Haiti and is familiar with Haitian customs and ceremonials. The subject of her address will be "Haitian Dances and Religious Rituals."

Mrs. Martin will display several native drums and will demonstrate on them the typical native rhythms.

The George Washington Continental Ball on Army Day, Wednesday, at the Shoreham Hotel, given by the combined State societies in Washington, promises to be an outstanding event. The latest State to join in the celebration is Alabama, which will be represented by Miss Pearl Mount. Practically all State societies have appointed hostesses.

A feature of the evening will be a costume recital beginning at 8:30 p. m. by the Madrigal Singers, under the direction of Mrs. John Milton Sylvester. Their program will consist of old-time songs, some of which are: "All Creatures Now Are Merry Minded," "Come Again, Sweet Love," "Flow Gently, Sweet Afton," and "O Soldier, Soldier." Following the recital will be a military play by the Rebecca Dial Players, and the scene of the play will be at Washington's headquarters at Valley Forge.

Additional patrons and patronesses for the ball are Miss Susan Gordan, Miss E. Yeomans, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schmidt, Miss Barbara Butler, Mr. Walter Demarest, Mr. and Mrs. Mildred Hodkinson, Mr. and Mrs. E. Garfield, Miss Corrine Eaton, Mr. Floyd Potter, Mr. Richard Doule, Mr. and Mrs. William Hill, Miss Florence Ryan, Miss Eleanor Harvey, Miss Genevieve Beardsley, Miss Margaret McMahon, Mrs. Julia Chase, Miss Kathleen Burke, Mr. Wilson McCray and Miss Florence Culbertson.

Mrs. Alvin R. Norton entertained at a bridge-shower last Tuesday night at her apartment in honor of Miss Dorothea Shannon, whose marriage to Dr. Howard P. Parker will take place the latter part of this month.

Among those present were Miss Marie Stone, Miss Nellie Clear, Mrs. Burrus Williams, Miss Marie Campbell, Mrs. Theodore Berge, Mrs. Robert Ryon, Miss Margaret Cooper and Mrs. George Kidd.

The annual spring recital by the Elizabeth Somers Glee Club, of Washington, to be held in Barker Hall under the direction of Miss Mary M. Burnett, music secretary of the Young Women's Christian Association, will take place on the evening of Thursday, April 14, at 8:30 o'clock.

As usual for this concert, many notable women of Washington will be the patronesses, the list of those who have already accepted, including many well-known music lovers of the Capital City.

Among the patronesses for the concert are Miss Hettie P. Anderson, Mrs. William Hamilton Bayly, Mrs. Daniel Borden, Mrs. Thomas Edwin Brown, Mrs. Evaline N. Burgess, Miss Frances E. Chickering, Miss Jean Dean Cole, Mrs. Wilson Compton, Miss Alice Edwards, Miss Gertrude Ennes, Miss Estelle Foster, Miss Margaret R. Fox, Mrs. George H. Genzmer, Mrs. Charles Evans Hughes, Mrs. William E. Humphrey, Mrs. John Blake Kendall, Mrs. Irving W. Ketchum, Mrs. Robert Lansing, Mrs. Edwin B. Parker, Mrs. James Craig Peacock, Miss Elsa Peterson, Mrs. Woodbury Pulsifer, Mrs. Albert H. Putney, Mrs. William McClellan Ritter, Mrs. John T. Schaaf, Mrs. D. A. Skinner, Mrs. Ruby Smith Stahl, Mrs. Joseph M. Stoddard, Mr. George Winchester Stone, Mrs. Huston Thompson, and Miss Emilie Margaret White.

The committee of the Elizabeth Somers Glee Club, which is arranging for the concert includes Miss Katherine Erwin, Miss Bernice Johnson, Miss Augusta Schutte, and Miss Grace Wilson.

The donors' luncheon for the benefit of the new Sabath School building fund, with Mr. Alexander Wolf as chairman, will be May 9 at the Mayflower Hotel.

Fellow students of Mr. John A. Largay, jr., of Georgetown University, are making arrangements for a birthday party to be given in his honor on Saturday at Wardman Park Hotel. There were about 22 in the party.

The George Washington University Glee Club will be featured on the "ladies' night" program of the University Club Thursday evening. The main dining room of the club will be open to ladies on this occasion, as is the custom on ladies' night.

The program was arranged by the entertainment committee, of which Mr. Lewis Lofton Moneyway is chairman.

Children's Dance Recital To Be Given This Week.

Much interest is being shown in the forthcoming production when Miss Hawke will present the children's spring dance recital, introducing "Beneath a Circus Tent," a playlet written by Mrs. Edward Goring Bliss. The performance will be given Friday evening at 8:15 o'clock and Saturday matinee at 2:15 o'clock at Wardman Park Theater.

Among those who have taken seats are Mrs. Herbert Adair, Mrs. Raymond T. Baker, Mrs. Robert Coppenger, Mrs. Louise Caldwell, Mrs. Abram Claude, Mrs. John Carter, Mrs. Walter Distler, Mrs. Hayne Ellis, Mrs. Marshall Field, Mrs. Thomas Good, Mrs. Guthrie, Mrs. W. H. Hale, Mrs. Samuel Kauffmann, Mrs. Charles Kappler, Mrs. Edward B. Meigs, Mrs. E. W. McLean, Mrs. Theodore Noyes, Mrs. Armistead Peter 3d, Mrs. Pain, Mrs. John Rankin, Mrs. Chester Snow, Mrs. S. R. Shumaker and Mrs. William H. West.

The North Carolina Society will hold its next meeting at the Shoreham Hotel on Tuesday evening, April 19. Following a short business meeting for the election of officers, there will be a dance and reception in honor of Mrs. Sydney Perry Cooper, State regent, and other North Carolina delegates to the annual congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The president of the society, Maj. Eley P. Denson, will be assisted by Representative Charles L. Abernethy, chairman of the floor committee, and Mrs. Cameron Morrison, chairman of the ladies' reception committee. A large attendance of North Carolinians and their friends is expected at this final meeting of the society for the 1931-1932 season.

Benefit on Wednesday For St. Gertrude's School.

Mrs. George P. Scriven is chairman of patronesses for the card party to be given in the gold room of Wardman Park Hotel Wednesday at 2 o'clock for the benefit of St. Gertrude's School of Arts and Crafts. The patronesses include Mme. Debuchi, Mrs. Pierce Butler, Mrs. James Couzens, Mrs. Louis Lehr, Mrs. Paul Bastedo, Mrs. Edward Douglas White, Mrs. John Ryan Devereaux, Mrs. David K. Saul, Mrs. Pere Wilmer and Mrs. Joseph P. Tumulty.

Others interested in the success of the party are Mr. William Donovan, Mrs. Corcoran Thom, Mrs. Walter H. Gordon, Mrs. Washington Lee Capps, Mrs. W. A. Tierney, Mrs. James E. Duke and Miss Margaret Loughran. Mrs. James Haskell is in charge of the party.

Plans are complete for the National Capital Horse Show, one of the annual spring events which society always anticipates with a great deal of enthusiasm. It will be held May 11, 12, 13, 14 at the Horse Show Association's grounds in Bradley Hills, Md., situated in close proximity to Congressional Country Club.

The Woman's Army and Navy League will again have charge of the tea house, and lunches and teas will be served each day during the show.

Catholic Daughters to Have Bicentennial Party.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

The Twitchells Discuss the Tax Bill.

"READ me about the tax bill," said Mrs. Twitchell. "What are the items?"

"They've voted an increase in the normal tax," said Elmer looking over the paper.

"That won't bother us. We can say we're not normal," suggested the wife.

* * * *

"The tax on dividends is raised," resumed Elmer.

"What's a dividend?" asked Mrs. Twitchell.

"I don't remember," admitted Elmer, frankly.

* * * *

"Lubricating oil is to be taxed 4 cents a gallon," he continued after a moment. "Can we run our car without lubricating it?"

"We always have!" snapped the wife with emphasis.

"Then I see here that there's a tax on worts. What are worts?"

"I used to have them on my fingers when I was little."

"There's a pretty stiff tax on cosmetics. You'll have to go easy on your complexion."

"I can let my face go until things pick up," sighed Mrs. Twitchell. "If it gets too bad I can borrow some cold cream from the lady next door."

* * * *

"Furs are taxed 10 per cent," resumed Elmer.

"I should worry. I've still got the old buffalo robe you gave me when I married you."

"Jewelry's taxed, too."

"Well, don't worry. I can get along without the Kohinoor diamond until we get out of the depression."

* * * *

"WE'VE got to pay a tax on matches, too. Four cents for every thousand," said Elmer.

"You can get around that one by lighting your pipe from a hot coal in winter and by rubbing flint together in summer."

"Imagine taxing matches!" exclaimed Elmer. "That's no way to soak the rich. They all use electric lighters."

* * * *

"What else is taxed?" demanded Mrs. Twitchell.

"Radios," replied Elmer, "and electric ice boxes."

"I've always said that if the manufacturers were smart they'd turn out a combination electric refrigerator and radio," said the wife. "Then you could get Amos 'n' Andy and Kate Smith or a glass of milk and a piece of cold meat out of the same box for one tax."

"It don't seem fair to tax radios," complained Elmer, "except those that are played after midnight."

"There's one played by the family upstairs that should come under any general nuisance tax," insisted Mrs. Twitchell.

* * * *

"I see by this paper that all yachts and motorboats costing more than fifteen dollars are to be taxed," said Elmer.

"They're evidently willing to exempt diving rafts and swimming floats, anyhow, the big-hearted dears," said the wife. "Did you ever see a yacht or motorboat that could be bought for fifteen dollars?"

"I did," said Elmer, "but it had just been rammed by a destroyer."

* * * *

"What else is taxed?" asked Mrs. Twitchell.

"Candy, in all cases where you buy more than ten dollars worth in a year."

"Remind me to stop you when you've passed the $9.50 mark," said the wife, sharply.

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

HOLLYWOOD has it that bangs are back. Cinema stars are blossoming forth with bangs. Not the old-fashioned straight and sparse ones, you understand. The new version is quite different, and how delightful! Bangs are as individualized as the haircuts they accompany. Some are straight, some curled, some waved, some swirled, some start on one side and grow gradually longer, some pop up from nowhere and begin to bloom on the brow.

Elsie Pierce.

Bang—and how quickly a feminine face can be transformed. Cut a fluffy bang above the brow of a serious face and you have a softer, more child-like and cheery result. A plain woman can add a look of depth and mystery with a certain sort of bang. And an open-book face soon wears a mysterious twinkle in her eye when it looks out at you under a bang that is styled for all the world after the hairs on a pony's mane.

Of course, the mature woman will feel that fashion is not kind to her. Bangs are hardly meant for the middle-aged. But they can be worn by the teens, twenties and even the thirties. Try it. Experiment. Remember that they must suit your face. Remember that there are any number of styles and possibilities. If one style seems to coarsen or harden your face, try something else. If straight bangs seem severe put them up in paper curlers or have them permanently waved.

Bangs do not necessarily have to be limited to the forehead. They can start at the side of the face near the ear and work their way upward, which is the modern version of the wind-blown haircut, you know. You can have the ends curl inward on the forehead, or up and out. You can have a straight effect, rounded or forming a "V" over the bridge of your nose; you can have them form little snails or shells on the forehead, some swirling right, some left, or you can have a few layers of bangs if you wish. What intriguing things fashion does to the hair! And what beauty the new hair arrangements add to the face! If you are not successful in your own experiments, seek the assistance of an expert. If you can afford it, go to an expert even before you experiment. You'll soon know whether you look better with exposed forehead or bangs, with snail curls or straight locks, with a simple coiffure and you will know, too, how to dress the hair for daytime and how to make it more elaborate for formal wear.

What Today Means

"ARIES."

IF April 4 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9 a. m. to 10:20 a. m., from 2 p. m. to 3 p. m., and from 7 p. m. to 8:20 p. m. The danger periods are from noon to 1 p. m., and from 10:30 p. m. to 11:45 p. m.

Many who have planned ahead for April 4 without considering the hand of fate will find that they have built on quicksand, and that "the best-laid schemes of mice and men gang aft a-gley." An unfavorable time for current business affairs, but a favorable time for social functions.

The child born on this April 4 will be a natural drifter, and will fall into the easiest and safest niches in life it can find. Its vocal cords will be much used in discourses about itself and its experiences. It will have refined tastes and will be wholesome-minded.

Born on April 4, you have a shrewd, but not a brilliant mind. You are not asleep when often you are thought to be, and come out with some surprise move or "wise crack." You do a lot of thinking, a little talking, and well-timed acting. A pronounced sense of duty and force of habit will keep you faithful to your job. You do not hanker after novelty and change, and will always love to have old familiar faces and things around you. You are not adaptable enough to take new root easily.

Whatever congenital peculiarities you may have will be harmless ones, too petty to be called vices. You will suffer from a few complexes of pride and prejudice. You are too stubborn about your convictions and have a few bigoted ideas to which you will always adhere, but in the main you are an easy person with whom to live or associate.

You have good powers of concentration and can be a whole man to one thing at a time. You are a patient digger and do not easily give up. You never try to fly high, and you leave all spectacular stunts to others. You are seldom seen playing in any roles where discourtesy, real selfishness or thoughtlessness predominate. You will both give and receive real love, and should know the meaning of a happy home.

Successful people born April 4:

William White, first P. E. Bishop of Pennsylvania.

Thaddeus Stevens, statesman.

Dorothea L. Dix, philanthropist.

Thomas Kingsford, manufacturer of starch.

Lawrence Barrett, actor.

Advice on Gardening

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

HARDY LILIES.

A GARDEN is never complete without a planting of hardy lilies. These do well by themselves or in a perennial border, but wherever you plant them, they must have shade from surrounding plants. Their tops may be in the sun, but their roots may be in the shade.

There is a difference in opinion as to the depth to plant these bulbs, so I am going to quote the directions given by one of our great authorities on the raising of lilies.

"All hardy lilies should be planted from 6 to 8 inches deep, the Japan varieties even 12 inches deep, the bulbs should be completely enveloped in sand, no manure should come in contact with the bulbs, but may be placed four to six inches underneath. All loose-petaled bulbs should be planted on their sides instead of upright. Cover with leaves or litter during winter." These directions are clear and definite and if carefully followed should lead to success. Of course, you know you must keep the weeds from encroaching on their territory. Lilies are a hungry tribe, and refuse to share their food.

Among the Japanese hardy lilies are the auratum (gold-banded lily), speciosum magnificum, speciosum album, speciosum melpomene, Henryi and tigrinum splendens (tiger lily).

The regal lily (lilium myriophyllum) is one of the finest lilies we have. It has sturdy stems, three to five feet in height. It produces an abundance of large and beautiful flowers, the centers of which are flushed with jubilant yellow which shades off to creamy white at the outer edges of the petals. The outside of the trumpets are streaked with light brown, shading to a deep pearly tint.

You may set out regal lilies in the fall or in the spring. Plant them eight to nine inches deep. Bulbs planted in the spring commence to flower in July.

If you do not know the regal lily, ask your dealer to tell you about it, or to show you a picture of the flower.

Fifth Avenue Fashions

ATTENTION, MATRONS!

Here's a stunning dress for home wear for the woman of heavier build.

The Vionnet bodice wraps the figure. It carries the diagonal line down into the hip area producing a decidedly slimming effect.

Style No. 284 is designed for sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48 inches bust. Size 36 requires 2⅞ yards of 39-inch material with ¾ yard of 35-inch contrasting, and 3 yards of edging.

Printed rayon silk in combination with plain rayon silk you'll find exceedingly modish, wearable and inexpensive to fashion it.

Many cottons, some in woolen effects will make up attractively in this model.

Linen in plain or print is charming.

Price of pattern 15 cents. Address Fashion Department, The Washington Post, Fifth avenue and Twenty-third street, New York City.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

Unusual and lovely dress detail in a scarf incrusted to the armholes in front, twisted around the back of the neck, and ending in a sash. (Sketched in a New York shop.)

NEW YORK, April 3.—I predict a revival of hair ribbons!

No, no famous European Elegante has been seen with her curly locks bound up with baby blue bows, nor even her classical Grecian coiffeur bound 'round with a fillet of gold. Nor has a single Parisian Courturier paraded his languid manniquins through his dove-velvet salons with hair ribbons of any sort on their sculptured coiffeurs.

Still, I predict a revival of hair ribbons! For Milady, too, not her daughter.

'Course, I can predict all I want to, and you don't have to believe me, nor even leap to my suggestion. But if you want to create a mild riot, start a delightful fad in your particular town or set, and tie a couple of new beaux to your bows as it were, well, tie a couple of your side-temple curls with tiny, flat bows of heavy satin or grossamere chiffon ribbon to match your dancing frock.

Or if you aren't the "dancing frock" type, bind your sculptured marcel or glossy sheen down with a golden or silver, jet or diamante ribbon, and see what happens.

I believe it will happen. Because ribbons have been much neglected of late years, and are only now being brought to life out of attic trunks, and so far, placed only on gowns and hats. But just wait—the day will come when we will try 'em out on our ringlets, see if it doesn't! Just the perfect summer "hat," that's what I think the ribbon is. Something to keep one's coiffure in place, yet something that doesn't completely hide it.

Well, 'at's my Monday morning prediction, ennyhooooo.

* * * * *

What woman doesn't adore a lovely bedspread! And we have discovered beyond a question of doubt that a lovely and beautiful, charming and delightful, luxurious and expensive-looking counterpane need not cost the million dollars that it looks as though it costs. Because we have made one that looks as though spring had emptied her flower-laden hands atop the bed, and sh-h-h-h, we made this out of pastelu-colored silken scraps which had been in the scrap-bag for oh—ages!

And knowing that you would simply love to know how to make such a beautiful bedspread for yourself, we just up and made you aleaflet telling you just how to go about it. And all you have to do is to send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for it. Better send for it right away before you forget it, because if you don't want a bedspread for yourself right this minute the day will come when you most surely will want one either for yourself or for an extra lovely gift.

* * * * *

Just to show you the real art of today's mode, and what is meant by elegance and simplicity of detail, I've sketched the chic detail of a delightful evening gown of black marocain. Tis a scarf, in effect, and of red, with the upper part of the scarf heavily embroidered with strass, and the part of the scarf that goes around the front of the armholes incrusted right into the gown. Lovely, isn't it?

Au revoir!

GIVE YOUR PARTNER HIS FULL RAISE.

ONE principle of the Forcing System is Approach bidding. Where your partner has opened with some particular suit and you have another suit (or suits) which he ought to know about in the building up of the bid, you will show him that suit next. By means of the Approach method, the maximum degree of information is exchanged between partners. The final bid arrived at (if the bidding is accurate) will thus be that declaration which best suits the combined hands.

But in cases where you can support your partner's major suit, the Approach method—the step-by-step advance toward the final declaration—is obviously not called for. In such a case as this you must tell your partner, as simply and as shortly as possible, how much support you can give him. For this there are three excellent reasons.

In the first place, your partner may have a minimum bid, and, in the absence of precise information from you, may not himself be able to go any further. If, then, you merely raise his initial bid of one heart to two hearts, when you have the material to bid three or more, a possible game may easily "go West," I cannot say how often I have seen this happen. The initial declarer shows his heart suit; his partner bids two hearts to show that the suggested suit is favorable from his point of view, but fails to indicate how much support he can give. The bidding just peters out through this fatal lack of precision.

In the second place, by giving the full raise at once, you give valuable negative, as well as positive, information. You not only show that your hand (with the selected suit as trumps) is worth so much, but you also show it is not worth any more. Your partner thus knows exactly where he stands. Any commitments further than those entered into by you, he must undertake on his own responsibility.

Finally, the principle of the maximum raise will often enable you to shut out your adversaries by what is, in fact, a Preemptive bid. You raise the contract, at one stroke, to a point at which neither adversary can interfere with you, although their combined hands may be very powerful.

Here is a good example of a hand which exactly illustrates this last point:

Both sides vulnerable:

With both sides vulnerable and no score, South dealt and bid one heart; West passed; North, not appreciating the importance of giving all Raises at once, bid two hearts. East over-called with two spades, South went to three hearts and West bid four spades. North now bid five hearts, but it was too late. North and South were beyond their depth. They had to lose one spade, one diamond and one club.

North, with 6½ supporting-tricks, should have immediately raised the heart contract to game. It is highly improbable that East, holding only 1½ honor-tricks, and vulnerable, would have ventured to four spades, and the opponents, unable to learn the perfect fit of their hands, would have seen a game and rubber slipping from their grasp. North, with 6½ suporting-tricks, should not bid five hearts, as to do so might jeopardize the game. The optional Raise should be held in reserve, to be used only in case partner rebids or opponents overcall, and North decides that the chance of making five is greater than exacting a small penalty.

TODAY'S POINTER.

Example of the "Bust" Two Notrump.

| Opening Hand | Resp'd'g Hand |
|---|---|
| ♠ A K J 5 3 | ♠ 6 4 |
| ♡ A K Q 4 | ♡ 10 6 5 2 |
| ◇ A 10 9 | ◇ 8 7 5 4 |
| ♣ 4 | ♣ 9 6 2 |

The Bidding:

| Opening Hand | Resp'd'g Hand |
|---|---|
| 2♠ | 2NT |
| 3♡ | 4♡ |

Declarer has 5 honor-tricks, distributed between three suits, and a 5-4-3-1 distribution. Partner's "bust" two notrump shows his hand may be void of honor-tricks. Declarer, however, now shows his second suit, and this time his partner, with four trumps, can support him. Four hearts will probably be made.

Tomorrow's Hand.

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow.

West—Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

Study the hand, decide how you would bid it, and then compare the results with those shown in tomorrows article.

By NANCY CAREY

Gives Some Pointers on "Veal."

MORE than the "beginning housewife" can be puzzled about the cuts of veal and their proper methods of cooking, dear "Beginning Housewife." Should we ask Mary, an old hand at the art, just why veal differs from beef, she might answer "why bracket veal with beef when they're not even the same animal?" I quote this as a concrete testimonial to the fact that your puzzlement is not unique. This retort to a query was actually rendered to me some years ago at a tea party! Veal is really a calf, the young beef animal up to the time it is 8 weeks old. We find it more costly than beef because the young calves are butchered before they are eight weeks old, which gives a very brief span of time in the life of the young animal during which "veal is veal," so to speak.

However, the spring months find veal more plentiful and in proportion less expensive, and let me dispel an old bugaboo which proclaims that veal is highly indigestible. In so far as scientific experiment pertaining to this tradition has been made, veal has not been proved less digestible than other meats, provided it be properly cooked, and it is my contention that all meats, properly cooked, are easily digested by a well human being, the proteins being almost entirely consumed by digestion and the fats approximately 95 per cent so.

As to your last question, veal cutlet is a steak from the leg of the animal, given the name of cutlet, no doubt, for purposes of distinction. As to cooking, the general rule is that veal requires twenty minutes to the pound (to be cooked, as we see, slowly). You can "bread" the cutlet, make stew of the shoulder or breast and roast the loin and roast, also, the leg cuts either in whole or in part. The tail provides soup meat, or, if one prefers, a "braised" dish. The "forward" cuts of the shoulder provide rib chops for broiling and these, as a rule, are not breaded.

Now then, following this treatise on the veal subject, let's attack the matter of a menu which, appropriately enough, specifies veal as its meat course.

TUESDAY'S DINNER.

Veal Souffle
Duchess Potatoes
Green Peas
French Bread
Chicory with French Dressing
Banana Whip
Tea or Coffee

Veal Souffle.

1 cupful minced, cooked veal
1 teaspoonful minced mint
3 tablespoonfuls butter or other fat
3 tablespoonfuls flour
1 cupful milk
Dash of paprika
3 eggs
Salt to taste

Blend together the flour and butter. Gradually add the milk and cook, stirring constantly, until boiling. Cool slightly, add the veal, paprika, mint and salt to taste. Add the egg yolks, beaten until thick and lemon colored and lastly fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into a greased baking dish and bake in a moderately hot oven from 25 to 35 minutes. Serve immediately.

Duchess Potatoes.

Boil a half-dozen good-sized potatoes until tender and force them through a ricer. Measure and to each two cupfuls of the riced potatoes add two tablespoonfuls of butter, a half teaspoonful of salt and two egg yolks, beaten. Shape into little balls or cylindrical croquettes, brush over with egg which has been well beaten and diluted with water, place in the oven and brown.

French Bread (Two Loaves).

1 pint lukewarm water
3 teaspoonfuls salt
1 cake compressed yeast, dissolved in ¼ cupful lukewarm water.
1½ quarts of flour

Put the lukewarm water in a bowl with the salt, then add the dissolved yeast cake. Add five cupfuls of flour gradually, stirring with a spoon or with a knife, if preferred. Knead in the remainder of the flour, continuing the kneading on a floured board until the dough is smooth and elastic. Let rise and cover with a damp cloth until double in bulk. Cut down, knead and let rise again until light. Toss on floured board and cut in two long loaves. Put in greased, floured pans. Cut about one-half inch deep down through the center of loaves lengthwise. Brush the tops with white of egg beaten with a tablespoonful of cold water. Let rise to double its bulk and then bake in a hot oven for one-half to three-quarters of an hour or until crisp and golden brown.

Banana Whip.

Crush six bananas and beat in three tablespoonfuls of sugar. Fold in the beaten whites of two eggs and put the mixture into sherbet glasses with several small pieces of pineapple in the bottom of each glass. Chill and serve with a spoonful of whipped cream.

THE WEIGHT GUIDE.

For individual assistance, write to Nancy Carey, sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope and give age, weight, height and habits of life.

Answers to Readers.

Dear Miss Carey—I feel that I must write and tell you how your instruction has helped me. I started reducing last September, and while the first few months were quite difficult, I have now reached my ideal weight. It has made a big change in my appearance. Every one thinks I look much nicer and, between us, I think so myself. I used to think fat people couldn't help being fat, but I don't think so any more. All it takes is will power and plenty of it.

Thanking you again for your advice and helpfulness, I am gratefully,

MRS. E. H.

What good news, Mrs. E. H.! And how nice to know that you have successfully reached the weight best for you in every way. I remember the letters of those early months very well. At that time I thought that you would never persevere—that you were going to find the exercise of that will power a little too difficult in the face of so many sacrifices and hardships. But you have come through in a manner wonderful and I want you to know that I am just as happy as you are about it, just as elated over your improved appearance.

Don't go back on yourself now that you have reached your goal. Not that I really think you could or would, but just by way of warning. Just one-half of the effort you put forth to become thin will keep you that way. And the longer you keep yourself normal, the easier it will be. If people say to you: "Do you always have to diet?" always be able to answer them. "Of course not, but I never make a habit of eating too much." Write at any time we may be of service, and best of luck.

Wives of Tomorrow

FRANCES McDONALD

Wall Flowers.

Dear Frances McDonald: I'm writing to you because I think perhaps you can help me with my problem.

I read your column on the average of twice a week. I have not always agreed with you, yet I think you try to be fair in answering your writers.

I'd like to know what's the matter with me. Not only me, but some other girls in the same boat.

We're nice looking, we make a nice appearance, we're considered good company, we're intelligent, witty, and, above all, modern—to the very tips of our toes. But—we don't seem to go over with the boys. They're pleased with us, and very polite, but do they ask for our telephone numbers? No. They wish us a pleasant "Good-night," and that's that.

We've talked it over among ourselves until we're tired of the sound of it, but we can't see our trouble. So we've come to you.

We're not extremists in any sense of the word, but we're tolerant and broadminded, as we think young women of this age should be.

We're 18 and seniors in high school. But surely you don't consider 18 too young to wonder why some girls get all the breaks, do you? Please don't tell us we're too young to be worrying about boys. We're not worrying, but we can't help wondering.

COUPLE WALL FLOWERS.

Just as soon as some other interest replaces your present predominant interest—which is the boys—you will all find yourselves sought instead of seeking.

The girls who "get the breaks" as you phrase it, are girls who are overflowing with enthusiasm of all kinds. Your one great interest in life is to be attractive to men. But that goal is never attained by "wondering"—or through midnight discussions of the subject.

If you have ever been much with children, you have noticed the way they instinctively mistreat the child who stands on the sidelines and timidly asks to play. To a man they are for keeping that child out of the game. Men are like that. Wall flowers give them the jitters. And for good reasons. People who are life's wallflowers are people without enthusiasm. Begin living instead of watching. Far from thinking you too young to be considering such things we consider it high time you started to mend your ways. And the first step is to get away from the wall! Get something to be interested in. Take a hint from children again. While they unite to keep out the child who asks to share their game, they quite as promptly rally round the newcomer who sails in and takes charge. The child who says "That's an old game. Why don't you play something that's fun?" The answer is as simple as A, B, C. You have got to have something to give, or the world has no time for you.

When you are all aglow over something, anything, men rush to you like children to a new game. Get glowing. The boys will do the rest.

Association Will Give Spring Dance Tomorrow

Dancing will start at 9 p. m. Special dance prizes will be awarded, also a door prize. Ellis Kendel is president of the association and Royal Cohen is vice president.

Mme. Curie Hurt, Enters Clinic.

Paris, April 3 (A.P.).—Mme Marie Curie, discoverer of radium, was in a clinic today, suffering from effects of a slight injury suffered in a fall in her laboratory. It was revealed the 64-year-old scientist cut her elbow when she fell a week ago, and the subsequent infection made an operation necessary.

Sociologist Will Speak At G. W. U. on April 19

Dr. Emory S. Bogardus, eminent sociologist, will speak at George Washington University on April 19 as part of a lecture tour, which will include addresses at a number of important educational institutions.

The sociologist is director of the school of social welfare at the University of Southern California. He is entering his sabbatical year at the West Coast college and will visit a number of European educational institutions after the lecture tour.

Shoes and $24 Bought Site.

Portland, Ore. (U.P.).—The entire block on which the Hotel Portland stands once sold for a pair of boots and $24. Across the street the old postoffice site was purchased for $15,000 and now can not be sold for less than $1,750,000—by congressional enactment.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual disease.

SKIN TROUBLES AND OCCUPATION.

EVERY industrial surgeon needs to sit at the feet of the one-time famous Dr. Bell, of Edinburgh, or his spiritual successor, Sherlock Holmes, in the opinion of Dr. F. C. Knowles. This applies especially to diseases of the skin. It is known that somewhere about one-fourth of all chronic skin diseases are due to occupation. Furthermore, many of them are compensative, and the facts are generally known. There are lots of people who are willing to put up with an eczema, so called, if by so doing they can draw wages without working.

The first task of the disciples of Bell and Holmes is to pick out the self-induced skin diseases. After a certain amount of experience a shirker may know just about the kind of an eruption his occupation is liable to beget, where it is located and how to produce it. He may deliberately apply substances poisonous to the skin; or, more subtle in his methods, expose himself unduly, or, even more subtle, not take the precautions necessary for prevention.

The next advice given to the devotees of the art of industrial surgery by Dr. Knowles is even more in the realm of Bell and Sherlock Holmes. It is to observe certain peculiarities which will establish not only the cause of the skin trouble but also the occupation of the sufferer. The skin of workers in tetryl has a tinge of yellow, green or pale apricot. That of workers in dinitrobenzene and trinitrotoluene is yellowish or brown. This is especially true of the hands. The palms and nails are yellow, the backs brown.

TNT operators have bronze-tinted hair. Their underwear turns pink upon being washed. Photographers' nails are stained brown from metol. Dyers have nails and hands pigmented by the colors they work in. The skin of picric acid workers is yellowish. Those who work in bichomate have hands and nails that are pale ochre.

The dust under the nails of workers in metals, on analysis, will show what metals they work in. The man who works in silver is liable to have small, permanent, blue-black spots on the hands and fingers. Men who work around blast furnaces and in other hot places are apt to have thin, atrophied skin on the hands. Washer-women are likely to develop the same kind of skin. It is also true of glass blowers and X-ray workers.

The location of the callosities on the hands will reveal the worker's occupation to the embryo Dr. Bell. Pigmented scars are found in those employed in the iron, stone, silver and flour mill trades. Scars on top of the foot suggest that a man is a molder, a linotype apprentice or a stereotype worker.

Watch and clock makers have thick, hard, hypertrophied nails on the left hand. Employes in munition works wear away the nails at the center on the third and fourth fingers. Basket makers have splayed or square hands. The right hand is the larger. Splicers of rope, sail and tentmakers have the end joint of the first finger of the right hand flattened and the skin hardened, cracked and fissured.

The location of the eczema, its appearance and the circumstances under which it appears often indicate its cause.

HALITOSIS.

E. N. writes: I have had halitosis for a few years, and I can't seem to get rid of it. First I thought the odor was coming from diseased tonsils, and I had them removed, but still it remained. Then I had my teeth looked after, and the dentist said they were sound. I thought food might be fermenting in my stomach, so I took medicine for it, on a physician's prescription, for two weeks. Nevertheless, I still believe the original cause is from my stomach, but then again it is possible that it isn't. What can I do to cure or at least dismiss this odor temporarily while I am in company?

What makes me believe it is my stomach is that when I drink a few glasses of beer it completely changes the odor to a more disgusting one. If it were from some other cause, the beer would not have any effect on the odor.

REPLY.

You are probably right in your guess. In most cases the trouble is in the digestive tract. The papers are full of advertisements of remedies to "dismiss the odor temporarily." Use one of these. If you wan to prevent it you will probably need to change radically some of your habits. Apparently you must choose between beer and a sweet breath. You may prefer beer. Probably you will need to make material changes in your food.

CAPONE PACT STORY SPURS SENATE QUIZ

Prosecutor's Testimony Is Due to Have Effect on Wilkerson Action.

(Associated Press.)

The astonishing narrative before a Senate committee by the man who prosecuted Al Capone of the gangster's undercover workings is being given a thorough going-over in Congress.

Not only might the testimony of District Attorney George O. Johnson, of Chicago, have a decisive effect upon the nomination of Judge James H. Wilkerson, of Chicago, to the circuit court, but other ramifications with a view of breaking gangland's power are being discussed.

Judge Wilkerson, in connection with whose nomination Johnson was summoned, sentenced Capone to 11 years in the penitentiary. In so doing, he overthrew an agreement by Johnson, upon which the prosecutor said he consulted Attorney General Mitchell, to recommend a 2½-year term if Capone would plead guilty. President Hoover nominated Wilkerson as an indorsement of his vigor.

Nomination Opposed.

Since, however, strong opposition to the nominee has arisen from organized labor because of past decisions of the jurist, it has been met by support to Wilkerson by Chicago anti-crime workers, some of whom have charged that even this opposition was inspired by Capone in his attempt to control Chicago public offices.

Hearings on the nomination were drawing to a close when it was decided to call Johnson. The subcommittee considering the nomination is expected to decide soon upon its report, with the attitude of Chairman Borah one of the deciding factors. He has given no indication yet of his attitude.

Johnson's inside story of the Government's long battle to put Capone and his gang in jail held those who heard his testimony fascinated.

Testimony on Pact.

He said the "unbelieveable arrogance" of Capone in making the terms of the agreement public, after Wilkerson had first approved it, led to the upset.

Most amazing was the prosecutor's description of intimidation of witnesses and of the profits reaped by the gangsters.

Already well informed on organized crime as a result of hearings on anti-kidnaping bills, the senators were told of one case where a man appeared before a grand jury in the morning and was slain that night, and another where of 21 men in a conspiracy case, 6 were murdered before the case went to trial and 8 of their associates, including some witnesses, were killed.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

As the three readers of this column are no doubt aware, it has been the custom to print interviews with distinguished screen stars making personal appearances in Washington in this space on Monday mornings. That was the intention this week in the case of Miss Jean Harlow. Miss Harlow, however, entertained decidedly different ideas. It seems she has been interviewed enough. And when a charming young lady insists, there really isn't much that can be done about it! N. B. B.

By JEAN HARLOW.

FOR lo, these many years, the ladies and gentlemen of the press have been dispatched hither and yon on interviews with persons who make up that part of the world the other calls Hollywood.

They have suffered with me just as they have with the rest. So when Mr. Nelson Bell, the gentleman who usually conducts this column, called at my dressing-room at Loew's Palace, I made up my mind to give him a rest. Like the dawn, the idea broke over me (and that's exactly what it did) for ME to interview HIM. I wanted to get the reaction, the attitude, and all that, a critic has toward one of us; screen people, I mean.

JEAN HARLOW

I grabbed a pencil and a big pad of paper, got up an awful lot of nerve and made ready. Here goes!

Mr. Beale entered. He gave me one of those nice, big smiles that you really feel are sincere, and then he commenced on his interview.

"Just a minute, Mr. Ball," I interjected, "would you do me a great big favor?"

He said he would.

"Will you let me interview you on critics and the movies?"

I might as well say right here that it took some persuading to get him to say "yes." Mr. Buell is a modest critic, and he had all sorts of excuses to offer about the public's not being interested in him as an individual, or what he might say or think, and a few other things. But he had made me that promise to do me a favor, and I really think that's the only reason he broke down!

IN what I thought was the best possible newspaper style, I began.

"What," I asked, "point of view do you take when you review a movie? Do you try to criticize the offering from an audience angle, or is it purely a personal viewpoint?"

This elderly young gentleman, who likes dogs, hot weather, cares not about tobacco, but has a lot of nice things to say about some movies, and the people in them, began.

"I try," he smiled, "to approach it in the audience's state of mind, but you know that's often hard. After all, we are expected to give some thought to story technique, motivation, characterization, direction, &c., so what?"

I saw what he was talking about, but I knew I could never make him admit that a critic ought to criticize through any eyes but his own. After all, when one has spent as much time as Mr. Brill has looking at movies, he stands an outside chance of knowing just a little more about that California product than some of us do. However, he made me solemnly swear not to go into any personalities, especially his, in this, my first interview.

My next question.

"Do you think," I asked, "that newspapers and the movies have a great deal in common, or haven't they?"

"I think they have," he replied, "and if you'll pardon me, I think movie people and newspaper people have even more."

I suspected I might be getting something here. Something I could carry back to the coast with me as a real idea on the industry.

"Carry on," I coaxed in my best possible manner.

"I mean this," he continued, "I mean that, after all, we are both engaged in a form of personal expression. You movie people are expressing yourselves, your emotions and ideas through the medium of acting and speech. Newspaper workers are attempting the same thing with the printed word. We've both got the great public to think of, for it's up to them whether or not we survive, but, even so, it's difficult to keep your personality, if any, wholly detached."

We were getting along as I had hoped this reverse interview would. I ventured another question.

"NEWSPAPERS," I said, "can get along without the movies But movies can't get along without the papers, do you think?"

Mr. Bull came back fast with his answer.

"I don't know about that. You know this movie thing is big. There are hundreds and thousands of people in every community to whom movies mean the most romantic thing in the world. They want to read about them. They want the gossip and the little inside stories of Hollywood. In fact, they'd much rather be hearing about you than these dreary notions of mine. Indeed, I think movies have become a vital part of the make-up of the American newspaper. I don't know whether we could get along without you or not, I am inclined to doubt it. A decade ago, yes; today, I wouldn't be too sure."

My pencil was going at a lightning-like clip. I was getting something that I hadn't heard much of before. And I was getting it straight from the shoulder, to use a good old journalistic expression, (or one at least that used to be).

I started on a new page, but then my subject stopped me. He said he absolutely refused to get himself further involved in print, because sooner or later it would all probably be used against him anyhow.

And then we just sat there discussing all sorts of interesting things —California, pets, the Middle West, where we both hail from, mutual friends and the like.

When he waved himself out of my dressing room I felt I really had had a brand-new experience—talking to a movie critic from a new angle and seeing if he could take it!

And I want it to go down right here that I spent a mighty fine few minutes at my first piece of reporting.

Good-by, Mr Berle and ladies and gentlemen of the press and you, dear public.

And Mr. Editor, please don't draw too many blue pencil marks through my copy, for I'm a very, very cubby reporter.

Good-by!

Thank you very much, Miss Harlow. You have been extremely gracious and it is very heartily appreciated. But you were right the first time—the name is Bell!

ARTICLE IS WRITTEN ON CATHEDRAL UNIT

College of Preachers Is Described by Story in Architecture.

A description of the College of Preachers at Washington Cathedral is a leading feature in a recent issue of the magazine Architecture. The author of the article is E. Donald Robb, a member of the firm of Frohman, Robb & Little, architects of the cathedral.

The college is represented in Mr. Robb's text as "the central unit of a future group comprising the Administration Building of the Cathedral, the College and the Cathedral Library," to be built in the Cathedral Close. One wing of the library has already been completed. The administration building will adjoin the north side of the great cloister, with the other buildings of the group swinging more or less radially eastward about the apse of the cathedral.

Mr. Robb says: "Never were architects given a more interesting problem. The curving plan and the sloping site together have made a picturesque building inevitable, with few right angles and no balanced axes. The detail, too, is varied throughout to give greater interest and life. The building is of a monastic type with single rooms for 25 students, a residence for the warden, and quarters for the teaching staff, refectory with kitchens, pantries and laundry, quarters for servants, several lecture rooms, a common room with library equipment and a small private chapel.

"The style selected was, quite naturally, English Tudor, in order to harmonize with the cathedral towering above it, but a strict adherence to this style has not been considered necessary or desirable. The cottages of the Cotswolds were the source of inspiration for the residential portions. The chapel is earlier in type. The refectory suggests the great hall of an English manor house.

"As the cathedral itself is a select buff Indiana limestone and as this group is to cluster around and below it, we have used a warm gray seam-faced granite, quarried locally, for ashlar, trimmed with the rougher rustic buff limestone. This causes the cathedral soaring above to stand out in finer and lighter-colored stone, while the college below becomes a part of its foundations visually and spiritually."

In explanation of the purpose of the College of Preachers, Mr. Robb says that it might be called a post-ordination school "where clergy, coming from all parts of the country, live for a few days or weeks at a time in monastic simplicity and devotion, receiving instruction and inspiration from the very ablest preachers and teachers of the Episcopal faith, thence returning to their various churches renewed in spirit and better equipped to serve. Later on it is planned to have special students in residence for six months or longer."

PHILIPPINE FREEDOM VOTE IS DUE TODAY

18-Year-Old Issue Is Up in House Under Support of South and West.

(United Press.)

The old and vexatious issue of Philippine independence emerges from its 18-year retirement for a showdown in the House today.

A vote on Philippine independence may come promptly or it may be deferred for a few days. Representative Butler B. Hare (Democrat), South Carolina, will call up his measure which grants freedom to the islands within eight years. If unanimous consent is not granted for its consideration, he will move immediately for its consideration by suspension of rules.

This permits only 40 minutes' debate, allows no amendments and requires two-thirds vote. If the necessary two-thirds is not forthcoming, the measure will be brought forward later in the week under a special rule guaranteeing quick action.

Speaker John N. Garner, responsible for the showdown on the Philippine independence measure, is being criticized for the drastic legislative procedure he has invoked to get action.

It will be the first vote on this issue since 1916, when the independence bill of Senator Clarke, of Arkansas, won in the Senate by the single vote of Vice President Marshall, who broke a tie. The bill, which would have granted freedom in 1921 to the islands taken from Spain, was defeated in the House.

Filipinos have kept up a running campaign ever since. Eight independence missions have come from the islands to camp in the lobbies of Congress. Their campaign recently has been taken over, partly, by members from Southern and Western farm States, who see with growing concern the competition of Philippine products, admitted duty-free, with those grown by their own farmers, chiefly sugar and coconut oil. The former competes with beet sugar and the latter with the dairy industry, being an ingredient of oleomargarine.

Under the Hare bill, approved by the insular affairs committee of which he is chairman, importation of Philippine products would be limited during the eight years. It then is the intention to impose the same tariffs to the Philippines as to other countries. Pacific Coast representatives are interested in immigration provisions of the bill which put the Islands on a quota of 50 annually.

The Senate insular committee has approved a bill granting independence in approximately nineteen years, which is on the Senate calendar, awaiting action. The Philippine bill may get to the floor of the Senate before the tax bill.

Games Included In Festival in May

Procession at Monument Also to Be Feature of Celebration.

Games in parks and city playgrounds, a procession around the Washington Monument and an exhibit, representing all the work of the youth of the District, will be features of the "Festival of Youth," to be held next month under direction of the District Bicentennial Commission as a part of the bicentennial celebration.

May 14 will be the central day of the festival, but the games and exhibits will cover a period several days previously and several days afterward. The exhibits will include works of art, metal work, wood work, printing, miniature colonial gardens, aircraft, magazines, periodicals and stamp collections.

Games will include baseball, horse shoe pitching, football and many other seasonal sports. Yacht sailing is being planned in cooperation with the Washington Sea Scout Yacht Club. Smaller children will be given the advantages of play stations in protected areas, equipped with sand boxes, slides and swings where a play leader will be in charge.

Patriotic Rally Set for Tuesday

Play to Be Staged In St. Paul's Hall

'The Eye of Naga' Planned for April 11 and 12 by St. Gabriel's Players.

Tense thrills are promised by the St. Gabriel's Players of St. Gabriel's Church when they present "The Eye of Naga," a mystery play, on Monday and Tuesday evenings, April 11 and 12, at 8:20 o'clock in St. Paul's Hall, Fifteenth and V streets northwest.

Written by J. C. McMullen, this three-act mystery drama is said to combine the elements of suspense and terror which accounted for the success of the best known mystery plays of recent years. The astounding denouement of the piece tops, in some respects, the surprising climax of "The Cat and the Canary," which the St. Gabriel Players produced a year ago, it is said.

Included in the cast are Arthur Van Heuckeroth and Joseph O'Donnell, whose work in the fall show, "Adam and Eva," received warm commendation and Kathleen Baker, who has achieved considerable fame in Washington as a comedienne. Other roles in the play, which is under direction of Charles A. Russell and Justin F. Winkle, are taken by Eleanor Hopkins, Raina McCaddon, Betty Sparshott, Helen Stuart, Lillian Winter, Frank Lesquin, Francis Schwoerer and Justin Winkle.

Fox Theater Plans Exhibit of Gardens

Models Will Be Shown in Lobby as Tribute to Washington.

Model growing gardens and floral decorations will be on exhibit during the week of April 15 in the lobby of the Fox Theater as a part of the garden tribute to George Washington. The exhibit will be sponsored by the theater, the District Bicentennial Commission and the District committee on employment.

Purposes of the exhibit are to encourage the people of Greater Washington to participate in the garden tribute and the community garden contest, sponsored by the District Bicentennial Commission, and to give employment of half a day or more to reputable gardeners listed by the District committee on employment. The latter committee will have a booth in the theater's main floor lobby, where guests may arrange for services of the unemployed gardeners.

Dr. Luther E. Reichelderfer, president of the Board of District Commissioners, will appeal to the theater's audiences during the week to participate along these lines. The Department of Commerce will have an exhibit in the lobby, featuring information on gardening. Silver loving cup awards in the garden contest will also be exhibited.

Methodists to Open Conclave Tuesday

Asbury Church Will Be Host for 69th Annual Meeting.

The sixty-ninth annual session of the Washington Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church will convene tomorrow at 10 o'clock at the Asbury Methodist Episcopal Church, Eleventh and K streets northwest, with the Rev. Julius S. Carroll presiding. Assignment of ministers and delegates will be made at 1 o'clock.

The conference will be welcomed at 7 o'clock on behalf of the city by Commissioner L. H. Reichelderfer; on behalf of African Methodist Episcopal churches, by Dr. William H. Thomas; for the Interdenominational Ministers Alliance, by Dr. R. W. Brooks; for Baptist ministers, by Dr. E. C. Smith; for the Federation of Women's Clubs, by Mrs. Mary Church Terrell; for fraternal organizations, by Frank D. McKinney; for educational institutions, Garnet C. Wilkinson; for the local church, Addison W. Chapman Thomas S. Tilden will respond.

The anniversary of the board of the Epworth League will be celebrated at 8 o'clock when a welcome address will be made by J. W. H. Smallwood, president of the local chapter, and a response by B. H. Hull. Four-minute talks will be made by T. N. Austin, Alexandria, Va.; T. H. Peters, Charleston, W. Va.; Bessie Phillips, North Baltimore; E. A. Love, South Baltimore; Cora Doy, Washington; Dr. A. P. Shaw, Dr. N. E. Davis and W. H. Polk. Sessions will be held daily through next Sunday.

Pupils to Stage Central Cantata

More Than 1,200 to Take Part in "Washington" April 28 and 30.

More than 1,200 boys and girls of the Washington public schools will take part in a cantata, "Washington," to be given under direction of Dr. Edwin N. C. Barnes, director of music in the District of Columbia public schools, April 28 and 30 at Central High School. The event which is the triennial music festival of the grade school children of Washington, will be offered in honor of the bicentennial celebration in the Capital.

One thousand sixth grade children will participate in the singing of the cantata, which will have its first public presentation on this occasion. The cantata is the work of Ira Wilson, composer, and Edith Sanford Tillotson, librettist, who are well known for choral compositions.

Another 125 children, from the first, second and third grades of the local schools, will take part in this concert, appearing with the pre-orchestral ensemble, under direction of Miss Elsie Roach, on April 28; and on April 30, another group of this ensemble, comprising 125 other boys and girls, will play two numbers on the program.

Holy Name Committee Meeting Date Changed

Announcement is made by William Joseph Neale, president of the Washington Section of the Baltimore Archdiocesan Union of Holy Name Societies, that the meeting of the executive committee scheduled for Wednesday has been changed to Friday at 8 p. m. at the Immaculate Conception Hall, Eighth and N streets northwest.

Each president of the 53 affiliated parish groups has been asked to nominate ten members from his society and have them attend this meeting, at which plans for the forthcoming archdiocesan convention will be announced. Plans will also be outlined for the April quarterly meeting of the Washington Section.

Quevado Is Chihuahua Selection for Governor

Mexico City, April 3 (A.P.).—A Chihuahua city dispatch said tonight that Gen. Rodrigo Quevado had been nominated by the National Revolutionary (government) party for Governor of Chihuahua to succeed Gen. Roberto Fierro, provisional governor.

Roosevelt League Meets Wednesday

Colpoys, Hull and Dill Are Among Leaders to Make Addresses.

Rules regulating participation in primaries will be explained by John B. Colpoys, chairman of the Democratic State central committee, at a meeting of the League of Roosevelt Clubs Wednesday night at the Willard Hotel.

Senators Cordell Hull, of Tennessee, and Clarence C. Dill, of Washington, and many other prominent Democrats will attend the meeting and delvier addresses.

Mr. Colpoys and John S. Costello, the chairman, will also outline the authority of the State central committee.

Finnish Cafes Dispute Curb on Liquor Profits

Helsingfors, Finland, April 3 (A.P.). Because of a disagreement between the government and restaurant owners, there is a possibility that no liquor will be served in Helsingfors restaurants Tuesday when prohibition comes to an end.

Chattanooga, Tenn., April 3.

JOE ENGEL in Washington may be only Mrs. Engel's boy, Joe, scout for the Washington Ball Club, but here in Chattanooga, where he is president of the Chattanooga Baseball Team, much of the life of the community revolves about him.

Joe took over the presidency of the Chattanooga Team which became a branch stone of the Washington Club in 1929, and he has endeared himself unto Chattanoogans with his showmanship, civic-minded exploitations of the team and dabbling in community enterprises to which he has given his effective leadership.

The Chattanooga Ball Park became Joe Engel Stadium two years ago in deference to the esteem in which they hold Joe Engel here. You can ride in Joe Engel taxicabs and you can join the Joe Engel knothole gang. You can even buy a Joe Engel cigar, properly labeled and stamped with the name of Joe Engel. It's a strong selling point down here in Chattanooga.

He's the old maestro and master showman with his ball team. He was the first to introduce a feminine pitcher in organized baseball and he was the first to trade a veteran shortstop for a twelve-pound turkey. His girl pitcher, Jackie Something-or-other, who has long since passed out of the game, managed to strike out both Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig in an exhibition game here with the help of Ruth and Gehrig, and both Jackie and Joe Engel became somewhat famous.

Engel even had an offer from the Newark Club for the services of Jackie. He communicated with President Clark Griffith, of the Washington club, concerning the sale of his feminine phenom and was told to stop his tomfoolery or he would be liable to arrest under the child labor law, or something.

He packs 'em into the Chattanooga park—excuse me—Engel Stadium. He employs everything but the old time minstrel show to entice the fans to come out to the ball games and as a result, Chattanooga, the smallest city in the Southern Association, has the reputation of one of the best attendance towns in the circuit. Last year his team outdrew the town's population over the season, drawing 170,000 fans through the turnstiles as compared to the 130,000 who reside here.

His baseball plant here is one of the show places of the minor leagues. It outstrips parks in Class A. A. ball and if it were larger it would hold its own for beauty and facility with many parks in the big league. A blatant purple and red sign board over the entrance with letters 6 feet high informs the public that they are about to enter the portals of Joe Engel Stadium.

He has outfitted himself an office under the grandstand befitting his station as president of the ball club that outstrips even the palatial offices of President Clark Griffith at Griffith Stadium in Washington. The accountrements are the kind that Joe Engel must have—mahogany and plush that is easy on the vertebrae.

The gentlemen of the press are his particular friends and he has won their favor with the generous appointments of the press room, an apartment that the Washington Club lacks. But Engel is conducting his minor league club in big business style down here and there is nothing

Welter Title Fight Is Delayed

Bowen, Eye Infected, Cancels Braunstein Bout.

Sailer to Take Place on Portner Card Tomorrow.

THE proposed bout to decide the District welterweight championship tomorrow night on the Gallagher-Barry card at Portner Arena must await some later date due to the inability of Ray Bowen, one of the principals, to appear. Bowen, who was matched with Sammy Braunstein to determine the successor to Harry ("Kid") Groves, has been forbidden by his physician to do any boxing for a week or ten days because of an eye infection.

The Day Nursery matchmaker, Frankie Mann, upon learning of Bowen's misfortune, promptly rearranged the card, substituting Whitey Sailer, Birmingham, Ala., welter, for Bowen, and securing Bob Golsby Fort Howard, Md. star, for Jack Quigley, originally slated to engage Sailer. Braunstein and Sailer will scramble six rounds, while Quigley and Golsby, who clashed last month in Baltimore, with Jack gaining the verdict, will step four rounds.

Irving-Finazzo Top Preliminaries.

As a result of the shuffle, the Henry Irving-Sam Finazzo six-rounder has been placed on top of the preliminary program, thus bringing Irving once more into the spotlight from which he was blasted some time ago by Bob Turner, of Newport News Irving kayoed Ray Litton in his last start and promises to continue his comeback at Finazzo's expense.

With the welterweight titular scrap sidetracked, interest in tomorrow night's card falls almost entirely on the feature bout that brings Marty Gallagher and Reds Barry together for the second time. Barry is out to avenge a close decision defeat suffered at Gallagher's hands last October at Fort Washington.

Fans of Southeast and Northwest, respective neighborhoods of Barry and Gallagher, are steamed up over the approaching scuffle as much as they were before the first clash which drew $2,500 into the coffers of the Fort Washington Athletic Association. Barry's supporters are more confident now than before and will be sorely disappointed if Reds does not win rather handily. This despite Gallagher's physical advantages, such as 15 pounds in weight and 2 inches in

Victory for Gallagher May Net Crack at Hunt

Babe Hunt, Oklahoma giant, who recently extended Jack Dempsey in a four-round bout, is seeking an engagement at Portner Arena. It is possible that he will be matched with Marty Gallagher should the latter win from Reds Barry tomorrow night Gallagher's height and weight make him a logical opponent for Hunt with respect to physical qualifications.

Vince Dundee, one of the leading middleweight title contenders, also is negotiating to appear in the Alexandria ring.

Paavo Nurmi Banned as Amateur

International Body Is Probing Charges Against Star.

Finland's Chief Hope May Be Lost in Olympics.

BERLIN, April 3 (A.P.).—Paavo Nurmi, one of the greatest runners of all time and Finland's chief hope in the marathon at the 1932 Olympics in Los Angeles, came under ban of the International Amateur Athletic Federation here today.

The federation suspended Nurmi from participation in international athletics pending the result of an inquiry into his amateur status now being undertaken by the Finnish Athletic Association. The federation sat behind closed doors and details of the charges against the famed Finn were not divulged, but it was said evidence against Nurmi was so strong that the suspension was inevitable.

J. Sigfrid Edstroem, of Sweden, president of the International Federation, refused to give the grounds for Nurmi's preliminary suspension when questioned by the Associated Press. He said the matter now lay before the Finnish association at Helsingfors.

Ladoumergue Case Also Considered.

The Finnish Association, ordered several weeks ago by the I. A. A. F. to investigate Nurmi's status and report to the international body before the start of the Olympic games, faces an unpleasant situation if it discovers proof of the charges laid against the flying Finn.

In that event it will be forced to rule Nurmi ineligible for the Olympics and lose the services of a runner who already holds six gold Olympic medals, and who, despite his 34 years, has been reckoned an outstanding contender for the 1932 Olympic mara-

Concord Wins D. C. Soccer Crown

Potzner Scores Winning Goal as End Nears.

By RICHARD S. TENNYSON.

GEORGE POTZNER went down to the Monument Grounds yesterday to watch his team, the Concords, play Columbia Heights in the final match of the Washington and Southeastern District Soccer Association Cup tie tournament. George is a member of the team, but he did not bring a uniform because he was considered a way-down substitute. But, as is often read in story books but seldom happens in real life, George was pressed into service and in the final 5 minutes of play kicked the goal that defeated the Heights eleven, 3 to 2.

Potzner's entry in the game was a sad moment for the Concord eleven, as he was snatched from the sidelines and uniformed because the brilliant Jimmy Blanch was injured and the score stood 2 to 0 in favor of Columbia Heights. The small chance that the Germans felt they had of winning The Post Cup apparently went glimmering when Blanch was carried from the field. But Potzner had not been reckoned with.

Wind Proves Big Help To Heights.

The Columbia Heights Club started with the wind to their backs and used this advantage for the entire first half. Seldom was the ball out of Concord territory and Benedict, Beier and Kanthal were called on to meet numerous Heights attacks. About midway the period, Louie Koennell broke through and scored the first marker from a scramble.

Shortly after Koennell's goal, the

Washington Team Gets 17 Hits

Reynolds Collects 4 Safeties; Homer for Sam West.

Carl Fischer Shows Class on Mound for Nats.

By SHIRLEY L. POVICH (Sports Editor of The Post.)

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 3.—They trotted Ad Liska out to the pitching mound in his Chattanooga uniform this afternoon to put him on view before the critical eye of Manager Walter Johnson, of the Nats, who was contemplating adding Liska to the Washington hurling staff.

But tonight, after Liska had yielded the Nats seven hits and four runs in two and one-third innings and made an early exit from the game with two men still on the bases, the vision of Liska's presence on the Washington Club had definitely disappeared and the Chattanooga authorities were casting about for a class ZZZ league in which to place the submarine twirler.

Six Thousand See Nats In Victory.

The Nats won the ball game before a goodly crowd of 6,000 cash customers in Joe Engle Stadium by a score that resembles the proportions of the Chinese-Japanese casualty list, 16 to 5, but it had ceased to be a ball game after the first three innings, although the Washington boys displayed fine stamina throughout the afternoon, running out all of their seventeen hits, six of which called for extra bases.

Carl Reynolds particularly was called upon for a great deal of exertion as he gladdened the heart of Manager Johnson by shooing his batting slump off the premises to the extent of four smashing, rollicking all-wool-but-the-buttons base hits, two of which were steaming triples to the outer reaches of the ball park.

The only way that Liska and Walter Masters could get Reynolds out this afternoon was on line drives to the infield and outfield, and big Don Carlos, who is expected to be the power boy of the Nats this season, was slapping them with a vengeance this afternoon. He should have had six hits for his efforts today, but grand stand stabs of his second and sixth liners robbed him of that honor.

Don Carlos Fischer traveled seven innings on the mound for the Nats today and reassured Johnson that he is fit to be called on during the regular season. He was in possession of all the speed in his left hand today and the only time the Lookouts were able to solve his delivery to the extent of a run was in the third, when Wes Kingdon, second baseman, pounded the ball over the left field stands for a homer.

The Lookouts capitalized on Frank Ragland's presence in the ninth to make four other runs off of five hits, and Ragland did his cause no good by his performance.

Mixed up in the Nats' 17 hits, beside Reynold's two triples, was a bonafide home run by Sammy West, who walloped one of Liska's underhanded pitches over the right field fence with Manush on base in the first inning. He collected two singles later in the day to claim a share of the batting honors.

The Nats had a relapse against the Chattanooga pitching in the seventh inning, failing to score a run. Previously the inning-by-inning score of Washington had read like a lance corporal's shouts to the awkward

Series of Olympic Track Trials Is Avoided if Standard Is High

D. C. Is Exception in Being Allowed to Hold Own Trials.

Reaching Arbitrary Standard Is Good for Semifinals.

NEW YORK, April 3 (A.P.).—A change in regulations which makes it unnecessary for a candidate for the United States Olympic track and field team to compete in more than one sectional meet on his way to the semifinals, provided he reaches a certain standard, was announced today by the track and field committee.

Under the new rule any community in the country may, upon making application to the committee, conduct a preliminary tryout. Athletes placing first, second and third in these meets and equaling or surpassing an arbitrary standard automatically qualify for the semifinal tryouts at Chicago and Long Beach July 8-9.

An exception was made, however, requiring all athletes in Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, eastern Pennsylvania, Maryland, District of Columbia and Porto Rico to compete in the Eastern sectional trials at Cambridge, Mass., June 16-17.

Rule to Relieve Athletes Of Traveling.

The purpose of the rule, explained Joseph T. England, of Baltimore, chairman of the committee, was to "relieve" the athlete or the club he represents of the expense of traveling to several meets—preliminary, district and sectional—to qualify for the semifinals. Eleven of these sectional tryouts have been recommended to the general Olympic committee, but the new rule makes it unnecessary for competitors to qualify through these meets alone.

The arbitrary standards in the various events which semifinal quali-

Schoolboy Nines Play Here Today

Eastern Meets Charlotte Hall in First of Seven Tilts This Week.

High school baseball moves onto the local sports stage this week when seven games involving teams of the public schools series will be played. The opening game of the series is scheduled Friday at Eastern Field, where Central, already gaining favor as a title contender, meets Business.

The championship Eastern nine swings into action today on its home field, opposing Charlotte Hall. Series followers will attend in an effort to draw a line on Eastern's new material.

Western visits St. Alban's tomorrow at which time Business and Gonzaga will clash at the Monument Grounds. Eastern returns to competition on Wednesday against Episcopal at Alexandria and on Thursday entertains Alexandria High. While Business and Central are battling Friday, Western will invade College Park to meet the Maryland Freshmen.

West Best Flyhawk Since Speaker, Clark Griffith, Nat Owner, Declares

Special to The Washington Post.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 3.—The art of converting base hits into putouts, as exemplified by Sammy West, knows no equal among major league outfielders and has had no peer since Tris Speaker's salad days, on the authority of President Clark Griffith, of the Washington club, who will tell you that he has spent 42 years in baseball, and ought to know.

Mr. Griffith may retain the human fallibility on other matters, but in his assessment of Sammy West he appears to be correct.

Ask the pitching gentlemen of the Washington cast who is the most valuable member of the team and they will not need to think twice to tell you that this selfsame Sammy West will cut off more base hits in the outfield in a single game than will the four estimable gentlemen in the Washington infield—and the Washington infield, mind you, is quite a respectable infield, as infields co.

Sammy Great Help to His Pitchers.

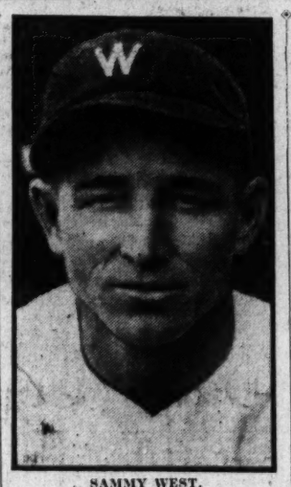
But the pitchers are beholden to Sammy West for his capacity in the matter of gathering in the wallops that are ticketed for extra bases as they zoom over the infield, only to fall in the clutches of the erudite right hand of the left-handed Mr. West.

The outfield play of Sammy West is the poetry of motion, the pinnacle of the art. His ability to cover ground, learned as a boy on the rolling plains of his native Texas, is enhanced by his judgement of fly balls, and he makes the easy ones look pitifully routine and the hard ones look easy. He makes the impossible catches look hard, but he makes the catches.



SAMMY WEST.

Sammy West is the pitchers' dream and the batters' nightmare. The crack of the bat finds Sammy on his way toward places and it is rare that he isn't camping under a ball that is hit to center field or some sectors of right and left. The Washington pitchers heave a perceptible sigh of relief when a ball sails into West's territory, and the batters may be rounding second on the wallop only to discover that the ball reposes in West's gloved hand.

Sammy can go back for a ball, or come far in. He can go to his right and sprint to his left. It's in the vat when it's hit his way because Sammy is a sure catch. His chief grievances against the big leagues are the fences and he has been seen attempting to pound his way through these barriers in an effort to get to the ball. The fences interfere seriously with his radius of operations. He liked the big Biloxi park, out of which no ball has ever been hit. It gave him a nice range of activity.

Throws Strikes Over Plate From Outfield.

They can't find a flaw in Sammy's play. This correspondent defies the critics to find a better throwing arm in the big league outfield. Others might throw strikes over the plate from the deepest sector, but Sammy can heave 'em in there too.

He's no drawback at that. On that point you only have to point to the fact that he led the entire Washington Club with the stick last year with his average of .333, a respectable mark in anybody's outfield. And thereby hangs a tale about Mr. West.

Sammy was scouted in Birmingham in 1926 by Joe Engel, who made the notation that West was a nice hitter, but a poor fielder. How Engel arrived at that conclusion he alone must answer, for when Sammy joined the Nats in 1927, he established himself from the outset as a peerless fielder and no great shucks at the bat. It was a left-handed triumph for Engel, who has lived to eat his words.

Sammy was able to hit above the .300 mark only once before last season, and this this was attributed to his weakness against lefthanded pitching. It was evident that he was bat shy against southpaws ever since being beaned by a lefthander at Birmingham in 1926. He was pulling away from the plate weakly against left-handed pitching with the Nats

BLAZING THE BASEBALL TRAIL

Memphis, Tenn., April 3 (A.P.)—The New York Yankees' "murderers' row" lived up to its name today as the Yankees pounded three Memphis pitchers for 22 hits and defeated the Chicks, 17 to 4.

The Yanks scored seven runs in the second inning on three singles, three doubles and a triple. Johnny Allen allowed Memphis eleven hits, but went the full nine innings and never was in danger.

Bill Tilden Ranked First in Pro Tennis

Vincent Richards Second in Rating; Pare, Ex-G. U. Star, Is Fifth.

New York, April 3 (A.P.).—William T. Tilden, who headed the national amateur tennis rankings for ten straight years, from 1920 to 1929, is named No. 1 on the first national ranking list ever issued by the Professional Lawn Tennis Association.

Ranked second to Tilden is his one-time doubles partner, Vincent Richards, with Howard Kinsey third and Frank Hunter, fourth. All four are former Davis Cup players.

J. Emmett Pare, of Chicago, is ranked No. 5, followed, in order, by Paul Heston, Washington, D. C.; Charles M. Wood, New York; Robert Seller, San Francisco; J. Basil Maguire, Brooklyn, and John J. Cardegna, Astley, N. Y.

Tilden is the national professional champion and Richards was runner-up. Richards and Kinsey defeated Tilden and Hunter for the doubles title.

Cordovano, Former G. U. Ace, Wrestles in Bolling Field Final

Mario Giglio to Meet Local Idol in Feature Tonight.

Wycoff and Fraley, Plestina, Winters Also Grapple.

SAM CORDOVANO, football idol at Georgetown University three years back, tonight makes his bow as a main eventer before Washingtonians when the Bolling Field Athletic Association stages its weekly wrestling show at Bolling Field Armory.

Having pleased the fans in two previous preliminary showings here Cordovano, at his own request, is to wrestle Mario Giglio, Italian idol, to a finish.

Giglio, another pronounced favorite locally, has added considerable weight since last showing here. Tipping the beam at 198 and powerful with it, the smart and aggressive Mario will be out to deal Cordovano the first defeat he has experienced since turning professional.

Cofeaturing the card will be another finish bout in which popular Lee Wycoff, one of the best liked grapplers to show here in some time, tangles with Pat Fraley, Irish ace.

Having wrestled and tossed some of the best men in his circuit, Fraley hopes to follow up at Wycoff's expense.

Smart 30-minute time-limit matches will feature Marin Plestina and Stanley Sitnowski, Joe Vargo and 'Bull' Garnon and Danny Winters and John Siejack.

Free bus transportation will be furnished patrons from the street car line at Howard Road and Nichols avenue to the armory and return. Tickets remain on sale at Goldie Ahearn's and Hoya Inn until 5 o'clock this afternoon.

NORDLINGER GOLF VICTOR.

The golf season at Woodmont Club opened yesterday with a sweepstakes event. The winner was Howard Nordlinger, with a score of 81-9—72, with Henry Kaufman second with 88—15—73. There was a triple tie for third place, as follows: William G. Ilich, 91—14—77; A. E. Steinmen, 92—15—77, and Jack Shuman, 101—24—77.

NEW ATTENDANCE RECORD SEEN LIKELY FOR BOWIE MEETING

38,000 Fans Out First Two Days

Towee Only Winning Choice; Robertson Leads Riders.

$5,000 Race Features Saturday; Good Horses Start.

By WALTER HAIGHT.

THE attendance record for a Bowie race meeting may be shattered by the time the horses bid farewell to the nearby track to start action at Havre de Grace. Bowie needs a continuance of the good weather that marked the first two days to turn the trick, however.

Some 18,000 turned out for opening day despite a previous 24 hours of rain that made many racing fans shift their plans. Saturday's warm day and the lure of racing brought more than 20,000 to the oval, despite the fact that the card was weakened due to the horsemen not filling the Spring Handicap that Racing Secretary McLennan had scheduled. Interest in the Capital Handicap was high, however, and the appearance of the Derby and Preakness eligibles was doubtless a magnet to many.

Only One Favorite Has Scored.

Likewise the Midway, booked in the feature spot for today, is replaced by a claiming test, leaving the Attractive, for 3-year-old fillies, as the best attraction. In the other nonclaiming race, maiden juveniles compete at 4 furlongs.

Towee has been the only favorite to turn in a victory in the two days. This is a poor showing for the choices, which are expected to be scoring more regularly with the track fast. The first clashes of the horses from the Southern tracks and those that have wintered in this section have done much to give Bowie the reputation of a long-shot track. Then again, in the fall, horsemen with their last chance to win in the East, turn loose their sleepers at Bowie.

Robertson Shows Way to Riders.

Riding honors for the first two days go to Jockey Albert Robertson, who has four victories to his credit. Most of the leading riders, including Sonny Workman, have annexed at least one race.

Providing Racing Secretary McLennan can get cooperation from owners and trainers, the week is filled with promising competition to be climaxed with the running of the $5,000 added Rowe Memorial Handicap on Saturday.

JOE AND ASBESTOS —By Ken Kling

Jockey B. Whispered the secret news in Asbestos' ear that a 2-year-old whose name had eight letters in it would be cut loose this week. This baby was shipped from New Orleans for a cleanup. Asbestos is all set to put some dough on him.

The bank roll is now $12.10.

Star Women Golfers In Greensboro Play

Sedgefield Country Club, Greensboro, N. C., April 3 (A.P.).—A fine field of Southern stars will vie this week with nationally prominent Eastern and Middlewestern women golfers in the Dogwod tournament, to be played over the Sedgefield Country Club course.

The field will tee off tomorrow for eighteen holes of qualifying play. Match play will begin Tuesday.

In the Dixie contingent are Miss Margaret Maddox, of Atlanta, former Southern and present Georgia champion; Mrs. Leon Solomon, of Memphis, Tennessee champion; Mrs. H. C. Kersten, of Richmond, Virginia champion; Miss Deane Van Landingham, of Charlotte, former Carolinas champion, and Mrs. W. H. Willard, of Charlotte, Carolinas champion.

Mrs. O. S., Hill, of Kansas City, is the defending titleholder, and will head a group of Midwestern stars.

A theckup of West's batting average last season showed that West's .333 average was compiled chiefly off left-handed pitching, and the perseverance of the young Texan against his weakness had succeeded.

When they start talking trade with President Griffith, Sammy West's name is never mentioned. The Nats' boss would as soon part with West's services as part with his Sixteenth street mansion. Griffith actually shudders at the thought.

When Sammy West boosts his batting average to .340 or .345, he'll be the greatest outfielder in baseball today. That's what Griffith says, and Griff has spent 42 years in baseball.

One of Joe's primary purposes to Chattanooga is to develop talent for the Washington club, but in this matter he has not been a whooping success, chiefly because he has placed the success of his own team first to the delight of the home town fans.

Manager Johnson has sent a raft of rookie talent to Chattanooga for development, but Engel's concentration on a pennant winner here has taken precedence, and the Washington recruits rarely stick here.

Once he sent an entire carload of rookies back to President Griffith to dispose of. He said he could get excursion rates when he sent 'em back that way. What Mr. Griffith said is not for publication.

Chattanooga is the Washington farm, all right, but it yields too many quick "returns" to suit the Washington management.

squad. It went like this: three, one, two, three, two, one.

But the Nats recovered from their shutout in the seventh by scoring four runs in the eighth to climax their run-making for the day. Masters continued to be the victim of this onslaught.

The Nats meet Chattanooga here again tomorrow with Lynn Griffith due to work on the mound.

Washington's victory hiked its exhibition game record to 13 wins out of 14 contests this spring.

Joe Judge made one of his copyrighted double plays in the first inning when he took Boss' grounder and tossed to second for a force-out, getting back to the bag in time to complete the twin execution.

Catcher Cliff Bolton was the only release to the Chattanooga Club announced by the Nats. Bolton's passing assures Catcher Howard Maple a lengthy trial with the Nats. Bolton, a favorite in Chattanooga, for which he hit heavily last season, is on option of recall. At least one more release by the Nats is expected tomorrow.

Joe Cronin spent the day in his hotel room as a result of an attack of indigestion this morning. He will be in uniform tomorrow.

height, not to mention several inches in reach.

From an unbiased viewpoint, it seems that Barry really has improved during the past six months, but that Gallagher has stood practically flat-footed. The Southeast youngster today is punching harder than ever and enjoys the best condition of his career. On the other hand, it is doubtful that Gallagher, despite two week's strenuous training in Boston, is very much faster than when he bowed to Natie Brown at Alexandria on February 2, for following that comparatively poor performance, Marty laid off training. However, Northwest fans, particularly those from Marty's own Foggy Bottom section, will flock to Portner's prepared to back him in every way.

AT THE POST

with Bill Bennings

Bowie Race Track.

Dear Al:

I received your wire. Lay off that stuff about "left at the post with Bill Bennings." I know it took two scratches before Hell Diver gave me my only Saturday winner. However, our horses were well represented in the money at good prices. I'm giving you educated horses, Al. Maybe the shock of seeing 20,000 in the stands with times as hard as they're said to be was too much for my choices.

As Goldie Ahearn says, it only takes one good night to get you out of the red and you're color blind.

Try these, Al, and get your shoes half-soled.

The Attractive, a test for 3-year-old fillies, nonwinners of two races other than claiming, appears to be the most important contest today, and is fourth on the card.

BOSCOBEL, from the S. W. Labrot stable, is my choice. This daughter of Sir Greysteel, like the majority of the field, has not been in competitive action since last fall. However, BOSCOBEL showed a liking for the Bowie track last November, placing twice just before shelved for the winter. At Laurel, BOSCOBEL showed a neat turn of speed to win at 5½ furlongs—today's distance. PREFER, from the West, is said to be a fast filly that will bear watching. STEP SIS is up from Havana, where she won her last start, leading always, but not beating much.

FIRST RACE—STRAPHANGER may and may not need some racing, but I believe the Middleburg Stable filly to be ready. Has been mentioned favorably by the clockers and will have DANGER ZONE and SHAVINGS, both tried juveniles, to beat. SHAVINGS has placed three times, while DANGER ZONE was third to TOY TOWN at St. Johns Park. HALF SAINT and SCOTCH BROOM, the Tranquility—Garth pair, are reported to be smart animals.

SECOND RACE—PROMETHEUS gets the call—one more time. Looked bad in the mud behind Avalon and the others opening day, although showing some speed at the finish. May be a different story today on a fast track. Won his last two at Fair Grounds at 6 furlongs. DUNLIN'S LAD, trained by Elmer Trueman, finished up the fall campaign with a good race. Won last year at the first asking and may take the place money ahead of BACCIOCCO. The last named seems a likely favorite, but has put in a hard winter in the South.

THIRD RACE—Hard to separate these, but I'm taking a chance on JAFFA and they should pay off Liberty bonds. Won at Hialeah at 6 furlongs in 1:11 4-5 with 94 pounds up. Picks up weight today, but another sprint like that will be hard to beat in this field. FAIR JACK was place to Avalon opening day and therefore can not be sidetracked. Made a game finish in a field superior to this one. Hasn't won since Havana in January and that was on a fast track. BLACK PATRICIA is back in her old stable and is in rare form. Was consistent at Fair Grounds and should be in the money today.

FIFTH RACE—Like BATTY to bust that BUBOLA bubble. BATTY is likely to have Mills up. This pair worked well at Miami. BATTY is said to have shipped in good shape and has worked briskly here. BUBOLA'S third behind Morsnuff looks like notice that the popular Bubbling Over filly is again at tops. I expect her to move up to second today. NEGOPOLI may have been only fooling in those last two starts in Florida. Shguld be third, at least, in this group.

SIXTH RACE—Old BUTTER JOHN always did well after a rest and has had a whole winter to prepare this time. Speedy when put away last fall, has wintered well and might give the boys a surprise. BOUNDING DEEP has been consistent during the winter, but has failed to turn in a victory. Lost three purses by a nose and may be that close today. SHOLLA, one of the 3-year-olds in this field, has a chance.

SEENTH RACE—The ancient RUANE likes Bowie and can not be discarded among these. A strong horse, RUANE still has his speed and may have profited by the rest. Look for him to be leading MEANDER and SISTER ZOE when the field passes the judges.

Varsity G Committee Lists Meeting Tonight

The initial meeting of the committee on arrangements for the eighth annual Varsity G dinner of Georgetown University will be held tonight at 6:30 o'clock in the Madrillon Restaurant, with Thomas A. Cantwell, chairman, presiding. The dinner is scheduled April 20 at the Willard Hotel, when Georgetown will honor winners of the coveted "G" who performed at the Hilltop prior to 1923.

Houston Net Title Is Won by Allison

Hess Loses in Straight Sets; Doubles Are Won by Vines and Lott.

Houston, Tex., April 3 (A.P.).—Wilmer Allison, of Austin, Tex., won the singles championship of the Houston invitation tennis tournament today, defeating Jake Hess, of Rice Institute, 8—6, 6—3, 6—2, thus serving notice he will be a likely candidate for Davis Cup Team membership.

Teamed with Gilbert Hall, of New York, Canadian indoor champion, Allison lost in the doubles final to Ellsworth Vines, of Pasadena, Calif., and George Lott, of Chicago, 5—7, 6—1, 7—9, 6—2, 7—5. Even in defeat, the Texan's play dominated the match.

Vines and Lott won by directing their attack at Hall. Allison, former national intercollegiate singles champion, and John Van Ryn, now hold the national doubles title.

In the junior singles final, Frankie Parker, of New Orleans, easily defeated George Dullnig, of San Antonio, 6—0, 6—0.

In the singles, Allison, far more experienced than Hess, was forced to extend himself fully only in the first set. After pulling out at 8—6, the former Texas University star went on to win with ease.

Parisian Race Feature Landed by Amfortas

Paris, April 3 (A.P.).—Jefferson Davis Cohn's Amfortas captured the Prix Des Sablons, mile and a quarter dash for 4-year-olds and upward, which featured the opening day's card at Longchamps today.

Amfortas paid 2 to 1 in the betting and won by two and a half lengths from Rieur, with Romarin a similar distance back in third place. There were nine starters and the purse amounted to $4,000.

Ralph Beaver Strassburger's colt, De Beers, took the Prix de Guiche at a mile and a quarter for a purse of $1,200. Tibere was second and Election third.

Federal Unionists Bow to Kensingtons

Two smashing doubles by Sam Harvey and Jack Shields were the most spectacular feats which the Federal Employe Unionists were able to accomplish as they fell before Kensington in their initial practice game yesterday, 11 to 1. 'Gleason, Kensington hurler, held them to five bingles, scattered completely.

100-Meter Record Equaled by Toppino

New Orleans, April 3 (A.P.).—Emmet Toppino, Loyola's great sprinter, equaled the world's record of 10.4 seconds for the 100 meters, official Olympic sprint, in the Loyola carnival of sports here today.

Running against a field of New Orleans' best track men, all of whom were given starting handicaps, Toppino won with several yards to spare. His time of 10.4 seconds is one-fifth second lower than the Olympic mark held by Bob McAllister, Percy Williams and three others. It ties the world's record held jointly by Williams and Eddie Tolan.

The race was clocked by members of the Southern A. A. U. Officials Club, and application is to be made to the National A. A. U. for its official recognition.

BLAZING THE BASEBALL TRAIL

the Internatonal League, 4 to 2. The game marked the homecoming of the Bears to Ruppert Stadium and a crowd of 12,000 attended.

Dib Williams led the A's attack, clouting a home run and two singles behind the twirling of Lefty Grove and Deshong. Grove allowed only four hits in five innings.

After a poor start, Jim Weaver held the Athletics and gave out three hits in five sessions.

New Orleans, April 3 (A.P.).—The Cleveland Indians scored two runs in the fifth off Babe Phelps and defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers today, 3 to 2.

Dazzy Vance and Wesley Ferrell pitched a scoreless duel for the first four innings, but after Vance had given way to Pinch Hitter Al Cohen, who helped score Brooklyn's first run, Phelps gave three hits and, with Ferrell's sacrifice, the Indians put over two tallies. Errors helped each team get another run in the later frames.

Vance gave an impressive performance, blanking the Indians without a hit in four innings and fanning six.

Baltimore, April 3 (A.P.).—The Phillies made their hits count as they defeated the Baltimore Orioles, of the International League, 5 to 4, in an exhibition game here today. The National League team got only six hits, but took a lead with two runs in the second and held it to the last. The Orioles reached Bolen and Hansen for ten hits.

Home runs featured the contest. Buzz Arlett, playing against his former teammates, and Stroner, of Baltimore, got one four-base hit each as did Bartell and Klein, of the Phillies.

DIAL FLASHES

By ROBERT D. HEINL

FELLOW radio commissioners, radio engineers, commission employes, lawyers practicing before the commission, and newspaperman gave a reception and buffet supper to Col. Thad H. Brown, of Ohio, recently appointed to the Federal Radio Commission by President Hoover. An honor guest was Duke Patrick, of Indiana, who succeeded Col. Brown as general counsel of the Radio Commission. The affair was held at the Racquet Club and about 100 were present.

A burlesque was staged on the Senate committee's confirmation of Col. Brown, with Senator Couzens, who opposed the confirmation, as the principal character. The skit was entitled, "The Strange Career of Col. Brown" and the opening chorus was:

"We are, we are, we are, we are the Senate committee.
"We look into the history of each hopeful nominee,
"And if his record fails to show at least one good-sized blot
"We manufacture one for him and put him on the spot."

The cast incuded "Senator Buzzins, the villain" (Senator Couzens); "Johnny, the villain's secretary" (John Carson, secretary to Senator Couzens); "Senator Lockhard" (Brookhart), "Senator Fuss" (Fess), "Senator Pill" (Dill), "Senator Swatson" (Watson), "Marty" (Martin Codel), and "Sol" (Sol Taishoff), correspondents.

Those who took part in the play were former Representative Frank D. Scott, John M. Littlepage, Paul M. Segal, John W. Guider, Martin Codel, Sol Taishoff, Phil Loucks and Horace L. Lohnes.

A special edition of Broadcasting Magazine, containing fictitious news and imaginary advertising, added to the amusement of the guests.

AN all-star radio revue, inaugurating a Nation-wide drive to revive prosperity in the automotive industry, and billed as the "Work for All Hands" program, will be presented under the auspices of General Motors tonight (WRC, 9:30 p. m.).

This invocation to prosperity, to be broadcast in conjunction with the exhibits of automotive's finest in 55 cities, will present the combined talent of five radio programs, augmented by special features.

For one hour a kaleidoscopic radio show will be unfolded by orchestras under the direction of Paul Whiteman, Erno Rapee, Frank Black, Harry Reser and Gustave Haenschen. Vocal features will be contributed by Countess Albani, Mildred Bailey, Eileen Stanley, the Revelers, Phil Ohman and Victor Arden, the King's Jesters, the Rondoliers, Welcome Lewis and others.

George Gershwin's "Rhadsody in Blue" will be interpreted by the orchestra of Paul Whiteman, who recently returned to Broadway after an absence of two years.

Bruce Barton will make one of his few microphone appearances when he delivers a tribute to the automotive industry during the hour. Barton's previous radio attributes, all dedicated to States of the Union, have been read by announcers on the Parade of the States series.

The first performance will be given today (11 a. m. NBC-WEAF network) of "The Throbs of the Music Clef." The creators and actors in this sketch will be Sylvia and Julian Altman, who formerly lived on Otis place northwest.

The Altmans attended Parkview and Central High Schools, and made their debut on the air in The Post Radio Hour when it was a feature of Station WCAP.

The first reminder that daylight savings will again cause a rearrangement of radio schedules is the announcement that three weeks hence we are again to have "The Rise of the Goldbergs" over station WRC.

---

The Wilkins Coffee Quarter Hour will move to 8:15 p. m. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

---

Some time ago the sponsors of the "Goldbergs" asked listeners if they wanted the feature continued. Something like 800,000 replies were received, the sponsors report, with an overwhelming majority in favor of the feature.

---

The proposed soldiers' bonus bill will be opposed by Representative Royal C. Johnson, of South Dakota, and former chairman of the House committee on World War veterans' legislation, in a radio talk tonight (WRC, 10:30 o'clock.).

---

DESCRIPTION of the coffee harvest in Brazil will be broadcast from Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, by Patrick J. Mulcahey, reputed to be the largest individual coffee buyer in the world, during the A. & P. program tonight (WRC, 9 o'clock). The Gypsies, directed by Harry Horlick, will play tangoes and Brazilian folk music, in tribute to South America. The closing number will be Victor Herbert's "Pan Americana."

---

Frank J. Novak, jr., band leader and instrumentalist, will start a series of weekly programs over the WJZ-WBAL network at 9:30 o'clock tonight. Novak, master of a score of instruments, will direct an ensemble of five, including himself. It consists of four male instrumentalists, two of whom also sing, and a woman vocalist. The program will be known as "Four Boys and a Girl."

---

Examination day for America's young musicians will come on Wednesday afternoon of this week when the National Music Discrimination Contest, sponsored by the Music Supervisors National Conference, meeting in Cleveland, will be broadcast over combined NBC networks.

A program of instrumental and vocal music, directed by Walter Damrosch, will be broadcast from the New York studios. Titles of compositions will not be announced and listeners will be required to answer certain questions regarding music. The three contestants making the highest marks will be given a scholarship to any of the established summer music camps.

THE late John Philip Sousa's "Free Lance March" will be played by an orchestra directed by Morgan L. Eastman as the opening number of the program scheduled for the WJZ network at o'clock tonight * * * Mrs. Oliver Harriman, New York society matron, will be interviewed by Allie Lowe Miles tonight (WMAL, 8 p. m.). Tomorrow night, in the same hour, Miss Miles will bring Philip Merivale, prominent actor, now appearing in "Cynara," to the microphone * * * Ely Culbertson, who changed the bridge playing methods of millions, will give instructions to the average player this afternoon (WRC, 4:30 p. m.) * * * "I Do Like an Egg With My Tea," an English song, will be introduced by Frank Crummit tomorrow night (WRC, 8 p. m.) * * * A program of dance music by Jack Payne's orchestra, playing in the heart of Piccadilly, will be broadcast from London during the Lucky Strike dance hour tomorrow night * * * A program of fiddling, singing and novelty entertainment will be presented by Rube Tronson and his six barn dance entertainers during the Farm and Home hour today * * * Harry Richman will play a return engagement on "Broadway's Greatest Thrills" feature tomorrow night * * * Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley and Senator Simeon D. Fess, of Ohio, speaking under the auspices of the Military Order of the World War and the George Washington Bicentennial Commission, will be heard during the special Army Day program over WRC on Wednesday night at 10:30 o'clock.

---

B. A. ROLFE, who has been vacationing in Hawaii these many weeks, returns to the microphone on Thursday. Mr. Rolfe and his troubadours face WJZ's microphone for broadcasts on Thursday and Friday nights at 8:30 o'clock.

---

Norman Brokenshire, the announcer, is the son of a Canadian missionary and school teacher, and grew up in the small Canadian towns to which his father was assigned. He came to the United States when his father accepted the pastorate of the Wood Memorial Congregational Church at Carnbridge, Mass. One of his first radio jobs was here in Washington.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

IF a person visited a different county every day it would take him over 8 years to visit all the counties in the United States. He would have to spend only three days in Delaware, but in order to cover Texas, he would have to travel for 254 days.

There are 3076 counties in the United States. Arthur V. Swift has visited every one, from San Bernard-York County, N. Y., the smallest. In addition he has been in every province in the Dominion of Canada.

Swift operates a 5,000-acre ranch in Baker County, Oregon, but he has found time to visit more of Uncle Sam's domain than no doubt has any other person. Wherever he went he carried away with him a mental picture of that county—the lay of the land, the people, the crops, etc. Name any county in any State and he can immediately give the county seat. In fact he knows more about each county than the average person living in that county.

For 8 years he was president of the National Farmer's Union attending conventions here, there and yonder. In 1931 Swift really lived up to his name by covering 35,000 miles in 3 months, while visiting Prince Edward Island, his last province in Canada. To date he has traveled nearly 1,000,000 miles.

AUCTION SALES

THOMAS J. OWEN & SONS, Auctioneers.
1431 Eye Street Northwest.
Washington, D. C.

TRUSTEE'S SALE OF THE VALUABLE EIGHT-STORY AND BASEMENT BRICK AND LIMESTONE APARTMENT-HOTEL PROPERTY KNOWN AS "THE NEW AMSTERDAM" LOCATED AT THE NORTHEAST CORNER OF FOURTEENTH AND FAIRMONT STREETS NORTHWEST.

Because of default in the terms and condition of and by virtue of certain deed of trust executed by New Amsterdam Company, a Delaware Corporation, dated September 1, 1928, recorded among the land records of the District of Columbia in Liber 6223 at folio 477 et seq., and at the request of over twenty-five per centum of the holders of the bonds secured thereby, the undersigned substituted trustee, by appointment of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, in Equity Cause No. 51386, will offer for sale at public auction, in front of the premises, on THURSDAY, THE 31ST DAY OF MARCH, A. D. 1932, AT FOUR O'CLOCK P. M., the following described land and premises, situate in the District of Columbia:

Part of lot 9 in Block 32, in John Sherman, Trustee's, Subdivision of land now known as "Columbia Heights," as per plat recorded in Liber Governor Shepherd folio 137 of the Records of the office of the Surveyor of the District of Columbia; said part of lot being the south 40 feet front on 14th street, running back between parallel lines along the south line of the lot, the full depth of the lot:

Also Lots 21, 22 and 23 in Cyrus Manly's Subdivision of part of said Block 32, "Columbia Heights," as per plat recorded in Liber County No. 8, folio 129 of the aforesaid surveyor's office records.

Said lots and part of lot being subject to the covenants that when a building is erected upon any of said lots, it shall not be within 30 feet of the street line, nor shall it be used for manufacturing or mechanical purposes, nor shall spirituous liquors be sold therein; together with the improvements, consisting of "The New Amsterdam" and all furnishings and fittings and chattels therein which the said trustee under said deed of trust is authorized to sell and convey.

TERMS OF SALE: One-third of the purchase price to be paid in cash on or before the 30th day of April, 1932, balance in two equal installments, payable on or before one and two years from date of sale, respectively, with interest thereon at the rate of six per centum per annum from day of sale, said interest payable semiannually, and to be secured by first deed of trust on the property sold; or all cash, at the option of the purchaser. The said trustee will receive no bid from anyone offering to bid who shall not, on or before the hour of sale, or any adjournment thereof, deposit with said trustee as a pledge that such bidder will make good his bid in case of its acceptance, a deposit of $15,000, either in cash or certified check on a local bank or trust company, made or endorsed payable to the undersigned trustee, or in lieu thereof, bonds of the par value of $30,000 in form transferrable by delivery, secured by said deed of trust, said bonds to have all unpaid coupons attached thereto. The deposit of any unsuccessful bidder will be returned to him immediately after the sale. In case any successful bidder shall fail to complete his purchase by April 30, 1932, in accordance with the said terms of sale, said deposit may be forfeited at the option of the said trustee. Said trustee reserves the right to reject any and all bids and withdraw the property from sale.

Adjustments with respect to taxes, assessments, insurance, rentals, income from operation of property, interest, and all other adjustments shall be made as of the date of sale. The trustee, however, will continue to manage and operate said property and collect the income therefrom from date of sale to date of transfer upon existing terms as set forth in said deed of trust. After settlement of sale said trustee will not be responsible for any bills or expenses incurred in the management or operation of said property.

Terms of sale to be complied with by the 30th day of April, 1932; otherwise, the trustee reserves the right to resell the property at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser upon the foregoing terms after advertisement of such resale to be published three times per week for two successive weeks in two newspapers published in Washington, D. C.

AMERICAN SECURITY & TRUST CO.
By CORCORAN THOM, President.

Substituted trustee under said deed of trust of New Amsterdam Company, appointed in Equity Cause No. 51386, Supreme Court, D. C.

Attest: (Seal.) A. H. SHILLINGTON, Assistant Secretary.

MERCURY GOES TO 81 AS THOUSANDS JAM PARKS AND HIGHWAYS

More Than 30,000 Visit Zoo; Recreation Centers Are Filled to Capacity.

CHERRY TREES ARE DUE TO BLOOM NEXT SUNDAY

Thermometer in New York at 68 Sets 10-Year Record; Beaches Packed.

The first summer-like Sunday of spring yesterday jammed the highways and parks in and around Washington with thousands of motorists and pedestrians.

It was estimated that between 30,000 and 40,000 persons visited the Zoo during the day. The Washington-Hoover airport carried about 500 sightseeing passengers over the city, while their regular planes to other cities did a flourishing business. Approximately 6,000 automobiles passed through Fort Myer and Arlington Cemetery, while the new Memorial Bridge and the highway to Mount Vernon were crowded from morning till dark.

Easter Finery Prominent.

Benches in the public parks were at a premium, and promenaders in their new Easter finery strolled the streets and filled the theaters. Buds are springing out on the cherry blossom trees around the Speedway and it is expected they will bloom next Sunday providing the weather stays mild. Golf courses and other recreation centers were packed to capacity.

At 2 o'clock in the afternoon, the kiosk on Pennsylvania avenue registered 90 degrees, but began to drop shortly afterward until it reached 44 degrees at 10 o'clock last night. The official Weather Bureau temperature for the city yesterday was highest, 81, and lowest, 38. The forecast for today is fair and cooler.

10-Year Mark Set in New York.

New York, April 3 (U.P.).—For more than four hours today, New York basked in the warmest weather that has bathed this metropolis in ten years on this particular date.

The graph of the Weather Bureau's temperature needle looked tonight like a plateau. It rose from a low of 50 degrees, Fahrenheit, to about 68 degrees, and rested there, untroubled, until 4:30 p. m., when it took a precipitous drop to the medium of 50.

A crowd of 100,000 went to Rockaway Beach. The boardwalk between Rockaway and Coney Island was crowded, and there were some bathing suits, although there was an absence of bathers.

Loot Recovered as Man Is Arrested in Thefts

James Howard Colbert, 25 years old, Ardmore, Md., was arrested here yesterday by Detective Sergts. Howard E. Ogle and A. M. Tolson, and booked at police headquarters on charges of house breaking, two District residents being listed as complainants.

The man, accompanied by the detectives, was taken to a hiding place near Ardmore, where loot worth $50 was said to have been recovered. Arthur Lowe, 2900 Forty-fifth street northwest, and Robert McDonald, 1115 B street southeast, are those whose homes were entered. About $50 worth of personal property was taken at each place.

Federal Bridge Tourney Entry Limit Is Extended

Tomorrow, at midnight, will be the dead line for Government workers and their friends to register for the Federal employes' bridge tournament, scheduled for Friday and Saturday at the Hotel Carlton. Originally dated today, the tournament committee has set back the entry limit one day to accommodate late entrants. Two hundred have already registered.

A. P. Stockvis, aided by members of the Washington Accredited Bridge Teachers Association, will handle the play, which is sponsored by the National Federation of Federal Employes. Both contract and auction will be played, with eighteen prizes for the winners. Blanks are available at 10 B street southwest.

MAN KNOCKED OUT IN 'TRIANGLE' FIGHT

Present Husband of His Former Wife Accused of Beating Him.

Arthur Rabbit, 57 years old, of 910 K street northeast, is in a critical condition in Emergency Hospital, as the result of a fight last night with the present husband of his former wife, according to Patrolman C. C. Thayer.

Jerome I. Henning, 40 years old, who gave his occupation as a painter, is being held at the Sixth Precinct station as a result of the altercation, which took place at 5306 Fifth street northwest, where Henning lives.

Henning told police that Rabbit had telephoned earlier in the evening and said he was coming to the Henning home to "beat him up." Police were investigating a report that Henning had called Rabbit and invited him to the house so that he could "beat up" Rabbit.

When Rabbit appeared at the house the fight started and Rabbit was knocked to the ground. He struck on the back of his head and was knocked unconscious.

Brother, Waking, Saves Man From Gas Fumes

Walter Maguire, 22 years old, was overcome by illuminating gas yesterday afternoon in his home at 418 Massachusetts avenue northwest. His brother, Charles, 26 years old, who had been sleeping, was awakened by the fumes and summoned help.

Walter Maguire was revived by the Fire Rescue Squad and was then taken to Casualty Hospital. His condition is not serious. His brother suffered slight effects from the gas.

Child, 3, Slightly Hurt When Struck by Auto

Frances Granger, 3 years old, of 417 Peabody street northwest, was slightly injured yesterday when she was knocked down near her home by an automobile operated by Charles C. Benjamin, 31 years old, of 521 Peabody street northwest.

She was treated at Walter Reed Hospital for slight abrasions of the head and was then taken home.

Man, 52, Slightly Hurt When Two Cars Collide

Youths Will Hold Session on Arms

Yale Senior to Deliver Chief Address Sunday at Belasco Meeting.

A mass meeting of youths to emphasize the young people's stake in the Geneva disarmament conference will be held in the Belasco Theater Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, according to an announcement made by a committee composed of members of young people's organizations in Washington. The principal speaker will be James Frederick Green, Yale University senior, who delivered a sensational address before the representatives of 60 nations at the conference.

Norman H. Davis, American delegate to the Geneva session, referred to Mr. Green's speech and praised its effect on the conference.

Plans are being made to organize groups of young people throughout the country, who are expected to hold similar meetings. Other speakers of international prominence will share the platform with Mr. Green.

Communism Termed Link In Capitalism

Capitalism and Communism were defined as religions with many things in common, both in conflict with the religion of Christ, by Edmund B. Chaffee, of the Labor Temple, New York City, in an address last night at the Ingram Memorial Congregational Church.

Said to be one of the best informed men on Communism in this country, Mr. Chaffee declared that the most effective means of attacking Communism is to remove the grievances against which the Communists are protesting. "No permanent victories can be won through hate," he said, "and the Communists hate pacifism more than they do capitalism."

Mr. Chaffee explained that both the religions of Capitalism and Communism have their gods, ethics and sacred books. The things that they have in common, he said, are their faith in the machine, they are materialistic, both believe in a dictatorship, both believe in violence and are disciples of nationalism.

The religion of Christ, on the other hand, he said, has as its chief values the human personality as its center, liberty, equality, fellowship, depends on cosmic forces and believes that God is on the side of these values.

"Any economic system that does not provide these values can never be satisfactory to the religion of Christ," he declared. "This religion has never been popular. Nevertheless, it is the only one that can give us the things we want. It is content to make its way slowly, but in the long run it will win the campaign. It will never be content with either the capitalistic or communistic religions, but will sit in moral judgment of both."

INTENT TO KILL OGLE IS CHARGED TO HOLT

Prisoner Seized After Battle With Detective Not Held in Riedel Murder.

Francis Mulvey, alias Roy Holt, 26 years old, of 1115 B street southeast, was charged with assault with intent to kill at police headquarters last night as the result of a hand-to-hand encounter last Thursday with Detective Sergeant Howard E. Ogle, in which the accused displayed a pistol.

At the time of Mulvey's listing on the book last night, Detective Sergeant Harry K. Wilson, head of the homicide squad, indicated that the man was not being considered further as a suspect in the slaying of Paul Riedel, Mount Pleasant street baker.

Several days after his arrest by Detective Sergeant Ogle, Mulvey was viewed by a number of persons who saw the alleged slayer of Riedel. Four of these stated to police that Mulvey generally resembled the killer, but they were not positive in their identification.

Three other persons—two men and a woman—were arrested shortly after Ogle's clash with Mulvey. These have all been released after thorough questioning. The arrests were made after Ogle had chased a suspicious car, halted it and was attacked by its occupants.

Recreation Institute's Session Is Tomorrow

The Recreation Institute of 1932, for colored workers throughout the city, will hold its weekly session tomorrow night, at 8 o'clock, at the Garnet-Patterson Gymnasium, U street and Vermont avenue.

The institute is under the direction of the Community Center Recreational committee. The institute will close April 19, when certificates will be awarded to all those who have completed the course.

RESERVE OFFICERS TO JOIN IN PARADE

All Commission Holders Are Invited to March on Army Day.

Col. J. Miller Kenyon, president of the Reserve Officers Association of the District of Columbia, announced yesterday that there would be ample opportunity for every member of the Officers Reserve Corps of the United States Army to participate in the Army Day parade here on Wednesday.

The second division of the parade will be composed entirely of organized reserve units for the District of Columbia and other reserve officers not members of those units but holding commissions.

Col. Kenyon has issued instructions to the members of the Reserve Officers Association to assemble at E street and New Jersey avenue southeast, at 1:30 p. m., immediately in the rear of the organized reserve units, which will be commanded by Col. Leroy T. Herron.

Col. Kenyon has issued an invitation to all holders of commissions as reserve officers of the United States Army who are in Washington, and who do not intend to parade with other organizations participating in the Army Day parade, to also assemble at this point and combine with the members of the District of Columbia Reserve Officers Association in making an impressive demonstration.

Maj. Paul J. McGahan, commander of the District of Columbia commandery of the Military Order of Foreign Wars, has issued orders to the officer members of that organization, necessary for their participation in the Army Day parade. The members of the Military Order of Foreign Wars will fall in the parade with the members of the Military Order of the World War, under whose auspices it is being held.

Valuation Proceeding Of Public Utilities

All of the public utilities in Washington except the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. are now in the process of valuation and this utility will be valuated this summer or just as soon as the District Supreme Court acts upon a petition presented by the Public Utilities Commission asking that a general standard for all utility valuations be established by the court to simplify the procedure.

There are now 18 men especially employed in this work and more will be added as they are needed. This is as large a staff as can be handled with the present supervision, according to the commission.

Open Forum Addressed By Porto Rican Leader

"The newer civilization of North America has much to learn from the older civilizations of Central and South America," said Attorney Domingo Lenauze, Porto Rican leader, addressing the Washington Open Forum at the Sears & Roebuck Art Galleries, 1106 Connecticut avenue northwest.

"The Latin-American makes it his business to enjoy life. He can not understand how people can devote themselves to moneymaking at the expense of health, home life and happiness."

UNIVERSITIES MUST LIFT SOCIAL ORDER, DR. RYAN DECLARES

Catholic U. Rector Holds Improvement Through Them Possible.

SAYS MILLIONS STARVE FOR TRUTH'S TEACHING

World Acceptance of Christianity Would Avert Slump, Preacher Asserts.

The foundations of the new social order, that which must come into existence if modern civilization is to endure, must be laid now and the principles for the new order must emanate from the universities, the Right Rev. James Hugh Ryan, rector of Catholic University, said yesterday in a sermon broadcast from the Church of the Immaculate Conception.

Had there been the universal acceptation of the principles of Christian justice and charity, he said, there would be today neither economic nor spiritual depression. Though the hands of millions are idle in the country and throughout the world, he said, it is more tragic still that countless other millions are starved for the truths of Christian doctrine.

The principles for the new social order, he said, must come from thinkers, and that means, in the majority of cases, from our universities. "For a university," he said, "is a great power house where the currents of national energy and character are stored up and from which they flow out to vivify and strengthen the national life."

Truth Is Indispensable.

"Where the thinking of universities is vicious, the national life deteriorates and becomes vicious; if this thinking is sound the national life is quickened and will produce fruits worthy of the thoughts upon which it is nurtured," he said. "We can dispense with many things and still maintain a vigorous and lofty existence; we can not dispense with truth, nor with the thinking which makes truth possible."

The Catholic Church, too, he pointed out, must have its source of energy and inspiration, otherwise it would become "a lifeless grouping of adherents—a tragic religious communion without a living voice." "Over 40 years ago this thought was voiced by one of the great thinkers of the church, the late Bishop Spalding, and the Catholic University was founded," he said. "The Catholic University may rightly be called the cultural shadow of the See of Peter in this land."

Touches All of Faith.

It is doubtful, he said, if a Catholic can be found in this country who has not been touched by its work and influence. "Whether we turn to education, philosophy, charity, history, anthropology or other fields of learning, the leadership of the university is unquestioned," he declared.

"But do our Catholics realize their indebtedness to the university?" he asked. "Unless the American clergy are willing and anxious to do their share in bringing to the attention of their flocks the necessity for this strong center of Catholic life, the Catholic University will fall short of its destiny. Few of either the clergy or the laity realize the part that has been played or is about to be played by their national university. This is not a criticism of either. The responsibility lies with the university itself to make its functions more clearly understood and its mission more effectually realized.

Hierarchy Votes Expansion.

"The faith of the hierarchy in the university was displayed when it recently adopted an expansion program to place it foremost among Catholic institutions and in the front ranks of the great universities of the world."

The Rev. Francis J. Hurney, pastor of the church and director of the broadcast services, presided. The blessing of the sick and the Lourdes procession took place at the Grotto of Our Lady of Lourdes in the church.

Miss Florence Yocum, William Cross and Miss Ann Arlen were artists on the musical program, which was under the direction of Prof. Harry Wheaton Howard.

Other preachers who will speak on these broadcasts are the Rev. W. Coleman Nevils, S. J., president of Georgetown University, April 10; the Rev. Dr. George Johnson, director of the department of education of National Catholic Welfare Conference, April 17, and the Rev. Dr. Charles A. Hart, associate professor of philosophy at Catholic University, April 24.

Bridge Teachers Form League Here

Organization Is Believed to Be First of Kind in World.

To Washington goes the distinction of being the first city in the country, probably in the world, to form a league of certified auction and contract bridge teachers. The league is for the protection and advancement of the bridge playing public and a safeguard to the professional teachers. To become a registered, certified teacher one must attend conferences of the National Studios, taking an intensive course of study and qualify by examination. Only those who have fulfilled these requirements may join the Washington League.

The first meeting was held Saturday at the studio of the president, Mrs. Charles Keene, of the Highlands Apartments. The league will meet once a month to discuss the various problems that confront teachers and players alike.

The members are Mrs. Charles Keene, president; Mrs. Albert Stephan, vice president; Miss Mazie Bowie, secretary; Mrs. Marion Barre, treasurer; Miss Mary Beadle, Mrs. Alma Byrne, Mrs. Louise Guest, Mrs. G. Brown Hill, Mrs. C. F. Humphrey, Mrs. George King, Mrs. Howard Priest, Mrs. M. C. Robinson, Miss Lucille C. Smith, A. P. Stockvis, Mrs. Dixie Wright and Mrs. J. H. Lemon.

Steps to Rename B Street Washington Avenue Taken

Federation of Citizens Associations Plan to Get Necessary Legislative Approval on Thoroughfare From Capitol to Monument Grounds.

Plans are under way for getting necessary legislative approval of the action of the Federation of Citizens' Associations in renaming B street southwest, from the Washington Monument Grounds to the Capitol, "Washington avenue."

The federation by unanimous action has sponsored this proposal. Thomas J. Llewellyn, chairman of the federation's committee on highways, parks and waterways, in reporting the resolution from the Society of Natives, District of Columbia, stated that the initiative was taken by the past president of the society, Fred A. Emery, in a talk before the Conduit Road Citizens Association recently. That association immediately adopted a resolution commending the proposal. Subsequently both the Society of Natives and the Association of Oldest Inhabitants adopted a resolution calling attention to the lack of adequate reference to George Washington in the street nomenclature of the National Capital and urging immediate action.

Mr. Llewellyn stated yesterday the new proposed Washington avenue would be historic in linking the Capitol and the Washington Monument. In this connection he called attention to the fact that this avenue would parallel Constitution avenue, one running north of the Mall and the other south of it. Constitution avenue, which bears that name on the initiative of the late Representative Henry Allen Cooper, is projected to run between the Senate Office Building and the Capitol and the new Washington avenue would run between the Capitol and the two House Office buildings.

Constitution avenue would link the Capitol and the Lincoln Memorial and the new Memorial Bridge, while Washington avenue would link the Capitol and the Washington Monument.

Along the route of Washington avenue intervening between these terminals, are the Department of Agriculture, Freer Art Gallery, the Smithsonian Institution, the National Museum, Botanic Gardens and other important buildings, present and projected.

"It is particularly and peculiarly appropriate that action along this line should be taken in this Bicentennial year, when the whole Nation is paying tribute to the greatest of all figures in the history of America," Mr. Llewellyn said.

HEAVEN DESCRIBED AS HARMONY ITSELF

Love's Many Voices Will Be One of Attractions, Says Dr. H. B. Smith.

"Through the ages there have been men and women who have been hearing God's voice," declared Dr. Harvey Baker Smith, pastor, speaking yesterday at the Columbia Heights Christian Church.

"When this conviction comes into a life, daring adventures of the soul are born," Dr. Smith said. "Under great stress men become acutely conscious of the presence of God and call on Him out of the agony of need.

"Heaven has the voice of harmony. No night there, no tears, no sin, no broken lives, for the healing of the Good Physician has done its work and man's spiritual stature is completed.

"Music has its voice in heaven. John speaks of the choir of 144,000, the voice of many waters, as a harper harping with his harp. There is a new song being sung, the song of 'Moses and the Lamb.' All the redeemed can sing this song. In great music God draws very near.

Voices of Loved Ones.

"Love's voice is heard there. Endless love demands endless life to complete its expression. Life begins our love for God and righteousness, but this life is too short to complete love's work. Heaven is God's way of completing love. It flowers on earth but fruits in heaven. Love's many voices will be one of heaven's attractions to the soul. Voices of our loved ones and the beloved voice of our Lord will gladden our heavenly estate.

The voices of the children are to be heard in the streets of that city. Faces of innocence, glad childish voices, happy in their perfect estate, will speak to God's glory and praise.

"Victory has its voice there. Tears are stopped, the new heaven and new earth have come. All things are new. The thirsty soul is drinking at life's fountain and the overcoming souls have come into eternal riches.

"The ransomed of the Lord shall return and come to Zion with songs of everlasting joy."

Lost Chord Will Be Found.

"The voice of the Son of Man will be heard above all else, 'I am the Alpha and the Omega, the beginning and the end.' The lost chord will be found again and its majestic thrill will be forever ours.

"No crooked twisted bodies, no sightless eyes, no sin-scarred souls are there. Redemption has done its work. Freedom has come to God's children and the house of many mansions has its rooms occupied by the Father's children. The voices that have carried the good news of God have spoken for our Lord. Heaven's triumphant voice speaks, 'Great and marvelous are Thy works, O God! the Almighty! Righteous and true are Thy ways thou King of the ages. Thou art holy and all the nations shall come and worship before Thee, for Thy righteous acts have been manifested.'

"The Master says, 'In my Father's house are many mansions and I go to prepare a place for you.' The church seeks to help you become a worthy occupant of such glorious estate."

Housebreakings Laid To 2 Boys Held Here

Two colored youths were charged yesterday with housebreaking involving six chain stores. They are: Roy E. Coleman, 17 years old, who gave his address as 812 Thirteenth street northeast, and Eugene Humpher, 19 years old, who gave his address as 609 Second street northeast.

Coleman was charged with six cases of housebreaking, and Humpher was charged with five offenses. Coleman was captured by Detective Sergeant Michael Dowd after he allegedly broke into a store at 310 Thirteenth street northeast.

FEARLESS SERMONS HELD CHURCH NEED

Dr. Abernethy Says Power of Religious Teaching Could Be Increased.

"Silence is supposed to be golden but sometimes it is criminal," said Dr. W. S. Abernethy, preaching yesterday morning at the Calvary Baptist Church.

The subject of Dr. Abernethy's sermon was, "When Keeping Still Is Impossible," the text being drawn from the prophecy of Jeremiah, "If I say that I will not mention it, then I feel within me as it were a fire that burns my very being."

Dr. Abernethy said in part:

"Jeremiah had not sought to be popular. No preacher can be popular who dwells very much upon the sins of the people to whom he is preaching. He can denounce the sins of those a thousand miles away, and speak of sin in general terms, but as soon as he becomes specific and too personal, he is apt to incur what Jeremiah met—hatred, opposition, unpopularity.

100,000 Sermons in Day.

"Jeremiah was the most unpopular man of his day. After one of his warning sermons he is personally assaulted and it is following that display of physical violence that he says, 'What is the use. I warn the people and this is what I get. I'll keep still. I'll not mention the matter again.'

"But having made that resolution he discovers that when he attempts to keep silent a fire seems to burn within him. He must speak.

"I am coming to believe that sermons are not accomplishing results commensurate with the effort put forth. At least 100,000 sermons will be presented today in the United States alone. That number of sermons represents probably 600,000 hours of preparation, 25,000 days, 66 years of time.

All Blame Not Preachers'.

"Something ought to happen when the product of 66 years of time is concentrated on one day. Many hearts will be comforted and strengthened, of course, but will the results be commensurate with the outlay? I am certain that 50,000 Jeremiahs in that many pulpits, speaking out of passionate hearts, out of hearts burning with a message that must be released, would start something.

"But the responsibility is not altogether the preachers'. One great trouble with the church has been that it was content to let the minister do all the proclaiming.

"When the church becomes the 'Society of the Burning Heart,' when through radiant living and strict business ethics and deep-seated concern for the underprivileged, it begins to proclaim the fact that the gospel is good news and the power of God into salvation, then, indeed, something will happen."

Junior Mechanics Plan Spring Frolic

Floor Revue Is Listed as Salient Feature Set for April 15.

The spring "junior frolics" of the Edward J. Ross Council of the Junior Order of American Mechanics will be celebrated in the main ballroom of the Willard Hotel on the evening of April 15.

An evening of dancing will climax in a floor revue featuring a number of popular vaudeville artists, including Kathryn Black, singer; Dode and Weir, adagio dancers; Blanche Harrison, blues singer known as "Miss Majestic" in her many radio appearances; McIntyre and Mulroe, tap dancers, and a singing and dancing chorus. A twelve-piece Meyer Davis orchestra will play for dancing from 9:30 to 1:30 o'clock, while the floor revue will be staged at midnight.

Arrangements for the frolic are in charge of a committee headed by Glenn O. Montgomery, chairman, and Ray Fuge, assistant chairman.

Six Men Fire on Pursuer After Leaving Stolen Car

A search has been instituted for six men who fired at a taxicab driver who had followed them early yesterday after he saw them abandon a stolen automobile near Grant Circle.

Alton Gibson, of 1282 B street southeast, reported to police that he saw the men run from the machine after a tire had blown out. He followed a second automobile which the men entered, and near Fourth street and Rock Creek Church road northwest, a shot was fired at him.

Police learned that the automobile that had been abandoned was stolen on March 31, from Seventeenth and S streets northwest. It is owned by James Abrams, of 1631 S street northwest.

REPENTANCE URGED IN SERMON AS WAY TO LEARN OF CHRIST

Fear Is Not Necessary When Conscience Is Clear, Dr. Miers Says.

SACRIFICE LORD MADE FOR WORLD STRESSED

His Forgiveness for All Is Cited to Presbyterians by Pastor.

"The natural man always feels fearful in the presence of the supernatural," said Dr. James H. Miers speaking yesterday at the Fourth Presbyterian Church.

"But why should the Christian be fearful in the presence of the Lord, who loved us and died for us? Do we deny such a fear, even when we have known Him in fellowship for many years? Not a single Christian but feels a fear, for we sense deep down in our hearts that if we fully surrendered to Him, that He would take away much which we cling too closely to. Much of it is of no value to us, much is positively injurious to us, much hinders us in our fullest service in the Church of Christ, but still we cling, and never allow Christ to have the full control of our powers, and to possess our spiritual house from the garret to the basement. The reason is that we fear He will take away something we would rather retain.

Sinner Feels Guilt.

"Deeper still we find that the cause of our fear is, that we have not a perfect love toward Him. 'Perfect love casteth out fear,' the fear which hath torment. To all such Christians the Lord says 'fear not.' Nothing of permanent value will He remove.

"What I have already said applies to those who are the children of God, but what of the unrepentant sinner, who has never sought the face of Christ in repentance and faith? Why do we fear to come into His presence, as Adam feared to meet his God in his far-off garden home?

"It is because sin leaves the feeling of guilt, the sense of overhanging penalty, the knowledge of our own inability and insufficiency. I am commissioned to assure you that the blackest sinner need have no fear to come into His presence in all His glory and salvation power. Are our sins so lovely, so satisfying that we would desire to retain them? Are we so proud of being slaves to our depraved natures that we would not wish the strong Saviour to set us free? Are we so happy in the consciousness of overhanging penalty for our sins, that we can go on unmoved to our doom? Why should we fear when Jesus would deliver us from all of these things, and give us an inheritance amongst those who are sanctified?" the speaker went on.

Forgiveness of Christ.

"Why then should the sinner be afraid? He will forgive as He forgave the paralyzed man of long ago, who was let down through the roof into the presence of the Lord Christ. Having canceled the sin, the resurrected Christ will break its power in your life and mine. Instead of antagonism toward God He will give us the peace which passes all understanding."

River Bulletin.

Harpers Ferry, W. Va., April 3.—Potomac and Shenandoah Rivers both very muddy this afternoon.
